By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
London, Feb. 25 (AP)—The RAF last night took up the two-way scourge of the German aircraft industry, flying 1,000 bombers from Britain to Schweinfurt and other formations from Italy to Steyr, after the U. S. Air Force hit the same targets in simultaneous daylight blows from both the western and southern bases.

Today great fleets of daylight bombers crossed the channel to carry the battle into its sixth consecutive day.

The RAF's night-riding bombers were guided to both targets by the flaming wreckage left only a few hours before by the American daylight raiders. The British bombs added still further damage to Schweinfurt's sprawling plant bearing plants and to the German aircraft factory at Steyr, in old Austria.

Down 156 Nazis
U. S. headquarters announced that the powerful American air fleet which flew from the west and south yesterday shot down 156 Nazi planes. Eighth Airforce bombers downed 83 Nazi planes during their attacks on Schweinfurt and fighter plane factories at Gotha while their accompanying fighters accounted for 37 others in terrific air battles. Bombers of the 15th Airforce attacking Steyr bagged 36 Nazi fighters.

The British-based American forces lost 41 bombers and 10 fighters; the Italy-based formations lost 16 Fortresses and three fighters with two other fighters missing, and the RAF's night losses were 35 bombers.

In Tuesday's two-way punch, the first of the series of simultaneous assaults from west and south, the combined American forces shot down 133 German fighters.

2 Separate Raids

The British announcement said that last night's heavy assault on Schweinfurt actually was carried out in two separate raids.

"Schweinfurt, the German center of ball bearing production was the main objective and was attacked twice during the night," it said. "Flares started yesterday by the United States Eighth Airforce were still burning on the arrival of our first force."

"The target was effectively marked and by the end of the second attack a great conflagration was seen with smoke rising to a great height."

"Objectives in northwest Germany also were bombed and a very extensive mine laying program was completed. Thirty-five of our aircraft are missing."

225 VOLUNTEER AS RED CROSS BLOOD DONORS

Donors from all sections of Adams county were gathered this afternoon at Christ Lutheran church for the thirteenth visit of the mobile Red Cross blood receiving unit to the county.

Two hundred and twenty-five appointment cards had been sent to prospective donors as the blood-donor unit sought to obtain at least 150 points of blood during the course of the afternoon's work.

Mrs. J. Walter Coleman, vice chairman of the Adams County Red Cross Canteen committee, was in charge of the canteen this afternoon in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Rasmus S. Saby.

Aides on Duty

Red Cross staff assistants, Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. Samuel Reed, Mrs. John Sanderson and Mrs. P. J. McGlynn, were on duty registering the donors and performing other services. The county Red Cross nurses on duty included Mrs. George Raffenberger, Mrs. Barton Poth and Mrs. John Kratzert. Nurses Aides included Mrs. F. C. Mason, Mrs. H. M. Krick, Mrs. Victor Goodwin, Mrs. Howard Sheets and Miss Winifred Miller.

Alumnae and active members of the Beta Lambda chapter of the Delta Gamma sorority and several mothers of alumnae were on duty in the kitchen and other sections of the blood donor unit. The two mothers were Mrs. Charles Black and Mrs. Norman Storrick. The active chapter members were the Misses Dorothy Keeney, Mary Louise Koch and Joy Nelson. Alumnae included Mrs. S. A. Messner, Mrs. Murray Frazee, Mrs. Lester Johnson, Mrs. James M. Smith, Mrs. Raymond F. Sheely and Mrs. Granville R. Shultz.

Catholic Women Serve
Women of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church were in charge of the dining room. They included Mrs. Edgar Hamilton, Mrs. George Groff and Mrs. Joseph L. Rosensteel.

Mrs. George W. Boehner and Mrs. John Kaitreider performed their usual duties.

Lt. Eugene Higgins was the doctor in charge.

Mrs. George Stover, Baltimore street, spent Thursday in Baltimore.

AUCTIONEERS CONFUSED ON PRICE RULES

With the peak of the public sale season approaching, Adams county may soon find itself without any auctioneers willing to continue in their business if the OPA insists on enforcing to the letter new regulations requiring that bidding stop at ceiling price on almost all types of machinery, tools, household goods and furnishings.

An OPA bulletin issued last summer to the auctioneers excepted sales by an auctioneer "in good faith and for the account of an individual consumer" from the price ceiling provisions but a new order has superseded that ruling and auctioneers have been notified by local OPA boards to observe ceiling price rules.

G. R. Thompson, veteran sale clerk who has conducted auctions in this county for several decades, said today some auctioneers are ready to go out of the business rather than be held criminally and financially responsible if price ceiling rules are violated at sales they conduct.

Four Choices
The new OPA rule brings "everything from a farm tractor to a screw driver and from a baby stroller to the dining room table" under price control rules and holds the seller and the auctioneer both responsible for seeing that price ceilings are observed. All of the penalties (both criminal and civil) under the Emergency Price Control act are provided for violators.

As one auctioneer today summed up the situation, the dozen or more members of his profession in this county have to choose between several courses of action: 1) Go out of business; 2) warn owners they will not share liability and then conduct sales as the owner directs; 3) ignore the OPA rules and take their chances on prosecution and suits for treble damages, or 4) undertake the "endless" job of advance labelling of each article with its ceiling price and then stop to draw lots when the ceiling is reached. The latter course, urged by the OPA, is so impractical as to be next to impossible at many sales, the auctioneers say.

After "Flagrant" Violators
Donald P. McPherson, Esq., local ration board chairman, said that he believes the price control regulations are aimed at larger articles of farm machinery and at catching habitual and flagrant violators of the price regulations.

He said he could not speak for the enforcement division of the OPA but he doubted if a strict check would or could be made on trifling items.

Sheriff sales are under the price controls and Sheriff John E. Millhimes said today he is preparing to label with ceiling prices hundreds of articles to be auctioned off by his deputy, B. E. Bixler, next Friday at the Penn Tile Works sale.

Told of $2 Limit

The sheriff said he went to the district OPA office at Harrisburg, Wednesday, to inquire about regulations and was told that ceilings apply only on articles selling for more than $2. The local OPA office had no information on any such rule although they were in touch with Harrisburg by telephone Thursday.

The ration board office here has no list of ceiling prices to hand to the auctioneers—only complicated formulae for computing the ceiling price for each item. Farm market (Please Turn to Page 7)

Buys Black Gas To Secure Gas

The local War Price and Rationing board reports the following incidents during the normal course of routine every-day business:

"One of our price panel members, while visiting a rural store, observed a can of salmon on the grocer's shelf. He gave his order to the clerk for a can of salmon. The clerk replied, 'I'm sorry. I can't sell that to you. It is our last can. Someone else might come in and ask for salmon and then we would be all out of it.'"

"One of our chronic customers surprised this board today. She called in person for her gasoline, advising the clerk at the counter that she hoped it was ready for her. 'I had to buy a gasoline stamp to get in here today,' the woman informed the clerk. She indicated very strongly that she had no further desire to buy black market gasoline for subsequent visits."

The same board was called on recently to inspect a rural road in case they doubted that an application for a child's special shoe stamp was warranted. The following realistic information was contained in the application: "She walks 1½ miles to school. Come out and see this road and you'll know why she needs new ones."

Five Clubs Will Meet Next Week

Five meetings of Adams county home economics clubs and a 4-H club conference at Carlisle have been announced for next week by Miss Mildred L. Adams, county home economics extension representative.

The conference is scheduled for Tuesday at Carlisle. The New Chester foods club will meet with Mrs. Charles Millhimes, Monday at 7:30 p. m. while the Granite Station foods club meets with Mrs. C. Arthur Brame Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. The Brushtown club meets Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. with Mrs. Clayton Myers. Scheduled for Thursday are the Round Top meetings at 1:30 p. m. with Mrs. Glenn L. Sterner and the Good Hope club with Mrs. Leslie Stock at 7:30 p. m.

RED CROSS WAR FUND CAMPAIGN READY TO OPEN

With its campaign organization about completed, the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross is ready for the $26,500 War Fund drive which starts next Wednesday.

The theme of the national campaign—"The Red Cross is at his side, the Red Cross is YOU"—will be the slogan of the county campaign.

"No phrase can better describe the work, the service, the importance and the utter necessity of the Red Cross in this war. The Red Cross is the American people. Its work in behalf of the millions of Americans in the four corners of the world is the effort and depicts the interest, the loyalty and support of the American people. Hence, it is our responsibility, our duty and our privilege to continue the vast scope of service that helps the men and women in our armed services wherever they are—in their own homes, in training camps and overseas."

Confident Of Success

"I am confident that Adams county will meet its quota and will maintain unbroken its record of never having failed to do its share in any national crisis."

This was the statement of Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter.

Henry M. Scharf, county chairman of the war fund campaign, called on all district leaders and workers to start the canvass of their districts immediately.

"The only question about this campaign is the date on which we will have our quota," the campaign chairman declared.

Voluntary Donations

"Frankly, if the drive is supported on the basis of the record of our county chapter and the service the Red Cross is rendering to Adams countyans serving their country here and abroad, our quota will be raised before the month is half over. Adams county, the first county in the state, I believe, will again be the first county to go over the top in this great and important effort."

Red Cross leaders are united in their anticipation that hundreds of Adams countyans will not await the solicitor's arrival to make their contributions to this cause. They likewise anticipate the subscriptions will strike a higher average than last year.

These anticipations are founded on the belief that relatively few people are not intimately acquainted with the broad work of the Red Cross and that all recognize the greater need that exists for the Red Cross as the American forces are expanding in all parts of the world.

"Subscription checks sent to the Red Cross office will be credited to the proper districts," campaign officials stated.

"The need in this campaign, aside from subscriptions which are relative in size to the greater need, is to assist the canvassers as much as possible in conserving time. Many of the people who will work in the drive are extremely busy. Many are handicapped in one way or another by limited transportation facilities. Hence, subscriptions sent to the office without waiting for the arrival of the solicitor will be of tremendous value in more ways than one," said Mr. Scharf.

Birth Announcements

Capt. and Mrs. Henry K. Staub, 301 North Stratton street, announce the birth of a son at the Warner hospital this morning.

A daughter was born Thursday evening at the hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snair, Taneytown R. 2. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Starnier, Gardeners, announce the birth of a son at the hospital Thursday evening.

REARRANGE STORE

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Baker, Seminary avenue, who recently purchased the Stover shoe store, Baltimore street, from Mrs. George Stover, announced today that rearrangements of the store have been completed.

Senate Swamps Roosevelt Tax Veto 72 To 14

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—A determined Senate teamed up with the House today to override President Roosevelt and enact a $2,315,200,000 tax increase bill over his caustic veto by a vote of 72 to 14.

The President's veto message sparked a congressional revolt which from the very start left no doubt as to the final outcome of the second war-time measure, which Mr. Roosevelt called inadequate.

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—The nation's tax bill was increased by $2,300,000,000 to a new record total of over $42,000,000,000 annually today as the Senate followed the House in overriding President Roosevelt's veto of the second war-time revenue act.

First general effects of the new legislation will be felt when higher postal rates become effective 30 days hence.

Then, on April 1, an increased schedule of excise taxes become effective, jumping the levy on liquor from $6 to $9 a gallon, or about 11 cents a drink on 100-proof spirits, and extending through a list of other commodities and services.

Salient Provisions

The legislation has no effect whatever on the individual income tax returns due by March 15 on 1943 income.

Circulate Papers For R. P. Funkhouser

Roy P. Funkhouser, vice president and general manager of the Victor Products Corporation, today announced that he is a candidate for delegate to the Democratic national convention.

Mr. Funkhouser has represented this district at the Democratic national convention on several occasions and has been active in the Democratic party locally and in the state for a number of years. His petitions are being circulated throughout the county.

PLANNING JOBS FOR VETERANS IN THIS COUNTY

Preliminary plans for establishment of a program for re-employment of Adams county's men and women in the armed services when they return were outlined Thursday evening at a meeting here of the re-employment committeemen of both county draft boards.

Attending the session were Paul A. Kinsey, re-employment committeeman for the Gettysburg Selective Service area; Lloyd Staveley, Littlestown, re-employment committeeman for the New Oxford area; Stanton D. House, Joseph E. Smith and Cloy Crouse and Walter D. Shoemaker, representing the Biglerville, Gettysburg and Littlestown American Legion posts; M. E. Knouse, chairman of the Gettysburg Selective Service board; C. Arthur Brame, veterans' representative for Adams county; Eugene V. Bulett, Esq., appeal agent for the Gettysburg Selective Service board, and Mrs. Edythe Singmaster, secretary.

The group adopted a preliminary plan for obtaining the co-operation of the county's business and agricultural interests, patriotic organizations and others in establishing a uniform plan for developing the re-employment program. The program will include making initial contacts with all men as soon as possible after their discharge to determine if they need assistance in finding employment or if they need medical assistance, or educational opportunities in preparation for employment.

In order to determine how many jobs will be available the group decided to have a survey made of all available jobs in the county and to keep a perpetual inventory of employment opportunities.

The group also plans to have a survey made to determine whether the manpower will be available after the war for new industries as a result of training of men in service for specialized activities.

Both Selective Service boards and re-employment committeemen will work on a uniform plan in which the entire county will be counted as a unit. The county program follows the recommendations given by Capt. Henry M. Gross, director of re-employment for the State Selective Service board.

H. S. STUCHELL PLACED IN 1A BY PRESIDENT

In a draft appeal case that was carried to President Roosevelt for final decision, the classification of Hiram Steele Stuchell, Burgess of York Springs and chairman of the borough council of defense there, has been returned to 1A, sustaining the original action of the New Oxford draft board. It was disclosed today.

Stuchell, who is shop foreman for the Harrisburg Buick company, received notice today of his final 1A classification and has been directed to report at Harrisburg next week for his pre-induction physical examination.

The appeal was taken by Mr. Stuchell's employer, the draft board office said today. The state board of appeals placed Stuchell in 2A but before the file in the case was returned to the New Oxford board the state Selective Service headquarters decided to appeal the case to President Roosevelt. The Chief Executive's decision was announced today.

Second Taken to FDR

The draft board said Stuchell had previously been granted "several" short-term occupational deferments. Stuchell's case is the second that the New Oxford board has had taken to the President for final action. In 1942 the case of a man who claimed deferment because he was operating a bulldozer and "buying bonds" was appealed. The local board classified the man 1A, so did the state board and the President affirmed those findings. The man is now in the service.

The Gettysburg board has never had a case carried beyond the state appeal board.

Other Appeals Lost

The New Oxford office also announced the names of seven men whose appeals from 1A classifications by the local board have been refused by the state appeals board and their 1A status has been continued.

The list follows: Charles Ambrose Ginter, Hanover R. 4, appealed by employer; Raymond Walter Reed, Littlestown R. 1, appeal by registrant; William Read Elmer, Jr., York, by employer; Francis Daniel Palmer, New Oxford R. 2, by employer; Arthur Clinton Trish, New Oxford R. 1, by employer; Col. Edgar Eisenhart, East Berlin R. 1, by employer, and Edgar William Leisler, New Oxford R. 3, by the registrant.

NEW OPA PRICE LISTINGS MADE PUBLIC TODAY

As a public service to our readers the new community price listings for the next quarter of this year are published on pages four and five.

Retail stores in Adams county are receiving their new quarterly community price lists. It was announced today by the OPA. The price schedules which indicate the maximum price that retail stores may charge consumers for specific food items will become effective on Monday and are expected to continue in force for approximately three months.

Director Loftus stated that all prices appearing on the new list have remained substantially at the same level as those of the present schedule which went into effect last November. Simultaneously with the release of new price ceilings for the next ninety days, the OPA announced the addition of several new items to those already covered by specific price regulations. They are oleomargarine, peanut butter, dry pea beans, marrow beans, lima beans, and baby lima beans.

Some Prices Restored
The OPA said that with the presence of more and greater varieties of canned fruits and vegetables, several price listings were restored to the price schedule.

Ceiling prices announced in the new schedule, it was explained, were fixed in accordance with the unit cost method which is established on a per can, per pound, and per package basis. Practically all foods, although not specifically listed on price schedules are now subject to OPA price ceilings.

Price panels of local War Price and Rationing boards have sufficient quantities of new schedules and will see that two copies are available at each retail store in the district. It was pointed out by OPA that in addition to the requirement that all stores display conspicuously their listings where consumers may readily observe them, they are obliged under OPA regulations to mark each item or shelf with the prevailing price ceiling.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Baker, Seminary avenue, spent Thursday in Baltimore on business.

Ten Divisions Peck At Allies On Anzio Line

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

Allied Headquarters, Naples, Feb. 25 (AP)—German forces ringing the Anzio beachhead, now swollen to 10 divisions, pecked at American-British lines yesterday in two fruitless attacks southwest of Carroceto as the Fifth Army steadily improved its positions, it was announced today.

The enemy likewise in light force assaulted French positions on Monte Abate a mile and a half east of Terelle on the Cassino front, but artillery fire broke up the thrust, and on the lower Garigliano sector German probing attempts were blocked.

Seven Inches of Snow At Cassino

Despite a seven-inch snowfall in the mountains around Cassino, Allied troops improved their positions on Monte Castellone in the mountains west of the village of Cairo, midway between Cassino and Terelle.

The new German division added to the nine which have been containing the Anzio beachhead for some days was said to have been brought from northern Italy. It was identified as the 362nd Infantry.

The two beachhead attacks were launched by only a company of infantry in each case — usually about 200 men. They were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, it was announced.

Allied artillery got the range of a German tank concentration near the so-called factory in the Carroceto area and forced it to disperse.

Fifth Army Strengthens Defenses

Although the Germans maintained close contact against the Allied beachhead, the passing of another day, the fifth, without major developments gave the Fifth Army valuable time to strengthen its defenses against an expected third full-scale German offensive.

The Germans continued to make a number of nuisance infiltrations around Allied outposts south of the Nazis' main rallying point at Carroceto, but a Fifth Army spokesman said these were being kept under control.

Patrols sent out by the British Eighth Army found German positions still firm. Allied mortar fire tore into a considerable German movement in the Arielli area inland from the Adriatic coast.

German Troops Evacuate Stronghold Of Vitebsk

London, Feb. 25 (AP)—German troops have evacuated the great White Russian stronghold of Vitebsk and are falling back toward the old Polish frontier 70 miles to the west, Berlin announced today.

The announcement followed closely a Moscow communique declaring that Russian troops had taken Rogachev, German bastion 150 miles south of Vitebsk, and the railway junction of Dno, 60 miles east of Pskov, German-held gateway to the Baltics. Moscow did not immediately announce the fall of Vitebsk, however.

Take Rogachev

The German transoceanic news agency, in a Berlin broadcast recorded here by the ministry of information, said that Vitebsk, important junction of four trunk railways and under siege by Red Army troops since last November, was evacuated only after bitter fighting. An earlier Berlin broadcast had acknowledged the "evacuation" of Rogachev.

Premier Stalin, in one of two orders of the day issued in Moscow, announced earlier that Gen. Constantine Rokossovsky's army, in a new offensive north of the Pripiet marshes, had stormed and captured Rogachev and had advanced 15 miles on a 30-mile-wide front, taking more than 30 towns and villages. One Soviet formation alone killed 4,000 enemy troops, captured many prisoners and quantities of war material including 62 big guns, the announcement said.

On the Baltic front, 220 miles north of the Vitebsk sector, Red Army troops converging on Pskov had not only captured Dno, last important Nazi base to the east of Pskov, but had also occupied a village 20 miles to the north, Moscow said.

$2,675,900 IN WAR BOND SALES

Adams county has exceeded its quota in the Fourth War Bond campaign by $28,300 and has also topped its over-all quota of bond sales to individuals by $29,637. It was revealed after sales through the close of business on Wednesday had been tabulated at the Federal Reserve Bank, Philadelphia. The official figures were telegraphed to Edmund W. Thomas, Chairman of the County War Finance Committee, today.

In the sale of "E" bonds to individuals the county is only $49,967 short of attaining its goal.

The county over-all quota was $2,047,600. Total sales through last Wednesday were $2,675,900.

The over-all quota for sales of bonds to individuals was $924,563. Total sales through last Wednesday were $954,200.

The quota for "E" bonds was $494,567 and the sales through last Wednesday reached $444,500.

Members of the county committee today expressed confidence that the quota of "E" bond sales will be reached before the official closing of the campaign next Tuesday.

ORDERS CHANGED

The local draft board announced today a change in the hour of departure for the 21 Gettysburg and western Adams county men to report for Navy duty next Wednesday. Originally called for 11 a. m., the men now are required to report at the local board office at 8 a. m. The trip to Harrisburg will be made by bus.

RED CROSS WAR FUND CAMPAIGN READY TO OPEN

With its campaign organization about completed, the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross is ready for the $26,500 War Fund drive which starts next Wednesday.

The theme of the national campaign—"The Red Cross is at his side, the Red Cross is YOU"—will be the slogan of the county campaign.

"No phrase can better describe the work, the service, the importance and the utter necessity of the Red Cross in this war. The Red Cross is the American people. Its work is in behalf of the millions of Americans in the four corners of the world is the effort and depicts the interest, the loyalty and support of the American people. Hence, it is our responsibility, our duty and our privilege to continue the vast scope of service that helps the men and women in our armed services wherever they are—in their own homes, in training camps and overseas."

Confident Of Success
"I am confident that Adams county will meet its quota and will maintain unbroken its record of never having failed to do its share in any national crisis."

This was the statement of Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter.

Henry M. Scharf, county chairman of the war fund campaign, called on all district leaders and workers to start the canvass of their districts immediately.

"The only question about this campaign is the date on which we will have our quota," the campaign chairman declared.

Voluntary Donations
"Frankly, if the drive is supported on the basis of the record of our county chapter and the service the Red Cross is rendering to Adams counties serving their country here and abroad, our quota will be raised before the month is half over. Adams county, the first county in the state, I believe, will again be the first county to go over the top in this great and important effort."

Red Cross leaders are united in their anticipation that hundreds of Adams counties will not await the solicitor's arrival to make their contributions to this cause. They likewise anticipate the subscriptions will strike a higher average than last year.

These anticipations are founded on the belief that relatively few people are not intimately acquainted with the broad work of the Red Cross and that all recognize the greater need that exists for the Red Cross as the American forces are expanding in all parts of the world.

"Subscription checks sent to the Red Cross office will be credited to the proper districts," campaign officials stated.

"The need in this campaign, aside from subscriptions which are relative in size to the greater need, is to assist the canvassers as much as possible in conserving time. Many of the people who will work in the drive are extremely busy. Many are handicapped in one way or another by limited transportation facilities. Hence, subscriptions sent to the office without waiting for the arrival of the solicitor will be of tremendous value in more ways than one," said Mr. Scharf.

Birth Announcements

Capt. and Mrs. Henry K. Staub, 301 North Stratton street, announce the birth of a son at the Warner hospital this morning.

A daughter was born Thursday evening at the hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snair, Taneytown R. 2. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Starner, Gardners, announce the birth of a son at the hospital Thursday evening.

REARRANGE STORE

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Baker, Seminary avenue, who recently purchased the Stover shoe store, Baltimore street, from Mrs. George Stover, announced today that rearrangements of the store have been completed.

Weather Forecast

Cloudy and not quite so cold tonight; Saturday cloudy with rising temperatures.

Senate Swamps Roosevelt Tax Veto 72 To 14

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—A determined Senate teamed up with the House today to override President Roosevelt and enact a $2,315,200,000 tax increase bill over his caustic veto by a vote of 72 to 14.

The President's veto message sparked a congressional revolt which from the very start left no doubt as to the final outcome of the second wartime tax measure, which Mr. Roosevelt called inadequate.

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—The nation's tax bill was increased by $2,300,000,000 to a new record total of over $42,000,000,000 annually today as the Senate followed the House in overriding President Roosevelt's veto of the second wartime revenue act.

First general effects of the new legislation will be felt when higher postal rates become effective 30 days hence.

Then, on April 1, an increased schedule of excise taxes become effective, jumping the levy on liquor from $6 to $9 a gallon, or about 11 cents a drink on 100-proof spirits, and extending through a list of other commodities and services.

Salient Provisions

The legislation has no effect whatever on the individual income tax returns due by March 15 on 1943 income.

Circulate Papers For R. P. Funkhouser

Roy P. Funkhouser, vice president and general manager of the Victor Products Corporation, today announced that he is a candidate for delegate to the Democratic national convention.

Mr. Funkhouser has represented this district at the Democratic national convention on several occasions and has been active in the Democratic party locally and in the state for a number of years. His petitions are being circulated throughout the county.

PLANNING JOBS FOR VETERANS IN THIS COUNTY

Preliminary plans for establishment of a program for re-employment of Adams county's men and women in the armed services when they return were outlined Thursday evening at a meeting here of the re-employment committeemen of both county draft boards.

Attending the session were Paul A. Kinsey, re-employment committeeman for the Gettysburg Selective Service area; Lloyd Staveley, Littlestown, re-employment committeeman for the New Oxford area; Stanton D. House, Joseph E. Smith and Cloy Crouse and Walter D. Shoemaker, representing the Biglerville, Gettysburg and Littlestown American Legion posts; M. E. Knouse, chairman of the Gettysburg Selective Service board; C. Arthur Brame, veterans' representative for Adams county; Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., appeal agent for the Gettysburg Selective Service board, and Mrs. Edythe Singmaster, secretary.

The group adopted a preliminary plan for obtaining the co-operation of the county's business and agricultural interests, patriotic organizations and others in establishing a uniform plan for developing the re-employment program. The program will include making initial contacts with all men as soon as possible after their discharge to determine if they need assistance in finding employment or if they need medical assistance, or educational opportunities in preparation for employment.

In order to determine how many jobs will be available the group decided to have a survey made of all available jobs in the county and to keep a perpetual inventory of employment opportunities.

The group also plans to have a survey made to determine whether the manpower will be available after the war for new industries as a result of training of men in service for specialized activities.

Both Selective Service boards and re-employment committeemen will work on a uniform plan in which the entire county will be counted as a unit. The county program follows the recommendations given by Capt. Henry M. Gross, director of re-employment for the State Selective Service board.

Salient provisions of the new law include:

1. Increases in individual income taxes for 1944—to yield an additional $664,900,000. There is no general rate increase, the new revenue being derived through elimination of the earned income credit and removal of deductions for excise taxes paid out.
2. A boost in the corporation excess profits tax, from 90 per cent to 95—to yield $502,100,000 more.
3. Higher excises on items classified as luxuries—another $1,051,300,000.
4. Increased postal rates in several categories of mail—$96,900,000 more. The out-of-town letter rate remains at three cents. The in-town letters, beginning 30 days hence, must carry three-cent rather than two-cent stamps.

Affects Unions

The social security payroll tax rate is frozen at one per cent for the rest of 1944, instead of rising automatically to two per cent each against employer and employee.

Numerous changes become effective in the war contracts re-negotiation law, including an amendment which opens the way for contractors to appeal to the courts from renegotiations they consider unfair.

Labor unions, farm cooperatives and other organizations are required to make annual financial statements to the Treasury, although no tax is imposed.

COMMISSIONS FOR 48 IN BLUE STAR BRIGADE

Forty-seven Adams county women and a four-year-old girl, daughter of a U. S. Army captain, have sold enough bonds in the Fourth War Loan drive to win "commissions" from second lieutenant to major general in the Blue Star Brigade, it was disclosed today by Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman of the women's division of the Adams county War Finance committee.

The bond salesladies are led by Mrs. Katherine A. Pfaltzgraff, of McSherrystown, who has sold 75 war bonds to 75 individuals to qualify for the rank of major general. Second "ranking officer" is Mrs. Dale Bream, of Cashtown, who holds the rank of major by reason of her sale of 57 war bonds to 39 individuals.

The 48 commissioned officers to date have sold 1,039 bonds to 977 persons, today's tabulation discloses.

Little "Captain" Pegg

Youngest saleslady in the group is little Miss Barbara Ellen Pegg, Hanover street, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Harold Pegg. She has attained the rank of "captain" by reason of her sale of 23 bonds to 23 individuals.

These bond sale requirements have been set up for the various commissions: 10 bonds to 10 persons, second lieutenant; 15 bonds to 15 persons, first lieutenant; 20 bonds to 20 persons, captain; 30 bonds to 30 persons, major; 45 bonds to 45 persons, colonel.

The local women who have received commissions for bond sales follow with the record of each:

Local Officers

Majors—Mrs. Charles Pitzer, 35 bonds to 35 persons, and Mrs. Carl E. Oyler, 33 bonds to 33 persons.

Captains—Mrs. S. A. Messner, 29 bonds to 29 persons; Mrs. R. D. Wickerham, 26 bonds to 26 persons; Mrs. Violet E. Hill, 22 bonds to 22 persons; Mrs. Florence Donley, 25 bonds to 25 persons; Miss Anna C. McSherry, 22 bonds to 22 persons; Mrs. Paul Thomas, 22 bonds to 22 persons, and Barbara Ellen Pegg, 23 to 23.

First lieutenant—Mrs. Granville R. Shultz, 18 to 18; Mrs. Mares Sherman, 18 to 18; Mrs. Joseph E. Smith, 16 to 16; Mrs. Rose Capozzi, 15 to 15; Mrs. Erie R. Dearoff, 18 to 18, and Mrs. Virginia Lawver, 18 to 18.

Second lieutenants—Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh, 10 bonds to 10 persons, and Miss Helen Keith, 10 to 10.

Reports From County

These reports have been received from other county communities where women have been busy selling bonds:

Bendersville—Mrs. Oliver D. Cobie, first lieutenant, 16 to 16, and Mrs. George Schriver, first lieutenant, 17 to 17.

Biglerville—Mrs. B. G. Walter, major, 35 to 35; Mrs. Esther Stubbs, second lieutenant, 18 to 18, and Mrs. C. R. Grim, second lieutenant, 14 to 11.

Cashtown—Mrs. Dale Bream, major, 57 to 39, and Mrs. Charles Fellman, first lieutenant, 18 to 18.

H. S. STUCHELL PLACED IN 1A BY PRESIDENT

In a draft appeal case that was carried to President Roosevelt for final decision, the classification of Hiram Steele Stuchell, Burgess of York Springs and chairman of the borough council of defense there, has been returned to 1A, sustaining the original action of the New Oxford draft board, it was disclosed today.

Stuchell, who is shop foreman for the Harrisburg Bulck company, received notice today of his final 1A classification and has been directed to report at Harrisburg next week for his pre-induction physical examination.

The appeal was taken by Mr. Stuchell's employer, the draft board office said today. The state board of appeals placed Stuchell in 2A but before the file in the case was returned to the New Oxford board the state Selective Service headquarters decided to appeal the case to President Roosevelt. The Chief Executive's decision was announced today.

Second Taken to FDR

The draft board said Stuchell had previously been granted "several" short-term occupational deferments.

Stuchell's case is the second that the New Oxford board has had taken to the President for final action. In 1942 the case of a man who claimed deferment because he was operating a bulldozer and "buying bonds" was appealed. The local board classified the man 1A, so did the state board and the President affirmed those findings. The man is now in the service.

The Gettysburg board has never had a case carried beyond the state appeal board.

Other Appeals Lost

The New Oxford office also announced the names of seven men whose appeals from 1A classifications by the local board have been refused by the state appeals board and their 1A status has been continued.

The list follows: Charles Ambrose Ginter, Hanover R. 4, appealed by employer; Raymond Walter Reed, Littlestown R. 1, appeal by registrant; William Read Elmer, Jr., York, by employer; Francis Daniel Palmer, New Oxford R. 2, by employer; Arthur Clinton Trish, New Oxford R. 1, by employer; Coit Edward Eisenhart, East Berlin R. 1, by employer, and Edgar William Leister, New Oxford R. 3, by the registrant.

NEW OPA PRICE LISTINGS MADE PUBLIC TODAY

As a public service to our readers the new community price listings for the next quarter of this year are published on pages four and five.

Retail stores in Adams county are receiving their new quarterly community price lists, it was announced today by the OPA. The price schedules which indicate the maximum price that retail stores may charge consumers for specific food items will become effective on Monday and are expected to continue in force for approximately three months.

Director Loftus stated that all prices appearing on the new list have remained substantially at the same level as those of the present schedule which went into effect last November. Simultaneously with the release of new price ceilings for the next ninety days, the OPA announced the addition of several new items to those already covered by specific price regulations. They are oleomargarine, peanut butter, dry pea beans, marrow beans, lima beans, and baby lima beans.

Some Prices Restored
The OPA said that with the presence of more and greater varieties of canned fruits and vegetables, several price listings were restored to the price schedule.

Ceiling prices announced in the new schedule, it was explained, were fixed in accordance with the unit cost method which is established on a per can, per pound, and per package basis. Practically all foods, although not specifically listed on price schedules are now subject to OPA price ceilings.

Price panels of local War Price and Rationing boards have sufficient quantities of new schedules and will see that two copies are available to each retail store in the district. It was pointed out by OPA that in addition to the requirement that all stores display conspicuously their listings where consumers may readily observe them, they are obliged under OPA regulations to mark each item or shelf with the prevailing price ceiling.

Ten Divisions Peck At Allies On Anzio Line

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Allied Headquarters, Naples, Feb. 25 (AP)—German forces ringing the Anzio beachhead, now swollen to 10 divisions, pecked at American-British lines yesterday in two fruitless attacks southwest of Carroceto as the Fifth Army steadily improved its positions, it was announced today.

The enemy likewise in light force assaulted French positions on Monte Abate a mile and a half east of Terelle on the Cassino front, but artillery fire broke up the thrust, and on the lower Garigliano sector German probing attempts were blocked.

Seven Inches of Snow At Cassino
Despite a seven-inch snowfall in the mountains around Cassino, Allied troops improved their positions on Monte Castellone in the mountains west of the village of Cairo, midway between Cassino and Terelle.

The new German division added to the nine which have been containing the Anzio beachhead for some days was said to have been brought from northern Italy. It was identified as the 362nd Infantry.

The two beachhead attacks were launched by only a company of infantry in each case — usually about 200 men. They were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, it was announced.

Allied artillery got the range of a German tank concentration near the so-called factory in the Carroceto area and forced it to disperse.

Fifth Army Strengthens Defenses

Although the Germans maintained close contact against the Allied beachhead, the passing of another day, the fifth, without major developments gave the Fifth Army valuable time to strengthen its defenses against an expected third full-scale German offensive.

The Germans continued to make a number of nuisance infiltrations around Allied outposts south of the Nazis' main rallying point at Carroceto, but a Fifth Army spokesman said these were being kept under control.

Patrols sent out by the British Eighth Army found German positions still firm. Allied mortar fire tore into a considerable German movement in the Arielli area inland from the Adriatic coast.

German Troops Evacuate Stronghold Of Vitebsk

London, Feb. 25 (AP)—German troops have evacuated the great White Russian stronghold of Vitebsk and are falling back toward the old Polish frontier 70 miles to the west, Berlin announced today.

The announcement followed closely a Moscow communique declaring that Russian troops had taken Rogachev, German bastion 150 miles south of Vitebsk, and the railway junction of Dno, 60 miles east of Pskov, German-held gateway to the Baltics. Moscow did not immediately announce the fall of Vitebsk, however.

Take Rogachev
The German transoceanic news agency, in a Berlin broadcast recorded here by the ministry of information, said that Vitebsk, important junction of four trunk railways and under siege by Red Army troops since last November, was evacuated only after bitter fighting. An earlier Berlin broadcast had acknowledged the "evacuation" of Rogachev.

CLUB ACTIVITY GROUPS CHOSEN

Miss Beulah Furney, president of the Annie Danner club, has announced the following committees to serve in the following year's activities:

Program committee: Mary Lenhardt, chairman, Verna Kitzmiller, Rosali Boyer, Oma Pitzer and Edna Barbehenn.

Membership committee: Louise Dickert, chairman, Kitty Burner, Martha Furney, Esther Gelselman, Edith Baker, Dorothy Lackner.

The program committee met Tuesday evening to make plans for the Lenten season. Mrs. Ralph Baker will speak to the group on February 28 on the subject "The Value of Self Denial." On March 7 the Rev. Mr. Harold Myers will present a subject appropriate to the Lenten season. John J. Lenhardt will lead the group in a worship service on March 16 after which refreshments will be served in the St. Patrick's Day theme. On March 21 the Rev. Robert M. Hunt will be the speaker. Those planning the worship period before the speaker presents his subject are: Mary Lenhardt, Verna Kitzmiller, Virginia Lawver and Violet Lackner.

ORDERS CHANGED

The local draft board announced today a change in the hour of departure for the 21 Gettysburg and western Adams county men to report for Navy duty next Wednesday. Originally called for 11 a. m., the men now are required to report at the local board office at 8 a. m. The trip to Harrisburg will be made by bus.

$2,675,900 IN WAR BOND SALES

Adams county has exceeded its quota in the Fourth War Bond campaign by $628,300 and has also topped its over-all quota of bond sales to individuals by $29,637. It was revealed after sales through the close of business on Wednesday had been tabulated at the Federal Reserve Bank, Philadelphia. The official figures were telegraphed to Edmund W. Thomas, Chairman of the County War Finance Committee, today.

In the sale of "E" bonds to individuals the county is only $49,967 short of attaining its goal.

The county over-all quota was $2,047,600. Total sales through last Wednesday were $2,675,900.

The over-all quota for sales of bonds to individuals was $924,563. Total sales through last Wednesday were $954,200.

The quota for "E" bonds was $494,567 and the sales through last Wednesday reached $444,600.

Members of the county committee today expressed confidence that the quota of "E" bond sales will be reached before the official closing of the campaign next Tuesday.

ORDERS CHANGED

The local draft board announced today a change in the hour of departure for the 21 Gettysburg and western Adams county men to report for Navy duty next Wednesday. NEW BLITZ ON LONDON NAZIS' LAST GESTURE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
British Prime Minister Churchill last night stalked through fresh ruins made by Hitler's new "non-stop" blitz on London and held up his fingers in the famous "V" sign as he told the crowds with grim beligerency:
"We'll stick it out and give it."
This sudden renewal of the aerial offensive is a nasty affair. Still, I don't believe we need regard it as a phenomenon.
It is in part an answer to the unprecedented Anglo-American bombing of western Europe and the Reich which daily and nightly is blasting away the foundations of Hitler's festung Europa. Indications are, however, that it is being conducted more for its moral effect on the world at large than for military reasons.
Feeble Gesture
The Fuehrer's primary object undoubtedly is to convince both his own people and foreign nations that the Reich still possesses great striking power in the air. He aims at sustaining morale at home and at creating a bargaining point for use in case some unforeseen event should impel the Allies to abandon their demand for unconditional surrender and consider peace negotiations.
However, while the present German raids are the most severe since the terrible blitz of 1940-1941, there's no sign that Hitler any longer can command sufficient air strength to bring London to its knees, or anything like it.
The Nazis are using much smaller bombing fleets than in the old days, because their Luftwaffe is only a shadow of its former self, but they're employing more powerful bombs. The net result is that they are causing a lot of promiscuous destruction which has little military value, and are killing a good many unfortunate civilians. In short, from the military viewpoint the raids thus far have had only a "nausea value."
Nazi Peace Angle
The peace angle is important from Hitler's angle. It long has been apparent that he is conducting a war of attrition in the hope of wearing the Allies down to a point where they will compromise. Recently it has been disclosed, too, that his agents have been putting out peace feelers in many quarters.
These overtures, though, have contemplated a negotiated peace which would enable the Nazis to salvage much from the wreckage. Thus the sum total is that we must smash Hitler on the battlefield.
Marshal Stalin reminded the world against this week that the only way to crush the Nazis is to invade western Europe and get them between two vast military millstones. With this the Allied High Command not only agrees, but Premier Churchill a couple of days ago described in forceful terms the terrific air drive in preparation for the invasion from Britain.
To Crush Air Force
Even as Stalin and Churchill were speaking, the Anglo-American bombing effort was swelling to a volume exceeding anything heretofore seen, and Churchill promised that this would increase sharply to a pitch greater than has even been conjured up in the imagination. Our primary objective at the moment is to render Hitler's air force impotent and thus ease the bloody routes up the strongly defended shores of the English Channel.
Americans who have just reached Spain enroute home after thirteen months internment in Germany—diplomats, newsmen and relief workers—say Germany can be beaten on the battle-field, but warn us that there's almost no sign of internal collapse visible to the observer. This report comes through Taylor Henry, Associated Press correspondent, who was one of the internees. Henry records that while the German fighting strength has decreased, morale seems to have tightened to meet the emergency.

Packers To Share Meat With Services

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—Some 40 western Pennsylvania meat packers may be sharing 50 per cent of their beef production with the armed forces after April 1 under a government order just announced, William M. Walsh, area supervisor for the War Food Administration announced.
Under the plan, all packers who slaughter more than 52 head of cattle per week must set aside half their production for government purchase. Total production of the 40 firms expected to be affected by the order now is entirely for civilian use, Walsh said.
GOOD FRIDAY SPEAKER
Dr. Arnold W. Bloomfield, stated clerk of the Cleveland Presbytery and a general presbyter of the Synod of Ohio, has been secured as the speaker for Good Friday service to be held April 7 from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. It was announced today by the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, pastor of the church.

Wrecked Freight Cars Block Tracks
Baltimore, Feb. 25 (AP)—The wreckage of 12 freight cars, derailed last night at a tunnel east of Harpers Ferry, W. Va., blocked the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's main line today and forced passenger trains to make a 77-mile detour.
The cars were derailed about 7 p. m. when six cars of the 70-car train went off the tracks in the tunnel and another six outside the entrance.
A B. and O. spokesman said the tracks would be cleared by noon. Meanwhile, approximately a dozen passenger trains were sent by way of Weverton, Md., and Cherry Run, W. Va., with a time loss of from one and a half to two hours.
Sued For $10,000 In Fatal Accident
Legal action to recover damages totaling $10,000 was instituted Wednesday in the York county common pleas court by Mrs. Mannie Long, Annville, against C. R. Oberholzer, Annville, and Joseph E. Renoll, East Berlin R. 1, as an outgrowth of an automobile collision Nov. 25, 1943, on the Hanover-Dillsburg highway, north of East Berlin, in which the plaintiff's husband, J. Frank Long, was fatally injured.
The statement of claim filed in the suit avers that J. Frank Long received injuries which caused his death on Nov. 27 as a result of the "negligent, reckless and careless" operation of the cars of the two defendants. Long was a passenger in Oberholzer's automobile at the time of the collision.
FARM IS SOLD
Angus Coleman has sold his 33-acre farm in Butler township along the Biglerville road together with all stock, equipment and crops to Willis G. Robertson, East Paterson, New Jersey. The sale was made by C. A. Heiges. Possession will be given March 15.

REPATRIATES ARE SEALED IN FRENCH HOTELS

(Editor's Note — Mel Most, author of this story, was a member of the Associated Press staff in Vichy when the Germans occupied southern France in December, 1942. Interned at that time, he is now en route to Lisbon with a large party of American repatriates who will be exchanged there for German nationals.)
By MEL MOST
Aboard the American Repatriation Train in Spain, Feb. 25 (AP)—American diplomats, newspapermen, wounded soldiers and civilians were on neutral ground at last today, bound for Lisbon and freedom after internment for over a year on German soil.
The party of 644 persons, which also included a number of Latin American diplomats, was expected to arrive in Lisbon this morning and be exchanged for 1,180 Germans and French arriving on the Swedish liner Gripsholm.
Sealed In Hotels
Before crossing the border into Spain, both the North American and South American groups were sealed in their hotels in Biarritz with German soldiers standing on guard. This was in contrast to their treatment in Germany, where nobody attempted to escape and the Germans handled them with kid gloves.
Apparently the Germans feared the Americans would receive information as to the state of affairs in France.
The Germans also appeared hampered by a shortage of rail equipment, for the railway cars used to make up the evacuation trains were ancient day coaches and a large number of repatriates were ill from the drafty, under-heated carriages in which they sat on their way to Spain.
The biggest section of the United States party consisted of 154 diplomatic, consular, press and relief work representatives. Among them were Pinkney Truck, U. S. Charge d' Affaires at Vichy and Mrs. Truck; Douglas MacArthur, nephew of Gen. MacArthur, who was a secretary of the embassy; Taylor Henry, chief of the Associated Press bureau at Vichy; Philip W. I. Whitcomb, correspondent of the Baltimore Sun; his French wife and their two-months-old baby.
Truck Upsets With Cargo Of Fertilizer
Traffic on the southern end of Hanover was held up several hours Thursday afternoon when a truck driven by George Price, 18, Carlisle R. 4, and owned by Harold S. Barrick, Neville R. 3, overturned on the highway just outside the borough line on Route 94.
Damage to the truck, which was loaded with fertilizer, was estimated at $2,000. The driver was uninjured. Tow trucks from Hanover garages were unable to handle the truck which turned over on its top after the left front wheel struck a curb and heavy equipment had to be brought from Carlisle to remove the vehicle.
The driver told Pvt. George Evancko, of the local state police, who investigated, that a car immediately in front of the truck had slowed and when an attempt was made to halt the vehicle the left front wheel brake "grabbed," throwing the truck against the curb. No charges were laid.
BULLETINS
London, Feb. 25 (AP)—Great formations of American heavy bombers carried the unprecedented Allied aerial offensive thundering through its sixth day today with smashes deep within Germany at aircraft production plants at Regensburg, Stuttgart, and other targets.
The heavy daylight assault carried the mighty offensive racing on found the clock after the RAF took up the two-day scourge of Nazi plane production last night in a 1,000-plane raid from Britain on Schweinfurt and sent other formations from Italy to attack Steyr, in Austria.
Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—The military draft situation has become so tight that Selective Service may soon have to raise the age minimum for industrial deferments from 22 to 26 years, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey told the Senate Agriculture committee today.

POLICE FIGHT EPIDEMIC OF "DOG RABIES"
Harrisburg, Feb. 25 (AP)—The state Bureau of Animal Industry is enlisting the aid of local police in a campaign against one of Pennsylvania's worst mid-winter epidemics of dog rabies in the history of the department.
Dr. C. P. Bishop, chief of the bureau, said today that 2,065 dogs were destroyed by law enforcement officers and an additional 92 by state agents during January alone.
"Rabies, contrary to popular belief, is a year-round disease and is not confined to the hot summer months," Dr. Bishop said in explaining the reason for the present epidemic, spreading over 21 counties, most of them in western Pennsylvania.
The counties are Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Chester, Clarion, Crawford, Delaware, Dauphin, Erie, Fayette, Forest, Lawrence, McKean, Mercer, Montgomery, Philadelphia, Venango, Washington, Westmoreland and York.
In the city of Erie alone 20 dogs have died during the past ten days in what Dr. A. J. Mitchell and Erie veterinarian calls "the worst epidemic to hit the city since the early 1900's when dogs were placed under a quarantine for 100 days."
Batting to confine the epidemic to the immediate vicinity of Erie the bureau has dispatched H. E. Higbee, of Grove City, to Erie to assist local authorities and M. P. Hendrick, of Meadville, the bureau's agent there.
4 FARM GROUPS RAP DRAFT CASE
Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Four major farm organizations declared in a joint statement today that new Selective Service rules would demoralize 1944 crop production, as the Senate Agriculture committee began an investigation of the situation.
Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, was called as the witness at a hearing prompted by an order directing local draft boards to review 1,700,000 farm labor deferments.
A joint statement by the farm organizations called the new directive "drastic" and "contrary to the national interest" in that nearly half of the workers now deferred as war-essential employees might be channeled into the armed services.
"With greater demands being placed upon farmers for more food production," said the statement, "the situation now verges upon tragic and requires quick, remedial action."
Signing the statement were Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Ezra T. Benson, secretary of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives; Fred C. Brenckman, representative of the National Grange, and Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation.
Damage Suit In Freak Mishap
An action in trespass was instituted in the Adams county courts Thursday by Charles F. McCaffrey, Littlestown, and Michael Walsh, York, who are seeking damages from Samuel E. Dowell, Baltimore, for injuries allegedly suffered by them as a result of a freak accident September 21, 1941, on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road at Worley's curve, north of York Springs.
According to the statement of claim, McCaffrey and Walsh were riding in a car driven by Daniel W. Lichty, Littlestown, when they passed a trailer-truck owned by Dowell. As the truck passed the car, the statement of claim alleges, it was "so negligently constructed and operated that the left side of the trailer gave way and coal spilled into the Lichty car." McCaffrey claims to have suffered an injury to his back and is seeking damages while Walsh alleges he was buried in the coal and suffered a number of injuries.
John P. Butt, Esq., is attorney for McCaffrey and Walsh.

NEW BLITZ ON LONDON NAZIS' LAST GESTURE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

British Prime Minister Churchill last night stalked through fresh ruins made by Hitler's new "non-stop" blitz on London and held up his fingers in the famous "V" sign as he told the crowds with grim beligerency:

"We'll stick it out and give it."

This sudden renewal of the aerial offensive is a nasty affair. Still, I don't believe we need regard it as a phenomenon.

It is in part an answer to the unprecedented Anglo-American bombing of western Europe and the Reich which daily and nightly is blasting away the foundations of Hitler's festung Europa. Indications are, however, that it is being conducted more for its moral effect on the world at large than for military reasons.

Feeble Gesture

The Fuehrer's primary object undoubtedly is to convince both his own people and foreign nations that the Reich still possesses great striking power in the air. He aims at sustaining morale at home and at creating a bargaining point for use in case some unforeseen event should impel the Allies to abandon their demand for unconditional surrender and consider peace negotiations.

However, while the present German raids are the most severe since the terrible blitz of 1940-1941, there's no sign that Hitler any longer can command sufficient air strength to bring London to its knees, or anything like it.

The Nazis are using much smaller bombing fleets than in the old days, because their Luftwaffe is only a shadow of its former self, but they're employing more powerful bombs. The net result is that they are causing a lot of promiscuous destruction which has little military value, and are killing a good many unfortunate civilians. In short, from the military viewpoint the raids thus far have had only a "nuisance value."

Nazi Peace Angle

The peace angle is important from Hitler's angle. It long has been apparent that he is conducting a war of attrition in the hope of wearing the Allies down to a point where they will compromise. Recently it has been disclosed, too, that his agents have been putting out peace feelers in many quarters.

These overtures, though, have contemplated a negotiated peace which would enable the Nazis to salvage much from the wreckage. Thus the sum total is that we must smash Hitler on the battlefield.

Marshal Stalin reminded the world against this week that the only way to crush the Nazis is to invade western Europe and get them between two vast military millstones. With this the Allied High Command not only agrees, but Premier Churchill a couple of days ago described in forceful terms the terrific air drive in preparation for the invasion from Britain.

To Crush Air Force

Even as Stalin and Churchill were speaking, the Anglo-American bombing effort was swelling to a volume exceeding anything heretofore seen, and Churchill promised that this would increase sharply to a pitch greater than has even been conjured up in the imagination. Our primary objective at the moment is to render Hitler's air force impotent and thus ease the bloody routes up the "strongly defended shores of the English Channel."

Americans who have just reached Spain enroute home after thirteen months internment in Germany—diplomats, newsmen and relief workers—say Germany can be beaten on the battlefield, but warn us that there's almost no sign of internal collapse visible to the observer. This report comes through Taylor Henry, Associated Press correspondent, who was one of the internees. Henry records that while the German fighting strength has decreased, morale seems to have tightened to meet the emergency.

Packers To Share Meat With Services

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—Some 40 western Pennsylvania meat packers may be sharing 50 per cent of their beef production with the armed forces after April 1 under a government order just announced, William M. Walsh, area supervisor for the War Food Administration announced.

Under the plan, all packers who slaughter more than 52 head of cattle per week must set aside half their production for government purchase. Total production of the 40 firms expected to be affected by the order now is entirely for civilian use, Walsh said.

GOOD FRIDAY SPEAKER

Dr. Arnold W. Bloomfield, stated clerk of the Cleveland Presbytery and a general presbyter of the Synod of Ohio, has been secured as the speaker for Good Friday service to be held April 7 from 2:30 to 2:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church. It was announced today by the Rev. Robert M. Hunt, pastor of the church.

Wrecked Freight Cars Block Tracks

Baltimore, Feb. 25 (AP)—The wreckage of 12 freight cars, derailed last night at a tunnel east of Harpers Ferry, W. Va., blocked the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's main line today and forced passenger trains to make a 77-mile detour.

The cars were derailed about 7 p. m., when six cars of the 70-car train went off the tracks in the tunnel and another six outside the entrance.

A B. and O. spokesman said the tracks would be cleared by noon.

Meanwhile, approximately a dozen passenger trains were sent by way of Wewerton, Md., and Cherry Run, W. Va., with a time loss of from one and a half to two hours.

Sued For $10,000 In Fatal Accident

Legal action to recover damages totaling $10,000 was instituted Wednesday in the York county common pleas court by Mrs. Mamie Long, Annville, against C. R. Oberholzer, Annville, and Joseph E. Renoll, East Berlin R. 1, as an outgrowth of an automobile collision Nov. 25, 1943, on the Hanover-Dillsburg highway, north of East Berlin, in which the plaintiff's husband, J. Frank Long, was fatally injured.

The statement of claim filed in the suit avers that J. Frank Long received injuries which caused his death on Nov. 27 as a result of the "negligent, reckless and careless" operation of the cars of the two defendants. Long was a passenger in Oberholzer's automobile at the time of the collision.

SHIRLEY FRY EYES NATIONAL TENNIS TITLE

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON
Akron, O., (AP)—Tennis is fun for Shirley Fry—but deadly serious fun.

At 16, the Akron court queen who holds the national girls' indoor singles and doubles championships, feels confident she'll realize her most cherished goal, the women's national title, "this year or next."

When she first stepped on a tennis court Shirley was eight years old and serious enough about the game to have spent two previous months banging away at a practice wall an hour or two a day.

Tourney Winner At 9

The next year, at nine, she won her first tournament, and has kept those winning ways ever since—always with both blue eyes fixed on that national women's championship.

In 1941 she battled through to the quarter-finals of the women's national tourney at Forest Hills only to fall before the drives and slashes of Pauline Betz, who won the title.

Last year she was the victim of a first round match just as was the case in 1940.

Her deadly seriousness is shown in daily practice sessions this winter on the squash court of Akron Central High School, where she is a junior student.

Her father, realtor Lester Fry often watches the daily sessions, as he did eight years ago when the third grade pupil tried out her tennis wings on a practice court. He criticizes now and then, and suggests improvements.

Best Weapon

Shirley says her backhand drive—as accurate as a rifle shot—is her best weapon. Dad agrees, but thinks her service may be best ultimately, although "it's the poorest thing about her game now." She plays easily and gracefully, with an apparent lack of effort. But always completely serious.

Strictly an athlete, she plays hockey with the neighborhood boys, and outskates most of them. She won a northeastern Ohio free-style swimming trophy when she was 11, and "may go in for competitive swimming again some day."

A home girl when not on the courts, Shirley helps with the housework, including the dusting of some 60 cups and trophies, and seldom has "dates." She is pretty, but pays only slight attention to beauty care, and she's as shapely as a ballet dancer.

Holds Girls' Crowns

Last August Shirley teamed with Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., to win the national girls' doubles tournament in Philadelphia, and her latest diadems were captured at Brookline, Mass., last December. She whipped Lillian Lopus, defending titlist, for the girls' singles crown, and then paired with Norma Meister of Sharon, Mass., to cop the tandem title.

The Frys are Akron's Royal Family of Tennis. Mrs. Fry, Shirley's mother, once held the Akron city doubles championship, and daughter, Evelyn, now 25-year-old, won tournaments in and around the city when Shirley still banged away at a practice wall. Two brothers, also renowned in the local tennis field, are now Ensign Byron, 21, and Cadet Bob, 23, of Naval Air Forces.

REPATRIATES ARE SEALED IN FRENCH HOTELS

(Editor's Note — Mel Most, author of this story, was a member of the Associated Press staff in Vichy when the Germans occupied southern France in December, 1942. Interned at that time, he is now en route to Lisbon with a large party of American repatriates who will be exchanged there for German nationals.)

By MEL MOST

Aboard the American Repatriation Train in Spain, Feb. 25 (AP)—American diplomats, newspapermen, wounded soldiers and civilians were on neutral ground at last today, bound for Lisbon and freedom after internment for over a year on German soil.

The party of 644 persons, which also included a number of Latin American diplomats, was expected to arrive in Lisbon this morning and be exchanged for 1,180 Germans and French arriving on the Swedish liner Gripsholm.

Sealed In Hotels

Before crossing the border into Spain, both the North American and South American groups were sealed in their hotels in Biarritz with German soldiers standing on guard. This was in contrast to their treatment in Germany, where nobody attempted to escape and the Germans handled them with kid gloves.

Apparently the Germans feared the Americans would receive information as to the state of affairs in France.

The Germans also appeared hampered by a shortage of rail equipment, for the railway cars used to make up the evacuation trains were ancient day coaches and a large number of repatriates were ill from the drafty, under-heated carriages in which they sat on their way to Spain.

The biggest section of the United States party consisted of 154 diplomatic, consular, press and relief work representatives. Among them were Pinkney Tuck, U. S. Charge d'Affaires at Vichy and Mrs. Tuck; Douglas MacArthur, nephew of Gen. MacArthur, who was a secretary of the embassy; Taylor Henry, chief of the Associated Press bureau at Vichy; Philip W. I. Whitcomb, correspondent of the Baltimore Sun; his French wife and their two-months-old baby.

Truck Upsets With Cargo Of Fertilizer

Traffic on the southern end of Hanover was held up several hours Thursday afternoon when a truck driven by George Price, 16, Carlisle R. 4, and owned by Harold S. Barick, Newville R. 3, overturned on the highway just outside the borough line on Route 94.

Damage to the truck, which was loaded with fertilizer, was estimated at $2,000. The driver was uninjured. Tow trucks from Hanover garages were unable to handle the truck which turned over on its top after the left front wheel struck a curb and heavy equipment had to be brought from Carlisle to remove the vehicle.

The driver told Pvt. George Evancko, of the local state police, who investigated, that a car immediately in front of the truck had slowed and when an attempt was made to halt the vehicle the left front wheel brake "grabbed," throwing the truck against the curb. No charges were laid.

BULLETINS

London, Feb. 25 (AP)—Great formations of American heavy bombers carried the unprecedented Allied aerial offensive thundering through its sixth day today with smashes deep within Germany at aircraft production plants at Regensburg, Stuttgart, and other targets.

The heavy daylight assault carried the mighty offensive racing on found the clock after the RAF took up the two-day scourge of Nazi plane production last night in a 1,000-plane raid from Britain on Schweinfurt and sent other formations from Italy to attack Steyr, in Austria.

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—The military draft situation has become so tight that Selective Service may soon have to raise the age minimum for industrial deferments from 22 to 26 years, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey told the Senate Agriculture committee today.

FDR PROCLAIMS MARCH MONTH FOR RED CROSS

President Roosevelt has proclaimed the entire month of March as "Red Cross Month" in the interest of the 1944 Red Cross War Fund campaign to raise at least $200,000,000.

In Gettysburg and Adams county arrangements are completed and everything is in readiness to conduct a campaign to raise $26,500 as this county's quota.

Henry M. Scharf, Chairman of the county committee, said: "I am hopeful that we will reach our quota within the early days of the month. Our people are sufficiently aware of the scope of activities of the Red Cross to support this nation-wide appeal."

Negro Wounded By State Store Guards

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP) — A negro was shot early today by police keeping watch on state liquor stores since a series of burglaries.

The officers said they shot at a man climbing from a transom. The bullet hit the man in the back of the left shoulder and knocked him back into the store.

He was taken to a hospital, unconscious and in a serious condition. Joseph Medman, assistant manager of the store, said four cases of whisky, valued at $312, had been found stacked just outside the door.

Damage Suit In Freak Mishap

An action in trespass was instituted in the Adams county courts Thursday by Charles F. McCaffrey, Littlestown, and Michael Walsh, York, who are seeking damages from Samuel E. Dowell, Baltimore, for injuries allegedly suffered by them as a result of a freak accident. September 21, 1941, on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road at Worley's curve, north of York Springs.

According to the statement of claim, McCaffrey and Walsh were riding in a car driven by Daniel W. Lichty, Littlestown, when they passed a trailer-truck owned by Dowell. As the truck passed the car, the statement of claim alleges, it was "so negligently constructed and operated that the left side of the trailer gave way and coal spilled into the Lichty car." McCaffrey claims to have suffered an injury to his back and is seeking damages while Walsh alleges he was buried in the coal and suffered a number of injuries.

John P. Butt, Esq., is attorney for McCaffrey and Walsh.

Approximately 175,000,000 square feet of pierced steel airplane landing mats have been shipped from the U. S. to combat areas since Pearl Harbor.

BULLETS MEET L. VALLEY IN SEASON FINAL

Gettysburg college will ring down the curtain on its 1944 basketball season Saturday evening by playing host to the Lebanon Valley college quintet.

Despite a decisive victory over the Dutchmen in a game played at Annville last month, the Bullets are anticipating a stiff battle and are preparing accordingly.

The Bullets have been victorious in five of eight games played this season and are determined to wind up their abbreviated season in a successful manner.

Coach Bream will probably use Farnell and Sheppard at forwards; Barnhill at center, and Roberts and Orth at guards.

No preliminary game will be played Saturday evening, the single contest being scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Abbottstown Downs Mt. Pleasant Twice

Abbottstown won a pair of games from the Mt. Pleasant dribblers in a twin bill played Wednesday evening at Two Taverns.

After winning the first game 38-35, the Abbottstown quintet was forced to go an extra period to win the second game 32-26.

Mt. Pleasant will play the Gettysburg Raiders at Two Taverns next Tuesday evening.

Pepper Martin Is Proud Of His Speed

Oklahoma City, Feb. 25 (AP)—Pepper Martin said tonight he might not be quite as fast as in the days when he was stealing all bases in sight, but that he could still beat a lot of fast men in a 50 yard—or even 60 yard dash.

Martin, who will play for the St. Louis Cardinals again this season after a four-year layoff, said: "I can play at least 80 games this year—and that's a conservative estimate. I think I could go 100. But Billy Southworth's a great manager and whatever he says goes."

"I'll tell you one thing, I think I'll do as good as some of the 4Fers they got up there."

5 Maroon Cagers In Final Tonight

Five Gettysburg high school cagers will be donning uniforms for the last time this evening when the Maroons meet Delone Catholic high on the local court.

George Fair, Bobby March, Robert Kitzmiller, Richard Culp and Eugene Eutech are squad members who will be lost via graduation.

Tonight's game stacks up as a fitting climax to the Maroons' season. The Squires gained a 24-23 verdict at McSherrystown several weeks ago and Coach Dry and his lads would like nothing better than to gain revenge in the final game of the season.

The Maroon reserves will also be out for revenge. Delone nipped the Jayvees 16-14 in the game at McSherrystown.

The preliminary game will start at 7 o'clock.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Besides turning out a basketball team that hasn't lost to a college rival this season, Western Michigan college is one institution that makes college baseball pay its own way. . . . Since this dept. has become involved in a discussion of why so few colleges can do that, we put it up to drum beater Homer Dunham.

NOT ALL THE ANSWERS

Dunham, who prefers to talk about the value of a sound all-around athletic program rather than of his achievements as a publicist, maintains that a good schedule and sound coaching will do the trick. . . . Back in 1928, Western Michigan took on Chicago and Notre Dame, its first major rivals; five years later Wisconsin spoiled a perfect record against all major rivals and for the past ten years Western Michigan has made a 634 average against Big Ten colleges. . . . The boys like to play that kind of opposition, the college provides plenty of good coaches and as a result the varsity had a turnout of about 60 candidates each pre-war season and about 100 kids tried for the freshman team.

The Kalamazoo fans took to it because the college provided better baseball than the City Industrial league and scheduled its mid-week games when the factory workers were just coming off duty.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

"Any college can do the same thing if the athletic heads are willing to work," Dunham argues, "if the teams are consistently poor, it means that the coach is lazy."

MORE OF THE SAME

Athletic Director Frank Thomas of Alabama, another good baseball college, has much the same idea, says Thomas: "The trouble with college baseball in the past has been that colleges didn't want to spend money on baseball. After the war I am planning to send the baseball team on a tour of the middle west and east, playing representative schools."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Lieut. Johnny Siegal of Columbia and the Bears, Sid Luckman's pet pass receiver, likely will be one of Swede Hagberg's assistant coaches at Navy next fall. . . . Report here is that the staid West Side Tennis club is considering leasing the Forest Hills stadium for boxing next summer. . . . The winner of the current Southeastern Servicemen's Basketball Tournament in Georgia is supposed to represent that section in the National A.A.U. tourney at Denver. Wonder how they'll get away? . . . Manhattan college, with no teams and no coach, will be represented in the I.C. 4-A track meet. The "squad" will be Al Daily, who has been training under ex-coach Pete Watters.

SERVICE DEPT.

The Cherry Point, North Carolina, Marine Air station entered a strong team in the recent Carolina's A.A.U. Golden Gloves Boxing tournament but came out with only one title—the hard luck championship. Pvt. Frankie Rich won that when he started from his dressing room to the ring, slipped on the stairway and knocked himself out. . . . Cadet Artie Dorell, who was a better-than-fair fighter hereabouts before the Army took most of the able-bodied nose mashers, is getting his fight training in class 44-F—what a difference one number can make.

$95,000 CURE FOR BAD CASE LIVER TROUBLE

By RALPH E. WALLIS

Harrisburg, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Fish Commission boasts a $95,000 cure for a bad case of liver trouble—brought on by an attack of meat rationing.

It takes about 25 to 30 per cent liver in the diet to raise healthy fish and last year when the government decided to ask ration points for meat, Fish Commissioner Chas. A. French was faced with the prospect of getting an annual stock of 500,000 pounds of liver.

"We finally justified our need for liver and got the stamps," he said. "However, when we went to get the liver we found it wasn't available in the quantities we wanted."

Find Substitute

About this time, French added, the Commission had been experimenting with possible substitutes for liver and came across one which seemed to work satisfactorily—"beef melts," described as part of cattle spleens.

"The fish thrived on the melts, there was an available supply and we didn't need any ration points," he declared, adding a large stock of the substitute was bought at five cents a pound as compared to the 24 cents a pound paid for liver.

He said the annual supply of liver cost the commission about $120,000 and now the melts—bought in the same amount—cost only $25,000 a saving of around $95,000 a year.

So Pennsylvania fish are being raised on a combination beef melts, a small amount of liver and ground frozen fish.

Two Taverns Splits With Littlestown

Rickey Branches Out Into Fashions

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers has added a style show to his weekly press conferences.

When the scribes assembled to hear the latest word on the player situation, Rickey presented eye-dazzling versions of what the well dressed ball player will wear at night games. The motif is white for the home games and blue trimmed with white on the road.

Rickey explained, "night games are here to stay. We might as well dress for them."

PIRATES ADD TWO

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Pirates announced today receipt of the signed contracts of Hank Camelli, a catcher purchased last August from Albany of the Eastern league, and of 17-year-old Harry Amato, of Springfield, O., who the Bucs grabbed off the diamond at the National Junior American Legion tournament last fall.

Navy Coach

Comdr. Oscar Emil "Swede" Hagberg, of Follansbee, W. Va., who has been appointed head football coach of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. A submarine skipper recently returned from Pacific duty, Hagberg was a Navy griddler 15 years ago.

KLEIN TUNING UP FOR TOUGH SEASON AHEAD

By ED CREAGH

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP)—

Charles Herbert Klein shed his clothes, his dignity and several pounds today in a determined—not to say violent—attempt to prove that he's still rugged enough, at 39, to knock the hide off anything a National league pitcher can throw.

The hard-hitting Hoosier is so serious about his comeback as a player that he made the acquaintance of a rowing machine, lifted a flock of weights, pedaled an imaginary half-mile on an elevated bicycle and even submitted to incarceration in a steam cabinet.

And although this display of pre-season training might cost the Phillies front office money, on the theory that a batter is worth more than a coach, general manager Herb Pennock—who once staged a similar demonstration to wangle a raise from the New York Yankees—looked on with beaming approval.

"If he's in as good shape as he looks, he's really going to see a lot of action," Pennock said of the veteran outfielder, who led the league in batting 11 years ago and twice was top man in runs batted in, besides being voted the circuit's most valuable player in 1932.

"This is something new to me," Klein admitted, glancing around the steam-filled YMCA gym. "I never had to monkey with floor work. Just playing kept me in shape."

Looks For Steaks

But he's been doing more coaching than playing since returning to the Phillies from the Pittsburgh Pirates three seasons ago. Last year, for instance, in 20 trips to the plate he hit safely twice—a far cry from 1929 when he became the fourth major league to hit four home runs in one game.

"But say," Chuck Klein exclaimed, "the way I feel now—well, I'm not as young as I used to be, but I hope the brown points hold out. I'm going to be needing a lot of steaks when we start training at Wilmington."

La Motta Favored Over Ossie Harris

Detroit, Feb. 25 (AP)—Jolting Jake La Motta of New York is a 1 to 2 choice to gain his third successive victory over Ossie (Bulldog) Harris of Pittsburgh in a ten-round fight tonight at Olympia stadium.

But La Motta and his handlers view tonight's affair with considerable uneasiness. That was made clear when the La Motta camp started a pre-flight wrangle over whether Harris would grant a return match within 60 days provided he upsets jolting Jake tonight. It was finally agreed that he would.

Even without the attraction of a further match, this third bout between two of the nation's foremost civilian middleweights is expected to do $25,000 at the gate. Three weeks ago here La Motta gained an unpopular split decision over Harris. He also won a close one at Pittsburgh a year ago.

Mauriello Meets Kulpmont Battler

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Heavyweights chase the lightweights out of Madison Square Garden to night for the first time this year when Tami Mauriello, Bronx contender, collides in a 10-rounder with Joe Baksi, rugged graduate of Kulpmont, Pa.'s hard coal fields.

Mauriello, a more-experienced battler than Baksi, is a 5 to 8 public choice but Mike Jacobs' expects 12,000 of the curious to pay $50,000 to see if the coal miner can make good on his first big time shot.

ARMY PRIVATE IN TOP RANKS OF GOLF MEET

New Orleans, Feb. 25 (AP)—The dopesters leaned to Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Byron Nelson and Pvt. Melvin "Chick" Harbert today as 43 professionals and 38 amateurs began play in the first round of the $5,000 New Orleans open golf tournament.

Harbert crowded into the tight little circle of favorites yesterday in the pro-amateur tourney, a tuneup for the big test. He shot a four-under-par 68 to lead the professionals, pounding out six birdies.

Fine Records

Harbert, 23 pounds lighter since joining the army, is on leave from the air forces training command at Lincoln, Neb. He recently finished fourth in the San Antonio open with a 278, despite the fact "it was the first round of golf I'd played in five months."

McSpaden has won three out of five big winter tournaments and Nelson has been dogging his heels most of the way, winning the San Francisco open.

Said Nelson today:

"In the past five major contests Jug has averaged 68.9 strokes per round, and I've averaged 69. He's a hard lad to catch and his performance over the winter circuit is one of the best ever."

McSpaden carded a 70 yesterday to tie with Jimmy Hines for second best individual score. Nelson was one over par with a 73 but said his game was "just about what I expected."

WPAL Class B Cage Play Opens Tonight

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—Inter-sectional play in WPAL basketball opens in Class B tonight with four games, while Class A takes care of a bit of unfinished business in two sections to determine tournament entrants.

Ford City meets New Kensington in a section 1 playoff and Aliquippa and Beaver Falls will settle the section 3 dispute in games at Pitt stadium tonight that will cut the Class A title contenders down to nine.

The Class B picture was clarified somewhat last night when West Newton beat Youngwood, 35 to 23, at Hermine in a section 24 playoff. Etna faces Sharpsburg at the stadium tomorrow night in the section 18 playoff.

Athletics Lose Two More Players

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP)—The war wiped two more names off Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics roster today, but is he downhearted? No!

Told that Outfielder Joe Moore is joining the Navy and infielder Rip Radcliff plans to stay on his Tulsa, Oklahoma, war plant job, Connie commented:

"I'm quite sure we won't lose any more players now, though no one can tell. We've a number of 4-F men and men discharged from the service."

UMPS IN NAVY

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 25 (AP)—Harry Rudolph, umpire in the Eastern Baseball league, is in the Navy now. Rudolph, physical director of the Wilkes-Barre Young Men's Hebrew Association, passed his pre-induction examination and was assigned yesterday. He umpired in the Canadian-American league in 1942.

There were only 913 combat planes in the entire U. S. Army Air Forces at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Now You Tell One

PROBABLY CLERKS NEVER HEARD OF IT

New York (AP)—The tall, handsome man was fingered the sheet music and the pretty young clerk in the music store asked him if there was something he wanted.

"Kissing is no sin," replied the t. h. man.

"I beg pardon!" said the clerk.

"Kissing is no sin," reiterated t. h. m.

The clerk summoned a colleague who got the same response. The colleague called the manager.

"What do you mean by annoying these young ladies?" demanded the manager.

"I am not annoying anybody," said the t. h. m. "I am Enzo Pinza of the Metropolitan Opera, and all I want is a copy of a little song of Eysler's called 'Kissing Is No Sin.'"

MUSIC IN MESS

TUNES UP APPETITES

Shaw Field, S. C. (AP)—A sharp increase in food consumption and a reduction in eating time was recorded when music was added to the menu at the 1000-man mess of this Army basic flying school. "A good appetite is the sign of a healthy soldier," Mess Lt. Marvin K. Wilcoxon explained, "and you ought to see those guys go to town on the soup when we play Pistol Packin' Mama!"

By RALPH E. WALLIS

Harrisburg, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Fish Commission boasts a $95,000 cure for a bad case of liver trouble — brought on by an attack of meat rationing.

It takes about 25 to 30 per cent liver in the diet to raise healthy fish and last year when the government decided to ask ration points for meat, Fish Commissioner Chas. A. French was faced with the prospect of getting an annual stock of 500,000 pounds of liver.

"We finally justified our need for liver and got the stamps," he said. "However, when we went to get the liver we found it wasn't available in the quantities we wanted."

Final Substitute

About this time, French added, the Commission had been experimenting with possible substitutes for liver and came across one which seemed to work satisfactorily—"beef melts," described as part of cattle spleens.

"The fish thrived on the melts, there was an available supply and we didn't need any ration points," he declared, adding a large stock of the substitute was bought at five cents a pound as compared to the 24 cents a pound paid for liver.

He said the annual supply of liver cost the commission about $120,000 and now the melts—bought in the same amount—cost only $25,000 a saving of around $95,000 a year.

So Pennsylvania fish are being raised on a combination beef melts, a small amount of liver and ground frozen fish.

Two Taverns Splits With Littlestown

Two Taverns and Littlestown divided a pair of basketball games played Thursday evening at Two Taverns.

The home team won the first game 24-21 after trailing 13-10 at half time.

A last period rally in which they outscored their opponents 9-0 gave the Littlestown cagers a 23-20 verdict in the second game.

Rickey Branches Out Into Fashions

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers has added a style show to his weekly press conferences.

When the scribes assembled to hear the latest word on the player situation, Rickey presented eye-dazzling versions of what the well dressed ball player will wear at night games. The motif is white for the home games and blue trimmed with white on the road.

Rickey explained, "night games are here to stay. We might as well dress for them."

PIRATES ADD TWO

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Pirates announced today receipt of the signed contracts of Hank Camelli, a catcher purchased last August from Albany of the Eastern league, and of 17-year-old Harry Amato, of Springfield, O., who the Bucs grabbed off the diamond at the National Junior American Legion tournament last fall.

Navy Coach

Comdr. Oscar Emil "Suede" Harberg, of Follansbee, W. Va., who has been appointed head football coach of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. A submarine skipper recently returned from Pacific duty. Harberg was a Navy griddler 15 years ago.

KLEIN TUNING UP FOR TOUGH SEASON AHEAD

By ED CREAGH

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP)—Charles Herbert Klein shed his clothes, his dignity and several pounds today in a determined — not to say violent—attempt to prove that he's still rugged enough, at 39, to knock the hide off anything a National league pitcher can throw.

The hard-hitting Hoosier is so serious about his comeback as a player that he made the acquaintance of a rowing machine, lifted a flock of weights, pedaled an imaginary half-mile on an elevated bicycle and even submitted to incarceration in a steam cabinet.

And although this display of pre-season training might cost the Phillies front office money, on the theory that a batter is worth more than a coach, general manager Herb Pennock—who once staged a similar demonstration to wrangle a raise from the New York Yankees—looked on with beaming approval.

"If he's in as good shape as he looks, he's really going to see a lot of action," Pennock said of the veteran outfielder, who led the league in batting 11 years ago and twice was top man in runs batted in, besides being voted the circuit's most valuable player in 1932.

"This is something new to me," Klein admitted, clanking around the steam-filled YMCA gym. "I never had to monkey with floor work. Just playing kept me in shape."

Looks For Steaks

But he's been doing more coaching than playing since returning to the Phillies from the Pittsburgh Pirates three seasons ago. Last year, for instance, in 20 trips to the plate he hit safely twice—a far cry from 1929 when he became the fourth major leaguer to hit four home runs in one game.

"But say," Chuck Klein exclaimed, "the way I feel now—well, I'm not as young as I used to be, but I hope the brown points hold out. I'm going to be needing a lot of steaks when we start training at Wilmington."

La Motta Favored Over Ossie Harris

Detroit, Feb. 25 (AP)—Jolting Jake La Motta of New York is a 1 to 2 choice to gain his third successive victory over Ossie (Bulldog) Harris of Pittsburgh in a ten-round fight tonight at Olympia stadium.

But La Motta and his handlers view tonight's affair with considerable uneasiness. That was made clear when the La Motta camp started a pre-flight wrangle over whether Harris would grant a return match within 60 days provided he upsets jolting Jake tonight. It was finally agreed that he would.

Even without the attraction of a further match, this third bout between two of the nation's foremost civilian middleweights is expected to do $25,000 at the gate. Three weeks ago here La Motta gained an unpopular split decision over Harris. He also won a close one at Pittsburgh a year ago.

Mauriello Meets Kulpmont Battler

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Heavyweights chase the lightweights out of Madison Square Garden to night for the first time this year when Tami Mauriello, Bronx contender, collides in a 10-rounder with Joe Baksi, rugged graduate of Kulpmont, Pa.'s hard coal fields.

Mauriello, a more-experienced battler than Baksi, is a 5 to 8 public choice but Mike Jacobs expects 12,000 of the curious to pay $50,000 to see if the coal miner can make good on his first big time shot.

ARMY PRIVATE IN TOP RANKS OF GOLF MEET

New Orleans, Feb. 25 (AP)—The dopesters leaned to Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Byron Nelson and Pvt. Melvin "Chick" Harbert today as 43 professionals and 38 amateurs began play in the first round of the $5,000 New Orleans open golf tournament.

Harbert crowded into the tight little circle of favorites yesterday in the pro-amateur tourney, a tuneup for the big test. He shot a four-under-par 68 to lead the professionals, pounding out six birdies.

Fine Records

Harbert, 23 pounds lighter since joining the army, is on leave from the air forces training command at Lincoln, Neb. He recently finished fourth in the San Antonio open with a 278, despite the fact "it was the first round of golf I'd played in five months."

McSpaden has won three out of five big winter tournaments and Nelson has been dogging his heels most of the way, winning the San Francisco open.

Said Nelson today: "In the past five major contests Jug has averaged 68.9 strokes per round, and I've averaged 69. He's a hard lad to catch and his performance over the winter circuit is one of the best ever."

McSpaden carded a 70 yesterday to tie with Jimmy Hines for second best individual score. Nelson was one over par with a 73 but said his game was "just about what I expected."

WPAL Class B Cage Play Opens Tonight

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—Inter-sectional play in WPAL basketball opens in Class B tonight with four games, while Class A takes care of a bit of unfinished business in two sections to determine tournament entrants.

Ford City meets New Kensington in a section 1 playoff and Allegheny and Beaver Falls will settle the section 3 dispute in games at Pitt stadium tonight that will cut the Class A title contenders down to nine.

The Class B picture was clarified somewhat last night when West Newton beat Youngwood, 35 to 23, at Hermine in a section 24 playoff.

Etna faces Sharsburg at the stadium tomorrow night in the section 18 playoff.

Athletics Lose Two More Players

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP)—The war wiped two more names off Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics roster today, but is he downhearted?

Told that Outfielder Joe Moore is joining the Navy and infielder Rip Radcliff plans to stay on his Tulsa, Oklahoma, war plant job, Connie commented:

"I'm quite sure we won't lose any more players now, though no one can tell. We've a number of 4-F men and men discharged from the service."

UMPS IN NAVY

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 25 (AP)—Harry Rudolph, umpire in the Eastern Baseball league, is in the Navy now. Rudolph, physical director of the Wilkes-Barre Young Men's Hebrew Association, passed his pre-induction examination and was assigned yesterday. He umpired in the Canadian-American league in 1942.

There were only 913 combat planes in the entire U. S. Army Air Forces at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Now You Tell One

PROBABLY CLERKS NEVER HEARD OF IT

New York (AP)—The tall, handsome man was fingering the sheet music and the pretty young clerk in the music store asked him if there was something he wanted.

"Kissing is no sin," replied the t. h. man.

"I beg pardon!" said the clerk.

"Kissing is no sin," reiterated t. h. m.

The clerk summoned a colleague who got the same response. The colleague called the manager.

"What do you mean by annoying these young ladies?" demanded the manager.

"I am not annoying anybody," said the t. h. m. "I am Enzo Pinza of the Metropolitan Opera, and all I want is a copy of a little song of Eysler's called 'Kissing Is No Sin.'"

Legionnaire of County to Hear
McNutt: Delegations from the American Legion posts here and at Arendtsville are expected to attend a banquet in York, Monday evening, March 11, in honor of Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion. Between 400 and 500 former service men will attend the banquet, which will be held at the York Y. M. C. A.

County Girl Is Married Saturday: Miss Blanche Musselman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian P. Musselman, Fairfield, and J. Lindemuth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Heeber, of Lancaster, were married Saturday by the Rev. R. A. Strassbaugh, at Keedysville, Maryland. The newlyweds left on a trip to Florida.

Mrs. Buehler Expires: Mrs. Caroline Edwards Buehler, 65, widow of Guyon H. Buehler, former publisher of the Star and Sentinel, died at the Buehler home, Carlisle street, Saturday morning at 2 o'clock, after having been ill since Tuesday afternoon.

School Teacher Fractures Ankle: Miss Ruth McElhenny, Lincoln avenue, teacher of English at the Gettysburg high school, fell and broke a bone in the left leg, at the ankle, in front of the People's Cash Store, at 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

She is expected to be off duty four or five weeks as a result of the accident.

Welkerts Welcome Baby in Honolulu: A son was born on Saturday to Lieut. and Mrs. John Welkert, of Honolulu, Hawaii, according to a radiogram received by the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Welkert, McKnightstown. Lieutenant Welkert is stationed at Wheeler field with the United States flying service.

Pastor and Wife Welcome Daughter: A daughter was born to the Rev. and Mrs. J. H. A. Borles, of Ebers, York county, at the Warner hospital, Wednesday morning.

Gettysburg Is Selected as Air Terminal: Gettysburg will be one of the largest, if not the largest small town aviation terminals in the east, if plans of the United Airways and Aircraft of America, Inc., of Pittsburgh, materialize.

According to Howard C. Mitfing, resident manager of the local company, the plans of the company are to operate passenger service from Pittsburgh to Gettysburg, Baltimore to Gettysburg, Washington to Gettysburg and New York to Gettysburg.

New Oxford Girl Married Saturday: Earl Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Smith, of Hunterstown, and Miss Lida Miller, daughter of J. H. Miller, New Oxford, were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride, in the presence of friends and relatives. The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. George E. Sheffer.

The bride is a graduate nurse of the York hospital training school for nurses, class of 1925.

Many Bankers Attend Banquet: Several banks in Gettysburg and Adams county were represented at the annual meeting and banquet of Group 5, Pennsylvania Bankers' Association, at the Penn Harris hotel, Harrisburg, Friday.

Bankers who attended are I. L. Taylor, Wilmert B. Neely, George Raffensperger, John W. Hewitt, Howard Knouse, Charles Ogden, Miss Elizabeth Evans, Miss Elizabeth Mumper and Miss Ellen Tipton, Gettysburg National bank; J. D. Miller and B. B. Taylor, Biglerville National bank; S. A. DESTROYERS SINK 3 MORE JAP VESSELS

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Feb. 25 (AP)—American destroyers sank two more Japanese merchant vessels and a destroyer off New Ireland, underscoring Gen. Douglas MacArthur's announcement today that the Allies dominate the sea north of the Bismarck archipelago.

Capt. Arleigh T. (30-Knot) Burke of Chevy Chase, Md., commanded the destroyers from Adm. William F. Halsey's force which sank the three ships, shelled the Kavieng, New Ireland, enemy base and bombed Japanese installations on Duke of York Island, between New Ireland and New Britain, all in 18 hours Tuesday.

More air raids on Rabaul, New Britain, Monday and Tuesday, with 164 tons of bombs dropped on air-dromes and shipping in Keravai bay, continued the neutralization of the enemy's air bases which MacArthur said had helped in "tightening of the blockade" of Japan's Bismarck strongpoints.

By ELMONT WAITE
U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 25 (AP)—First eyewitness accounts of the bold two-day attack Feb. 16-17 on Japan's Naval base of Truk disclosed that United States battleships moved in close enough to blast an enemy cruiser to the ocean bottom.

Naval officers who participated in the thunderbolt stroke, which obviously surprised and stunned the Japanese, also made these pertinent disclosures:

Japanese air opposition was considerably weaker than had been expected.

Jap Fleet Flees

Although Truk, its fortifications veiled for years from visitors, was reputed to be an extensive self-sustaining Naval base, only one floating drydock was observed.

Japanese warships, instead of moving out to challenge the powerful American task force, tried to flee north.

"The general impression I had was that those Japs were ferry pilots taking planes through and got caught with their pants down," said Lt. Comdr. Harry W. Harrison, 33, of Miami Beach, Fla., fighter squadron commander who was aboard one of the aircraft carriers in the Truk operation.

"All they did was fly around and let us shoot them. They probably never expected to have a fight at Truk."

TWO BANDITS TAKE GUNS OF STATE POLICE

Huntingdon, Pa., Feb. 25 (AP)—Two bandits robbed two state policemen of their guns after trapping them in a rooming house here last night, then fled westward on route 22 in a sedan bearing California license plates.

Major Charles C. Keller, head of the Harrisburg squadron, who came here today to direct an intensive man-hunt for the bandits, said the policemen were Privates Ray Blyler and Roy Bailey, of the Huntingdon barracks.

Major Keller told this story: Blyler and Bailey were on duty stopping automobiles for a routine check of operator's licenses at a point three miles west of Huntingdon, when the California car drove up with two men in it and a small chow dog in the rear.

The policemen asked to see a driver's license and were told it had been left behind in a room in Huntingdon. The two men were ordered to drive back for it and the officers followed in their car.

At the rooming house, Keller said, the policemen followed the men inside and when they stepped into the room, the bandits "pulled a gun on them," took their police weapons and left them in the room.

Keller, who said no trace has been found of the car, said he is now spending the week in Philadelphia, has returned to her home on High street.

Dr. Frank Kramer has returned from Springfield, Ohio, where he had been spending several days at Wittenburg College.

One hundred and twenty persons attended a Washington's birthday card party at the Eagle Hotel, Friday evening, held by the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Francis and daughter, Gilliland apartments, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Minnick, South Washington street, returned from a month's stay at Saint Cloud, Florida, Thursday evening.

Kermit Cluck, of Seven Stars, left Wednesday for Dickson, Ill., where he is enrolled as a student at the flying school.

Mrs. John D. Lippy, Mrs. A. B. Plank, Mrs. John B. Zinn, Mrs. E. L. Welkert, Mrs. John Mumper, Mrs. Albert Partner, Mrs. Walter H. Danforth and Mrs. Henry Alderson spent Wednesday in Harrisburg.

Marine Digs Foxhole Before Shattered Defenses

found of the pair since the crime although all available policemen are patrolling roads throughout central Pennsylvania, described the men as "transients" adding they had been in Huntingdon only since last Monday.

He said one was about 38, had a black mustache, and wore a brown suit. The other was about 45, was of a stocky build and also had on a brown suit and dark overcoat. Both men wore glasses.

Women pilots were first employed by the ferrying division of the Air Transport Command, Army Air Forces, in September, 1942.

Tokyo Admits Annihilation Of Jap Garrison

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Tokyo radio acknowledged today that the Japanese garrisons of Kwajalein and Roi Islands in the Marshall group, totaling about 4,500 men, had been annihilated by American forces which seized those strongholds early this month.

Broadcasts recorded by the U. S. Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service quoted Imperial headquarters as saying that the last of the Japanese defenders of the islands had died Feb. 6 in a final counterattack against the invading American troops.

The communiqué said that 2,000 civilians serving with the Japanese forces had "fought in vigorous cooperation with the garrison units and shared the same fate."

The Japanese estimate of their losses was at variance with official American figures, which previously had put the enemy dead on Kwajalein alone at 8,122 as compared with 286 Americans killed.

An Evening Thought

The destiny of nations depends upon the manner in which they feed themselves.—Brillat-Savarin.

Just Folks

THE THINKER
When Rodin carved "The Thinker" he conceived him, elbow on the knee and chin in hand; so nicely wrought, 'tis plain the man is lost in thought, is deaf to sound, to beauty blind, A serious problem on his mind.

A different choice Rodin had made if he at bridge had ever played. He then had carved in manner grand The fellow with a card in hand, Held just above the table top, He knows he must, but will not drop.

He'd show him sitting in his chair, Upon his face a vacant stare, Moving a four-spot to and fro, His playmates screaming: "Let it go!"

A wise kibitzer near to say: "You've nothing else that you can play." And there he'd sit from day to day, Thinking the fleeting time away, Forever passersby would stop To say: "I wish that card he'd drop!"

Strangers would add: "The statue's pat. I have a friend who does just that."

Today's Talk

THE WONDER OF MOVEMENT

THE THOUGHT OF MAN
There is nothing more wonderful than the thought of man. Just picture the original world, peopled with all manner of creatures, savages, and an endless variety of natural beauty, and treasures hidden all over the earth—treasures beyond all adequate estimate in value. Then imagine the thought of man at work. Forests cleared, seeds put into the ground, lumber from the trees, sawed and put into homes and made into an endless number of useful articles. Iron, copper, gold, precious stones, and other natural gifts, taken from the ground and put to man's pleasure and profit. Farms cleared, cities founded, great buildings erected. Inventions endless in number. Nations grown powerful, through this one thing of the thought of man.

Growth in the arts, sciences, business, commerce, has been sufficient to astound the world. And yet the thought of man has failed—utterly—in the one thing most essential to happiness in this world—to solve the problem of universal peace. So that today civilization trembles and no man can predict the future.

On September 8, 1919, Woodrow Wilson declared in a speech at Omaha, Nebraska: "I can predict with absolute certainty that within another generation there will be another World War, if the nations of the world do not concert the method by which to prevent it." And this was the opinion of the greatest minds of the earth—even at that time.

Perhaps to the unseen, and the neglected, to the slumbering Spiritual Forces of mankind, the world yet may know and experience its rightful destiny—that one centered within the idea of universal peace and individual happiness. It is evident that the only New Order worth the present sacrifice of blood and treasure is that one occasioned by the organized thought of all men, through the medium of the human heart. Men's hearts must change into a universal respect for the rights of all, whether rich or poor, black or white.

And how essential, as we now view the future, as through a glass, darkly, should it be, that education, religion, tolerance, justice, freedom, security, take upon themselves the garment of Faith that the noblest thoughts of man may yet flower in a perpetual peace!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "A Little Nonsense Now and Then."

DESTROYERS
JAP VESSELS

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, Feb. 25 (AP)—American destroyers sank two more Japanese merchant vessels and a destroyer off New Ireland, underscoring Gen. Douglas MacArthur's announcement today that the Allies dominate the sea north of the Bismarck archipelago.

Capt. Arleigh T. (30-Knot) Burke of Chevy Chase, Md., commanded the destroyers from Adm. William F. Halsey's force which sank the three ships, shelled the Kavieng, New Ireland, enemy base and bombed Japanese installations on Duke of York island, between New Ireland and New Britain, all in 18 hours Tuesday.

More air raids on Rabaul, New Britain, Monday and Tuesday, with 164 tons of bombs dropped on air-dromes and shipping in Keravina bay, continued the neutralization of the enemy's air bases which MacArthur said had helped in "tightening of the blockade" of Japan's Bismarck strongpoints.

By ELMONT WAITE
U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 25 (AP)—First eyewitness accounts of the bold two-day attack Feb. 16-17 on Japan's Naval base of Truk disclosed that United States battleships moved in close enough to blast an enemy cruiser to the ocean bottom.

Naval officers who participated in the thunderbolt stroke, which obviously surprised and stunned the Japanese, also made these pertinent disclosures:

Japanese air opposition was considerably weaker than had been expected.

Jap Fleet Flees

Although Truk, its fortifications veiled for years from visitors, was reputed to be an extensive self-sustaining Naval base, only one floating drydock was observed.

Japanese warships, instead of moving out to challenge the powerful American task force, tried to flee north.

"The general impression I had was that those Japs were ferry pilots taking planes through and got caught with their pants down," said Lt. Comdr. Harry W. Harrison, 33, of Miami Beach, Fla., fighter squadron commander who was aboard one of the aircraft carriers in the Truk operation.

"All they did was fly around and let us shoot them. They probably never expected to have a fight at Truk."

TWO BANDITS
TAKE GUNS OF STATE POLICE

Huntingdon, Pa., Feb. 25 (AP)—Two bandits robbed two state policemen of their guns after trapping them in a rooming house here last night, then fled westward on route 22 in a sedan bearing California license plates.

Major Charles C. Keller, head of the Harrisburg squadron, who came here today to direct an intensive man-hunt for the bandits, said the policemen were Privates Ray Blyler and Roy Bailey, of the Huntingdon barracks.

Major Keller told this story: Blyler and Bailey were on duty stopping automobiles for a routine check of operator's licenses at a point three miles west of Huntingdon, when the California car drove up with two men in it and a small chow dog in the rear.

The policemen asked to see a driver's license and were told it had been left behind in a room in Huntingdon. The two men were ordered to drive back for it and the officers followed in their car.

At the rooming house, Keller said, the policemen followed the men inside and when they stepped into the room, the bandits "pulled a gun on them," took their police weapons and left them in the room.

Keller, who said no trace has been who has been spending the week in Philadelphia, has returned to her home on High street.

Dr. Frank Kramer has returned from Springfield, Ohio, where he had been spending several days at Wittenburg College.

One hundred and twenty persons attended a Washington's birthday card party at the Eagle Hotel, Friday evening, held by the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Francis and daughter, Gilliland apartments, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Minnick, South Washington street, returned from a month's stay at Saint Cloud, Florida, Thursday evening.

Kermitt Clark, of Seven Stars, left Wednesday for Dickson, Ill., where he is enrolled as a student at the flying school.

Mrs. John D. Lipsey, Mrs. A. B. Plank, Mrs. John B. Zinn, Mrs. E. L. Welkert, Mrs. John Mumper, Mrs. Albert Partner, Mrs. Walter H. Danforth and Mrs. Henry Alderson spent Wednesday in Harrisburg.

Marine Digs Foxhole Before Shattered Defenses

A United States Marine digs a foxhole on Namur Island as U. S. forces seized the Jap base in the Kwajalein atoll during the successful invasion of the Marshall Islands. Burned-out mechanized equipment and a shattered blockhouse are visible in the background. Other Marines move through the wreckage. This picture was made by Associated Press Photographer Frank Filan. found of the pair since the crime although all available policemen are patrolling roads through central Pennsylvania, described the men as "transients" adding they had been in Huntingdon only since last Monday.

He said one was about 38, had a black mustache, and wore a brown suit. The other was about 45, was of a stocky build and also had on a brown suit and dark overcoat. Both men wore glasses.

Women pilots were first employed by the ferrying division of the Air Transport Command, Army Air Forces, in September, 1942.

MAY MAIL ALL LEGAL VOTERS STATE BALLOT

Harrisburg, Feb. 25 (AP)—A special session of the Pennsylvania legislature, expected to be called by Governor Martin to modify the state's soldier vote law, may be asked to provide for automatic mailing of ballots to all registered voters in the armed forces.

Asserting no agreement has been reached on proposed amendments to the commonwealth's absentee voting laws, a high administration official declared today those under study include a proposal to do "away with the requirement that registered voters in military service have to appear for ballots."

Martin told reporters yesterday "it looks as if it will be necessary to have a special session to amend our soldier ballot law." He added no decision will be made "until after Congress completes its work" on the same question.

Capital Statemate?

At Washington, the Council of State Governments announced Governors of the nation have been advised "it is possible that a state mate may ensue" in Congress and states should get set to handle the absentee balloting if necessary.

Pennsylvania law at present requires service men to apply for ballots 50 to 30 days before an election. It was said elimination of this provision will permit election boards to mail ballots to all those in service whose names are on the permanent registration lists.

The administration official declared consideration is also being given to "setting up some plan for easy registration of those who reach voting age while in the armed forces" and added something may be done to give them a longer time after an election to return their ballots.

The present statute requires military ballots to be postmarked on or before an election date and to be in hands of election boards within 10 days after an election.

Under a 1943 amendment to the law, county election boards are required to retain names of those in service on permanent registration lists for the duration of the war where proper notification of induction into the armed forces has been given.

Fairfield

Fairfield—Mrs. Paul Kobil spent the week-end with relatives in Baltimore.

Mrs. Andrew Slonaker is spending a few days in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Joseph Bowling spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stoner, Washington.

Robert B. Martin and S. L. Allison attended the 48th annual Bankers' meeting of the Pennsylvania Bankers association held at the Penn Harris hotel, Harrisburg, Tuesday.

Mrs. Edward Zaring has returned to her home after being a patient at the Willis Eye hospital, Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McGlaughlin and Mrs. Lee McGlaughlin spent Tuesday in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Ira M. Henderson entertained the following at her home on Tuesday evening in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Fannie Brenizer: Mrs. Brenizer, Mrs. Robert Neely, Mrs. Margaret Trout, Mrs. Charles Knox, Miss Nancy Sefton, Mrs. James Neely and Mrs. Howard Harbaugh.

The combined high school bands of Fairfield, East Berlin and New Oxford presented a concert, Thursday evening in the East Berlin high school auditorium. Transportation for the Fairfield band was furnished by B. E. Benner.

Los Angeles, Feb. 25 (AP)—Paul T. Sunday, 36, test pilot, son of the late evangelist, William A. (Billy) Sunday, was one of four men killed when a Navy patrol bomber crashed against a mountain in low clouds and snow flurries 10 miles west of Palmdale yesterday, the Los Angeles Times said today.

How To Figure Your Income Tax

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Feb. 25 (AP)—Fill out your federal income tax blank line by line, and don't get ahead of yourself. If you want to avoid troubles.

Here's a tour through the short form—for persons whose total income in 1943 was not more than $3,000, and all of it came from salary, wages, dividends, interest or annuities.

For our example, we'll take Mr. X. Y. Smith, married, one child. He was paid $50 a week throughout 1943. He didn't have many deductions so he can't find any advantages in using the long form, therefore chooses the short form.

Sets Full Income
He sets down his employer's name and address, Jokers Co., Trala, La., and opposite this his salary, $2,600. Since he didn't have any other income, this figure also is listed as his total income.

Under credit for dependents, he lists "Jennifer, daughter," and enters the credit for one dependent, $385. (That's not the figure on the long form; it's boosted to cover average deductions in connection with the tax tabulations on page 2 of the short form.)

Subtracting this from his total income, he writes the remainder, $2,215, as his income subject to the regular income tax.

Now X. Y. turns the page, puts a check mark in the box lettered "C" opposite No. 4, "married and living with wife or husband on July 1, 1943, and only one had gross income during the year."

Determines Tax
Then he looks at the tax table, runs his finger down column "C" and stops opposite $2,215, because his income subject to regular tax falls within this range. He finds his tax is $155.

That figure goes on page 1 of the blank at the start of the section headed "your tax bill and forgiveness."

Now he has to turn the page again to figure his victory tax. He writes $2,600, his total income; subtracts $624, his victory tax exemption, and finds the taxable difference is $1,976.

Then he must pick out his victory tax rate. Married and with one dependent, he finds it's 2.9 per cent. He multiplies $1,976 by .029. The answer—$57.304. He drops the last decimal place as being less than 5, sets down his victory tax as $57.30.

"Forgiveness"
That has to be recorded on page 1, too. Added to $155, that makes his total taxes, up to this point, $212.30.

To find his "forgiveness," he has to compare this figure with his 1942 tax. The slip the internal revenue collector sent him says it was $97.52, and the amount he paid on it last March and June was $48.76.

He enters the larger tax figure, $212.30.

Next he finds a little box for "forgiveness" he writes in the smaller tax figures—$97.52. His "forgiveness" is three fourths of that, or three times $24.38, which is $73.14. The uncancelled portion is $24.38, which is carried out to the tax column and added to $212.30.

That makes his total tax liability $236.68.

Lists Payments
Now he lists the amounts he already has paid: $171.60, which the company took out of his pay for victory and income taxes; the $48.76 he paid last March and June. Total $220.36.

He subtracts that from $236.68, finds he still owes $16.32.

He's entitled to postpone payment of half the uncancelled portion of his 1942 tax. Half of $24.38 is $12.19, so he subtracts that from what he owes—$16.32—and finds the amount he's going to pay with this return—$4.13.

If he had found that he was entitled to a refund, he'd list the overpayment and check the box marked "refund it to me."

P. S. They call this the "simplified" form.

Poles In Exile Balk New Border

London, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Curzon line as a future frontier between Poland and Russia is not acceptable to the Polish government-in-exile, according to the semi-official Polish newspaper Dziennik Polski.

Commenting on Prime Minister Churchill's House of Commons speech Tuesday, Dziennik Polski cited the resolution of the council of ambassadors on behalf of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan on March 25, 1923 and a similar action by the United States on April 5, 1923, recognizing Poland's eastern pre-war frontier, and added:

"It is on the basis of these historic facts and these Allied documents that the Polish government has taken a determined stand in refusing the so-called Curzon line as the future Soviet frontier. The Polish government will hold fast to this attitude."

HOPE LOOMS FOR FINLAND TO QUIT WAR

Stockholm, Feb. 25 (AP)—Reported Russian terms for an armistice with Finland, especially those regarding the disposition of German troops garrisoned in northern Finland, are understood here to have met with a mixed reception in Finnish circles.

The London correspondent of Dagens Nyheter listed today six Soviet armistice demands from unofficial but well-informed non-British sources who he said were very optimistic about Finland's chances of quitting the war.

According to the dispatch, the Moscow conditions included:

1. The 1940 winter peace border.

2. German troops in northern Finland must be interned for the duration.

Offers Army Help
3. If Finland desires, the Red Army will march into the country to assist in putting the Germans under control, but Finland's decision on this point will be voluntary.

4. If Finland and Russia agree on the Red Army marching in, Russia will guarantee to retire after the military operation against the Germans is completed.

5. Moscow makes no demands for changes in the Finnish government.

6. Demobilization of the Finnish Army and war damages are to be settled by later negotiations.

Against this optimistic approach was the statement of a trustworthy Finn just arrived in Sweden who said that Finland was profoundly disturbed by what is understood to be one of the Russian demands—that the Finnish Army team up with the Russians in a drive to exterminate the seven German divisions now in Finland.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

From the jungles of New Guinea comes a few lines from a home town boy. I've never faced anything like this before in all my life. Other boys are here taking the hardships of nature and the enemy and I'm sure we can too. Imagine being taken off a big transport ship and hauled out in the middle of the jungle and told to clear the land and make our homes there. Well that is the picture we are still doing it. One good thing we landed in a section where bananas, pineapples, and coconuts grow. So when the meals are not good enough to suit our taste we get some native food.

There are a million things to say about this place but I'm going to wait until we reach the States again to tell it. We must take vitamin and atabrine pills each day. The atabrine is to help fight malaria which is plentiful around here. The pills are little yellow bitter things and after taking them for a while your skin starts to turn yellow. So now we are yellow and sun tanned to almost the color of a native. After 30 days returning from this climate our skin turns back to natural color.

We are on a mission which I think is considered one of the most important on the island. We have been working day and night and really accomplishing something. All our letter writing must be done on our off hours by candle light and a candle glowing with a little breeze behind it makes writing very uncomfortable.

Even over here we get to eat some of Musselman's apple butter and believe me I eat my share. It seems the world is not too large for his products. I must hit the hay and get some of that valuable shut eye. I've been receiving the paper and you couldn't value the appreciation which is shown for it around here. Thanks to you.

Sincerely,
Cpl. Ralph Taylor.

Harrisburg Air School Transferred

Harrisburg, Feb. 25 (AP)—Transfer of the Army air force intelligence school from Harrisburg to Orlando, Florida, effective March 31, was announced here by the commandant, Col. William H. Crom.

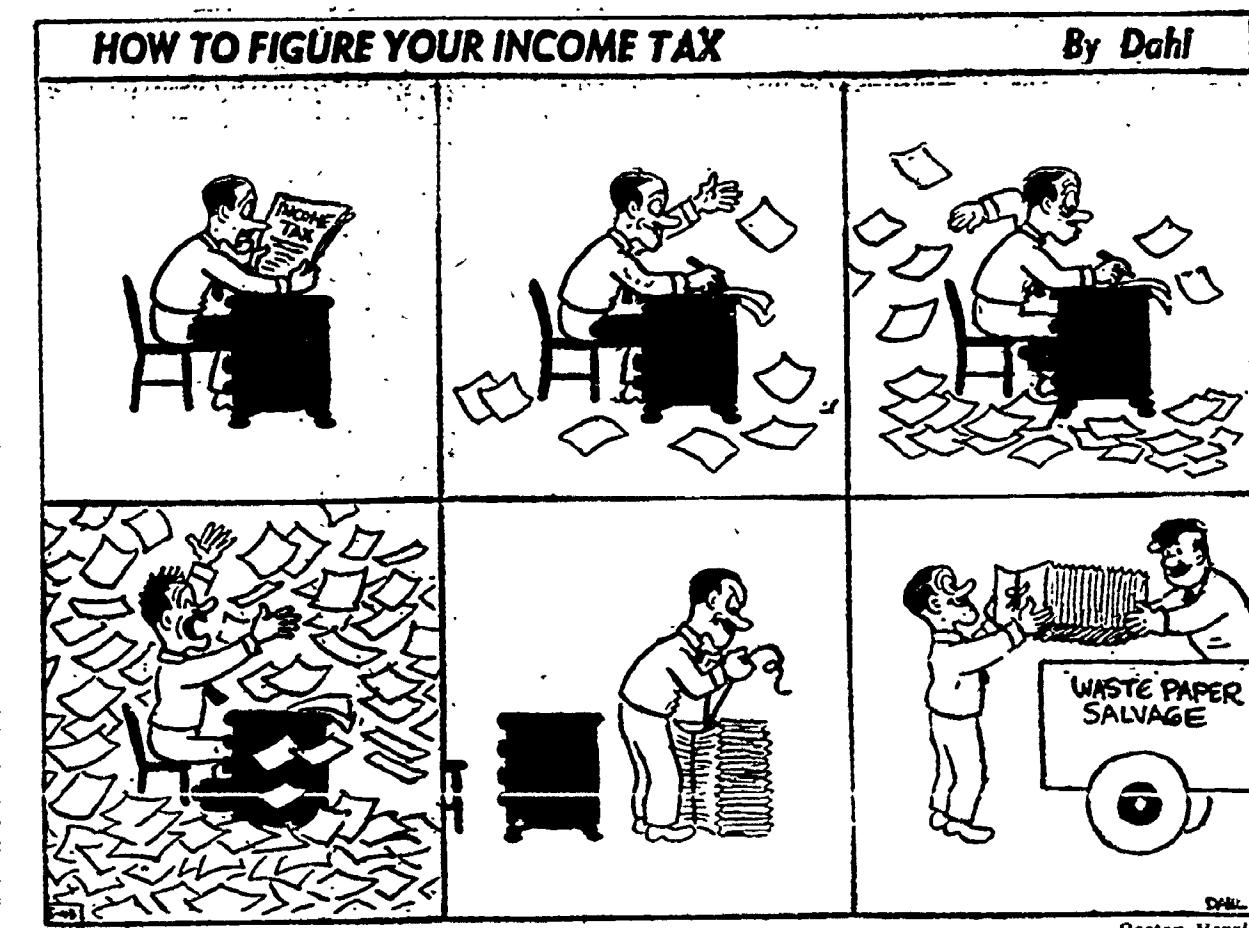

The school was established here on May of 1941 after the War Department purchased the plant of the Harrisburg academy for $180,000. Col. Crom said disposition of the school and temporary buildings erected by the government for administrative work, quarters and classrooms was not known at present.

Held For Stealing Gasoline From Jeeps

Philadelphia, Feb. 25 (AP)—Four men were held in $1,000 bail each today in connection with the theft of gasoline from trucks and jeeps being crated for the armed forces overseas.

U. S. Commissioner Norman J. Griffin called it "the vilest and most contemptible case I ever heard," and added "suppose these vehicles had gone into action quickly; they might have run out of gas in the face of the enemy."

to the United States armed forces and, as such, is providing indispensable service to our troops and their families at home.

"WHEREAS, these wartime activities, including the collection of lifesaving blood for the wounded, recreation work in military hospitals, provision of aid to families of servicemen, shipment of food parcels to prisoners of war, production of surgical dressings, operation of overseas clubs and recreation centers, and recruitment of Army and Navy nurses, all combine to save countless lives, restore hope, and provide comfort for our fighting men;

"WHEREAS, through its vast network of local chapters, this agency of our people simultaneously conducts an extensive program of training and community service, while continuing with traditional efficiency to lessen the distress of those overwhelmed by disaster; and

"WHEREAS, this agency is wholly dependent upon individual support and personal participation and is issuing its 1944 appeal to the entire citizenship for a minimum War Fund of $200,000,000;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America and President of The American National Red Cross, do hereby designate the month beginning March 1, 1944, as 'Red Cross Month' and earnestly beseech my fellow Americans to observe it by opening their hearts to this humanitarian appeal in order that we may keep the Red Cross at the side of our fighting men and their dependents in their hour of greatest need."

chinery one year old or less may not sell for more than 85 per cent of its base price. Machinery two years old or more is limited to 70 per cent of its base price.

Under the heading "How to Find Your Ceiling Price," an OPA bulletin explains "three simple steps" which must be followed in fixing ceiling prices in these words: 1) Find the price of a new article that is the same as, or similar to, the article you are pricing; 2) find out whether the article you are pricing is in Class I or Class II (these classes are described on the next page); and 3) if your article belongs in Class I your ceiling price is 75 per cent of the price of the new article. If in Class II, the ceiling price is 33 1/3 per cent of the price of the new article.

To come in Class I an article must contain all the parts needed to make it fully useful and must be clean, in good repair and working condition. All other articles are in Class II.

FLIGHT from LOVE

by JOHN C. FLEMING and LOIS EBY

Marek's chauffeur was looking for him. The ballroom was deserted. So he tried the bar. He was relieved to find Marek there and not closeted in some meeting. He approached the table just as the tall young aviator with him stood up.

"Guess I'd better hit the hay. We're starting at dawn," he was saying.

Marek sat twisting his glass around and round in his slim fingers. His black eyes squinted over at the chauffeur thoughtfully. Then he said sharply.

"Sit down. Dave. I want to talk to you."

The chauffeur saw the surprise in the flyer's eyes. He hesitated, but he sat down. Marek looked up and said, "Bring the car around to the front door, Adams. We'll be out."

The chauffeur was amused as he left. He hadn't missed the "we." The boss was taking the guy somewhere he didn't know he was going yet. That Marek Dorr was as smart with men as he was with women.

But Marek wasn't sounding smart. He was having some difficulty, in fact, in beginning. Dave got a little impatient. The man didn't look drunk—but maybe he was and just wanted company. Dave was too tired to waste any more of the night.

But Marek looked at him suddenly and Dave knew he wasn't drunk. He said quietly:

"You're making a hell of a mess of my life, you know."

Dave stared at him. "What are you talking about?" he said.

Marek took a sip. "Julie," he said evenly, "she won't marry me because she's in love with you."

Dave's scolding laugh had a quiver. "That's ridiculous," he said shortly.

"It's true," Marek repeated. He took a longer drink to fortify himself. He cleared his throat. "I've been married twice," he said. "I used to think there were a lot of things I was thinking and doing that were more important than having the right woman married to me. I don't anymore. I want some one I can depend on to keep caring about me, about what I think and what I do as long as I live. I want it to be Julie. I can give her a beautiful home. I can make her a queen. I can give her a career or whatever whim she wants to satisfy. I'll be good to her."

"I think you will," said Dave. Marek could see the tight line of his clenched jaw beneath his bronzed skin. He frowned at him. "But she won't marry me," he repeated slowly, "because she's in love with you."

"She'll get over that," Dave said sharply. "O course," Marek said. "But how soon? I'm not a patient man. I'm not used to waiting for what I want. Someday waiting won't seem worth while anymore, and I'll marry someone else. I won't be interested in Julie's career anymore. I was only using it as a wedge. She'll be alone then, and not so young and without money. She isn't the kind that will pick up another man."

Dave was furious, but he couldn't pin it on Marek exactly. Finally he said, "What are you driving at?" "This," Marek said. "If you don't intend to marry Julie, help me . . . for her sake as well as mine. Stop her dreaming over you and she'll fall in love with me."

"But how—"

"See her. Pick a fight. Don't be such a blasted hero to her."

Dave didn't say anything for a minute. When he did, his voice was a dismal growl. "I told you we were leaving at dawn."

"I'll take you to her."

The moon was white and round in a black sky as the long black car rolled through Los Angeles and into Hollywood. The chauffeur thought, "Too bad to waste a night like this riding a glum soldier around."

Once Dave muttered irritably. "This is a crazy thing to do. Won't work."

"I'll risk it," Marek Dorr said smoothly. "Only thing is, I don't want you to think I'm taking advantage—if you had any thoughts of marry her."

Dave said glumly, "I want Julie to be happy. But she'd never be happy with me now."

"And you don't think she'd be willing to understand your new world?"

"It wouldn't work," said Dave stubbornly. "And she wouldn't know what was wrong and she's miserable."

"That's all I wanted to know," said Marek cheerfully.

The car cut through the pass in the hills north of Hollywood and slid down into the valley. After a time it stopped before guarded gates. Marek got out and used the telephone. The car went through the gate.

Dave was frowning. "This isn't the studio. It's Empire Aircraft Plant."

"Of course," said Marek. "We shoot pictures in more places than studios. Here we are."

They went into the front office for their pass. A guard took them through the maze of great, flat buildings to the hanger-like factory.

Dave was behind the guide. He stopped so suddenly that Marek jumped into him. He was staring at a girl five feet ahead—a small, slim girl in overalls and a red bandanna.

"I thought for a minute," he said—and then his mouth dropped open and he didn't go on.

Marek moved up beside him. Together they watched Julie at work. She was instructing a beginner. She demonstrated, her slender quivering demonstrated, her slender body quivering under the force of the whirling rivet gun. She placed the girl in the other girl's hands, curling her fingers about it correctly. The girl tried. Julie beamed on her, patted her shoulder.

Dave said in a choked monotone. "Is it a rehearsal?" "No," Marek told him shortly. "It's the role Julie's playing—for the duration."

He didn't look at Dave again but he heard his long jagged breath. And then Julie looked up and saw them. Marek saw her eyes focus

"Julie."

Marek knew he had never heard Dave's real voice before. He turned and started back for the door. He could tell by the awed glory in the eyes of girls pausing at their drills just what was going on behind him. Oh well, he thought sardonically, he always had been an impatient man. Never could wait for the fadeouts to his own pictures.

"She'll get over that," Dave said sharply.

"Of course," Marek said. "But how soon? I'm not a patient man. I'm not used to waiting for what I want. Someday waiting won't seem worth while anymore, and I'll marry someone else. I won't be interested in Julie's career anymore. I was only using it as a wedge. She'll be alone then, and not so young and with-out money. She isn't the kind that will pick up another man."

Dave was furious, but he couldn't pin it on Marek exactly. Finally he said, "What are you driving at?"

"This," Marek said. "If you don't intend to marry Julie, help me for her sake as well as mine. Stop her dreaming over you and she'll fall in love with me."

"But how—"

"See her. Pick a fight. Don't be such a blasted hero to her."

Dave didn't say anything for a minute. When he did, his voice was a dismal growl. "I told you we were leaving at dawn."

"I'll take you to her."

The moon was white and round in a black sky as the long black car rolled through Los Angeles and into Hollywood. The chauffeur thought, "Too bad to waste a night like this riding a glum soldier around."

Once Dave muttered irritably, "This is a crazy thing to do. Won't work."

"I'll risk it," Marek Dorr said smoothly. "Only thing is, I don't want you to think I'm taking advantage—if you had any thoughts of marry her."

Dave said glumly, "I want Julie to be happy. But she'd never be happy with me now."

"And you don't think she'd be willing to understand your new world?"

"It wouldn't work," said Dave stubbornly. "And she wouldn't know what was wrong and she's miserable."

"That's all I wanted to know," said Marek cheerfully.

The car cut through the pass in the hills north of Hollywood and slid down into the valley. After a time it stopped before guarded gates. Marek got out and used the telephone. The car went through the gate.

Dave was frowning. "This isn't the studio. 'It's Empire Aircraft Plant."

"Of course," said Marek. "We shoot pictures in more places than studios. Here we are."

They went into the front office for their pass. A guard took them through the maze of great, flat buildings to the hanger-like factory.

Dave was behind the guide. He stopped suddenly that Marek loitered into him. He was staring at a girl five feet ahead—a small, slim girl in overalls and a red bandana.

"I thought for a minute," he said—and then his mouth dropped open and he didn't go on.

Marek moved up beside him. Together they watched Julie at work. She was instructing a beginner. She demonstrated, her slender quivering body quivering under the force of the whirling rivet gun. She placed the gun in the other girl's hands, curling her fingers about it correctly. The girl tried. Julie beamed on her, patted her shoulder.

Dave said in a choked monotone. "Is it a rehearsal?"

"No," Marek told him shortly. "It's the role Julie's playing—for the duration."

He didn't look at Dave again but he heard his long jagged breath. And then Julie looked up and saw him. Marek saw her eyes focus

Pvt. Sylvester Seymore, of Fort Myer, Florida, and a friend were on Dave and all expression drain out of her face—leaving it blank as if she were seeing a ghost.

Julie.

Marek knew he had never heard Dave's real voice before. He turned and started back for the door. He could tell by the awed glory in the eyes of girls pausing at their drills just what was going on behind him. Oh well, he thought sardonically, he always had been an impatient man. Never could wait for the fadeouts to his own pictures.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Current dispatches, telling of strips of metalized paper being dropped by German fliers raiding England just as the Allied bombers have done over the continent for a long time, point out that the purpose is to "jam" radio location apparatus.

By dropping these pieces of paper by the thousands so that the air is literally filled with them, it is hoped so to interfere with ground spotting equipment as to make it give a confused response and not permit accurate recording of the approaching planes.

6,000 Polish Women Train For Invasion Of Continent

By RUTH COWAN
The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Polish Women's Military Training Camp, Somewhere in Scotland—Six thousand Polish women are training here in deadly earnest for the invasion of Europe with the Polish Army.

That training includes firing guns, throwing hand grenades, mastering the fine points of sniping.

They are the Pestki—women who are living for the day when they can march into Europe with the Allied invasion armies and reclaim their homeland.

Polish army officers stress that it is not intended to use the Pestki as combat troops. They are being trained for defense purposes. But they'll know how to pull an effective trigger should they need to defend themselves—or even help defend their station.

Included in their number are seven American women, six Canadians and a Polish refugee who have arrived from North America as volunteers. All are of Polish descent.

The first North American girl to volunteer was Lieut. Hallina Eminowicz, 28, of New York, who brought the group over. She is the first foreigner to win a commission in the Polish women's army.

After her enlistment she spent several months in the Canadian women's army for her initial training, transferring to the Polish headquarters in Canada in October. Before joining she was secretary to the chairman of the Polish Women's Union of America. Last year when the late General Sikorski visited the United States, Canada and Mexico, she acted as his personal secretary.

Lieut. Eminowicz has a sister, Mrs. Thaddeus Markiewicz, living at Ferndale, near Detroit, Mich., and a brother, Stefan, 30, who is a cadet officer with a Polish artillery unit.

The former secretary said: "I was in Poland for six months in 1939. Oddly enough, I left just two days before the German invasion. I joined up because I love what Poland stands for and is fighting for."

Other Yankee Girls

The other Americans, girls 18 to 20, are:

Eleonora Respondek, 18, Detroit, Mich., a skilled mechanic in a diamond tool factory engaged in war production. She explained: "I joined because America has everything, while Poland lost everything and needs help."

Mrs. Helena Pastik, 19, Detroit, Mich., whose husband is an inspector at the motor company plant, now converted to production of heavy bombers, where she worked as a thread grinder. She said:

"My husband is an expert in steel and expects a transfer to South America. We would have been apart anyway, but now I feel I am serving a good cause."

Virginia Czarnowski, 20, Greensburg, Pa., a gas tank instructor in a Detroit rubber company. She has nine sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Jean Johnston, lies at 7728 Conger St., Detroit.

Two sisters, Maria Pantak, 18, and Zofia Pantak, 19, were plant workers in Detroit. They enlisted together and have a brother, Mitchell, who is a private in the U. S. Army.

Genevieve Korycinska, 19, Detroit, a probation nurse at the Providence hospital. She joined the Polish women's army when the WAC's refused her application because she was too young. One of her three brothers in the U. S. Air force was killed in North Africa, and her sweetheart, also. She hopes to be a motorcycle dispatch rider.

The first Canadian girl to get her application approved after three years' try is Wladyslawa Branka, 20, Windsor, Ontario, who worked for her father, a retail coal dealer.

The others are Mary Zawiska, 32, and Genowefa Latwinski, 20, of Windsor; Jadwiga Nowak, 18, Winnipeg; Alicja L. Dzik, 19, Manville, Alberta, who gave up her corporate stripes in the Canadian women's army to transfer to the Polish; Jadzia Szulmiska, 28, Hamilton, Ontario, also a transfer. Jadzia has two brothers in the services. One is a lieutenant in the Canadian army and the other is an RAF bomber crewman missing after a recent mission.

Year In Convent

The fourteenth girl, Maria Pinińska, 17, was evacuated from Poland to France, from there to England, and then to Montreal. She spent a year in a New York convent and returned to Canada to study art. Two months ago she dropped studies to join the army.

She will find here many Polish girls who have made story-book escapes. Some crossed several borders to reach England. Some have been in German prison camps. Large numbers have been brought here from the middle east after volunteering for the Polish army when evacuated from Russian labor camps.

The Pestki (also called the Polish ATS because they wear the British but with "Poland" on the arm) is commanded here by Col.

"Where will I find the fat donors' bank?"

PARTISANS IN BALKANS LIGHT FLAMING FRONT

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Algiers—You can ignore propaganda and turn to facts when you weigh the contribution of Yugoslav guerrillas to the Allied war effort.

A few weeks ago one of the highest officers of General Eisenhower's intelligence staff gave a background lecture to war correspondents.

The officer said that as yet the Allies had encountered only from eight to ten enemy divisions on the 100-mile front from the Tyrrhenian Sea to the Adriatic. In the north were perhaps 10 more.

In the Balkans, however, were more than 30, with the largest concentration in Yugoslavia.

Nazi military strength has been hastily increased in south Slav territories because of two inter-related dangers: the nearness of British and American forces and the overnight emergence of the Partisan army from what, in a tactical sense, had been a harassing rabble in the woods.

But reliable records show that since Hitler's march to the Mediterranean in 1941 he kept a minimum garrison of six divisions in Yugoslavia at all times.

Sporadically some of these troops were sent on punitive expeditions to wipe out traces of Yugoslav resistance. These expeditions proved tedious and inconclusive. The situation, from the Nazi standpoint, was harder to cure than the seven-year itch.

German propaganda lumped all Yugoslav fighting elements together and called them "Bolshevism."

Last spring, when a combined force of Germans, Italians and Bulgars tried to mop up Montenegro, and nearly succeeded in capturing Gen. Draja Mihailovic, the campaign was officially described as against the Red terror.

There is deep irony in these German propaganda terms.

Serious Problem

For Mihailovic was at the time engaged in two wars. One was against the Germans; the other against the Red Star Partisans of Josip Broz (Tito), the guerrilla general who now bears the title marshal in a rump government headed by Dr. Ivan Ribar.

Although the fratricidal struggle between Partisans and Chetniks since the winter of 1941 has been on occasion as bloody and savage as any civil war in Balkan history, it has not involved the Yugoslav problem for the Nazi masterminds in Berlin.

A dramatic event occurred in September, 1943, when Tito's Partisans suddenly stripped five Italian divisions of their arms, uniforms and equipment and got firmly installed on the wilder portions of the Dalmatian coast.

The ill-fated Dodecanese campaign would have gone much differently if Italian forces on which the British relied for support had been of the fighting temper of the Slav Partisans.

Need More Help

Until the Allies are in position to provide the Partisans with mountain howitzers as well as American-made milk, mortars as well as American medicines, resistance will continue chiefly on a small-arms basis.

Do not expect the Partisan command to tell the whole truth about their desperate struggle with the invaders. They may have reversed this winter as serious for

Maria Lesniakowa, who during the invasion of her homeland was twice captured and twice escaped.

The basic military training is given by Polish army officers. In addition the women are given special training, to fit them to serve with the air, land and naval Polish forces, as well as in the more usual nursing, canteen and clerical jobs.

BRIEF REGIME OF ARGENTINA EXECUTIVE ENDS

Montevideo, Feb. 25 (AP)—Vice President Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell took over the reins of Argentina's nine-month-old military government today after Gen. Pedro Ramirez had vacated the presidency in a sudden political upheaval regarded here as another palace coup.

Full significance of the upheaval was not immediately apparent in Montevideo, as strict censorship was clamped down in Buenos Aires.

There seemed no question, however, that the situation was the direct result of smouldering opposition within Ramirez' cabinet which was fanned into flame when he decided to break relations with the Axis powers Jan. 26.

Military Active

It remained to be seen what effect Farrell's assumption of the presidency would have upon Argentine foreign relations, but it was noted here that he is an intimate friend of Col. Juan Domingo Peron, Secretary of Labor and Welfare, who frequently has been mentioned as the mainspring of the reactionary "GOU"—or "Colonels' group."

The change in the presidency apparently was accomplished without bloodshed—or violence, although there were reports that "military forces had been very active."

Ramirez' stepping down was attributed officially to ill health.

It was presumed that the entire Ramirez cabinet went out of office with him.

Bus Upsets; Three Students Injured

Carlisle, Pa., Feb. 25 (AP)—Thirty-five passengers, many of them college students, were shaken up and three persons were injured last night when a bus bound from Winchester, Virginia, to Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, shot off the highway near here and overturned in a cornfield.

State police said the driver, despite his injuries, crawled through a window to open a safety door so the trapped passengers could escape. Many were students at Hood college, Frederick, Maryland, and Wilson college and Penn Hall, Chambersburg, Pennsylvania.

Police identified the driver as William E. Giffon, 27, of Hagerstown, Maryland. He received contusions. Others hurt, neither seriously, were Miss Mildred Sharf, 46, Harrisburg nurse, and Mrs. Ella R. Smit, 64, Carlisle.

Accuse Firm Of Price Violations

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25 (AP)—A treble damage suit of $559,999 was filed in federal court yesterday against the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation by the Office of Price Administration.

The OPA charged the firm sold automobile "truck frames," commonly known as treads, at above ceiling prices to General Motors corporation, at Flint, Michigan, and the Ford Motor company, at Detroit, between February 22, 1943, and February 3, 1944.

them as was Pearl Harbor for the United States.

And do not expect reports of Partisan successes to be completely free from exaggeration. People fighting with their backs to a wall crave any sort of hope, however slender.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Feb. 25 (AP)—Current dispatches, telling of strips of metalized paper being dropped by German fliers raiding England just as the Allied bombers have done over the continent for a long time, point out that the purpose is to "jam" radio location apparatus.

By dropping these pieces of paper by the thousands so that the air is literally filled with them, it is hoped so to interfere with ground spotting equipment as to make it give a confused response and not permit accurate recording of the approaching planes.

6,000 Polish Women Train For Invasion Of Continent

By RUTH COWAN
The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Polish Women's Military Training Camp, Somewhere in Scotland—Six thousand Polish women are training here in deadly earnest for the invasion of Europe with the Polish Army.

That training includes firing guns, throwing hand grenades, mastering the fine points of sniping.

They are the Pestki—women who are living for the day when they can march into Europe with the Allied invasion armies and reclaim their homeland.

Polish army officers stress that it is not intended to use the Pestki as combat troops. They are being trained with firearms and live ammunition for defense purpose. But they'll know how to pull an effective trigger should they need to defend themselves—or even help defend their station.

Included in their number are seven American women, six Canadians and a Polish refugee who have arrived from North America as volunteers. All are of Polish descent.

The first North American girl to volunteer was Lieut. Halina Eminowicz, 28, of New York, who brought the group over. She is the first foreigner to win a commission in the Polish women's army.

After her enlistment she spent several months in the Canadian women's army for her initial training, transferring to the Polish headquarters in Canada in October. Before joining she was secretary to the chairman of the Polish Women's Union of America. Last year when the late General Sikorski visited the United States, Canada and Mexico, she acted as his personal secretary.

Lieut. Eminowicz has a sister, Mrs. Thaddeus Markiewicz, living at Ferndale, near Detroit, Mich., and a brother, Stefan, 30, who is a cadet officer with a Polish artillery unit. The former secretary said:

"I was in Poland for six months in 1939. Oddly enough, I left just two days before the German invasion. I joined up because I love what Poland stands for and is fighting for."

Other Yankee Girls

The other Americans, girls 18 to 20, are:

Eleonora Respondek, 18, Detroit, Mich., a skilled mechanic in a diamond tool factory engaged in war production. She explained: "I joined because America has everything, while Poland lost everything and needs help."

Mrs. Helena Pastik, 19, Detroit, Mich., whose husband is an inspector at the motor company plant, now converted to production of heavy bombers, where she worked as a thread grinder. She said:

"My husband is an expert in steel and expects a transfer to South America. We would have been apart anyway, but now I feel I am serving a good cause."

Virginia Czarnowski, 20, Greensburg, Pa., a gas tank instructor in a Detroit rubber company. She has nine sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Jean Johnston, lies at 7728 Conger St., Detroit.

Two sisters, Maria Pantak, 18, and Zofia Pantak, 19, war plant workers in Detroit. They enlisted together and have a brother, Mitchell, who is a private in the U. S. Army.

Genevieve Korycinska, 19, Detroit, a probation nurse at the Providence hospital. She joined the Polish women's army when the WAC's refused her application because she was too young. One of her three brothers in the U. S. Air force was killed in North Africa, and her sweetheart also. She hopes to be a motorcycle dispatch rider.

The first Canadian girl to get her application approved after three years' try is Wladyslaw Branka, 20, Windsor, Ontario, who worked for her father, a retail coal dealer.

The others are Mary Zawiszka, 32, and Genowefa Latwinski, 20, of Windsor; Jadwiga Nowak, 18, Winnipeg; Alicja L. Dziki, 19, Manville, Alberta, who gave up her corporate's stripes in the Canadian women's army to transfer to the Polish; Jadzia Szulmiska, 28, Hamilton, Ontario, also a transfer. Jadzia has two brothers in the services. One is a lieutenant in the Canadian army and the other is an RAF bomber crewman missing after a recent mission.

Year In Convent

The fourteenth girl, Maria Pinińska, 17, was evacuated from Poland to France, from there to England, and then to Montreal. She spent a year in a New York convent and returned to Canada to study art. Two months ago she dropped studies to join the army.

She will find here many Polish girls who have made story-book escapes. Some crossed several borders to reach England. Some have been in German prison camps. Large numbers have been brought here from the middle east after volunteering for the Polish army when evacuated from Russian labor camps.

The Pestki (also called the Polish ATS because they wear the ATS uniform furnished by the British but with "Poland" on the arm) is commanded here by Col.

PARTISANS IN BALKANS LIGHT FLAMING FRONT

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Algiers—You can ignore propaganda and turn to facts when you weigh the contribution of Yugoslav guerrillas to the Allied war effort.

A few weeks ago one of the highest officers of General Eisenhower's intelligence staff gave a background lecture to war correspondents.

The officer said that as yet the Allies had encountered only from eight to ten enemy divisions on the 100-mile front from the Tyrrhenian Sea to the Adriatic. In the north were perhaps 10 more.

In the Balkans, however, were more than 30, with the largest concentration in Yugoslavia.

Harass Nazis

Nazi military strength has been hastily increased in south Slav territories because of two inter-related dangers: the nearness of British and American forces and the overnight emergence of the Partisan army from what, in a tactical sense, had been a harassing rabble in the woods.

But reliable records show that since Hitler's march to the Mediterranean in 1941 he kept a minimum garrison of six divisions in Yugoslavia at all times.

Sporadically some of these troops were sent on punitive expeditions to wipe out traces of Yugoslav resistance. These expeditions proved tedious and inconclusive. The situation, from the Nazi standpoint, was harder to cure than the seven-year itch.

German propaganda lumped all Yugoslav fighting elements together and called them "Bolshevism."

Last spring, when a combined force of Germans, Italians and Bulgars tried to mop up Montenegro, and nearly succeeded in capturing Gen. Draja Mihailovic, the campaign was officially described as against the Red terror.

There is deep irony in these German propaganda terms.

Serious Problem

For Mihailovic was at the time engaged in two wars. One was against the Germans; the other against the Red Star Partisans of Josip Broz (Tito), the guerrilla general who now bears the title marshal in a rump government headed by Dr. Ivan Ribar.

Although the fratricidal struggle between Partisans and Chetniks since the winter of 1941 has been on occasion as bloody and savage as any civil war in Balkan history, it has not involved the Yugoslav problem for the Nazi masterminds in Berlin.

A dramatic event occurred in September, 1943, when Tito's Partisans suddenly stripped five Italian divisions of their arms, uniforms and equipment and got firmly installed on the wider portions of the Dalmatian coast.

The ill-fated Dodecanese campaign would have gone much differently if Italian forces on which the British relied for support had been of the fighting temper of the Slav Partisans.

Need More Help

Until the Allies are in position to provide the Partisans with mountain howitzers as well as American canned milk, mortars as well as American medicines, resistance will continue chiefly on a small-arms basis.

Do not expect the Partisan communiques to tell the whole truth about their desperate struggle with the invaders. They may have reversed this winter as serious for

Maria Lesniakowa, who during the invasion of her homeland was twice captured and twice escaped.

The basic military training is given by Polish army officers. In addition the women are given special training, to fit them to serve with the air, land and naval Polish forces, as well as in the more usual nursing, canteen and clerical jobs.

COMMISSIONERS ADOPT BUDGET WITH PROVISION FOR NEW PRISON

The Adams county commissioners have appropriated $85,000 toward repairs to the county home and court house and the construction of a county jail during the coming year, according to the tentative budget for the county set up by the commissioners at their meeting Wednesday.

Whether the money will be expended this year will depend upon the ability of the commissioners to obtain materials for construction, a spokesman for the county board said today. The sum marks an increase of $13,000 over amount set aside in last year's budget for similar work which was not expended because of the lack of materials and labor.

Last year $23,000 had been set aside for work at the county home. This year the sum was increased to $30,000. An additional $5,000 was placed in the maintenance fund this year for possible work at the court house. The $50,000 appropriation for the building of a new county jail was continued without change.

Best Financial Condition

If conditions allow the repairs and construction the county will still end the coming year with a cash balance, according to budget figures. Unexpended balance in the budget for the general fund is $12,416.66. Unexpended balance in the budget for the institutional district is $4,224.36. The unexpended balance funds were placed in the budget to allow the commissioners to meet any deficit that might be caused if some item of the present budget proves too low for the amount of money needed for a particular activity.

The county begins its new year with $105,951.35 cash on hand in the general fund, $10,000 worth of war bonds, a cash balance of $45,613.65 in the institutional fund and $17,552.24 in the sinking fund designed to pay off part of the bonded debt of the county.

With the county in the best financial condition it has ever known, the commissioners are ready at any time to begin needed construction work to county buildings. Plans for the new jail were drawn and all preliminary work of that nature completed several years ago when the scarcity of materials prevented the actual construction work. Whenever the materials are available the commissioners plan to start work on the new jail.

To Pay Off Bonds by '50

Plans for the county home reconstruction work call for the present men's building to be nearly completely rebuilt and for extensive repairs to be made to the building formerly used for the insane as well as a number of other repairs and changes in the structures there. A number of repairs are also planned for the court house.

In the general fund the commissioners tentatively expect to obtain $92,709.11 in taxes during the coming year, $6,000 in fines, $35,000 in grants and gifts including the liquid fuel receipts, $1,500 from departmental earnings and $2,300 from miscellaneous receipts. Total receipts, including the balance from last year and the war bonds are listed as $252,460.46.

General expenditures include, operation and maintenance, $137,543.80; capital outlay, $50,000; highways, $40,000; debt service, $9,000, for payment on principal of the bonded indebtedness of the county which commissioners estimate can be paid off in about seven years at the present rate of reduction. Total estimated expenditures are $233,385.75.

Total receipts for the institution district, including $36,850.71 in taxes, are expected to reach $42,350.71. Expenditures include, general administration, $4,775; county home, $24,065; county farm, $10,600; maintenance in institutions, $1,800; other forms of care, $12,500; capital outlay, $30,000. Total estimated expenditures are $83,740.

Cost of operating the county farm will be increased by $3,800 this year the commissioners estimate, with the drought last year reducing the usual amount of feed grown on the county farm with the result that the county livestock will have to be fed with purchased feed. Another expected added expense this year will be in the child welfare division, listed under other forms of care, with the number of children cared for by the county increasing as well as the cost per child.

The tentative budget is now open for inspection at the commissioners' office. Final action will be taken on the budget, March 8.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Warner, Biglerville, announce the birth of a daughter last Wednesday at the Warner hospital.

Dies Of Injuries

A high requiem mass was held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic church, Bonneauville, for Pvt. Eugene J. Weishaar, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Weishaar, Bonneauville, who died in an Army hospital in the North African area, February 5, from injuries he suffered in an accident. The Rev. Leo Krichen, St. Joseph's rector, conducted the mass on Saturday morning and also a low mass at 8 o'clock Friday morning for the deceased soldier.

Pvt. Weishaar was fatally hurt in a motorcycle accident on February 5, in Sicily, the War department informed his parents. He died later the same day.

Surviving also are three brothers, Pfc. Raymond Weishaar, with a glider infantry on maneuvers in Tennessee; Glenn, Gettysburg R. D. 5, and Paul, at home; and a sister, Viola, at home.

FARM BUREAU ANNIVERSARY MEETING TODAY

The Adams county Farm Bureau Cooperative Wed. marked its tenth anniversary by voting to increase its capitalization from $35,000 to $100,000 and by increasing the number of directors of the organization. The capitalization increase must be approved by the state.

Harrison F. Snyder, Littlestown; Millard F. Stoner, Fairfield; and George Taughinbaugh, Gettysburg R. D. were named as directors for three years; Joseph C. Klunk, Edge Grove, was named as a new director for three years and Vernon Rice, New Oxford, was elected a director for two years. The annual session is being held at the Gettysburg high school today.

The resolution increasing the capitalization of the Farm Bureau pointed out that "the earnings of the organization have tremendously increased" since the organization of the cooperative a decade ago and that future expansions are planned in the post-war period.

Increased Sales

The report of the treasurer, E. W. Weaver, disclosed that a total net saving of $27,546.06 was effected during the last year, with the Farm Bureau doing $299,940.32 worth of business. Total expenses for the organization, including rent, salaries, wages, totaled $17,958.71. The cost of the goods sold by the Farm Bureau was $257,320.92.

Sales during the last year were an increase of 85.4 per cent over the previous year, it was reported. Net profits increased $13,632.50 over 1942. Assets of the organization were set at $75,108.40, an increase of $19,096.19 over last year with most of the increase in inventory.

Jennings B. Collins, head of the Farm Bureau Insurance in the county, reported that the county lead the state during last October in sales of life insurance. The county's sales for the month were $105,000.

A history of the past ten year's activities was presented by G. Marion Stambaugh, manager of the cooperative in his annual report this morning.

The first year's business was $27,277.67 with 98 common stockholders in the organization. The cooperative was incorporated April 5, 1934, with a capitalization of $5,000. By 1940 the total capitalization had been increased to $35,000. The present Farm Bureau building was constructed in the winter of 1935-36 and the present mill at the rear was built in 1940. The warehouse and mill at New Oxford were secured in 1942.

NAVAL OFFICER HURT SLIGHTLY IN BUCHANAN VALLEY CRASH

Washington, (A.P.)—In a freak series of air accidents, seven Navy planes crashed yesterday in the general vicinity of the national capital, four of which were part of a six-plane squadron. Personnel involved and the total number of casualties were not disclosed.

The first accident reported was that of a Naval twin-engine transport which crashed near Gaithersburg, Md., killing two and injuring four crew members. A Navy plane crashed at Elkins, W. Va.

Ensign O. E. Asplundh, Jr., Naval Air Station, Atlantic City, suffered only a few scratches when his Grumman "Hellcat," Navy pursuit plane, crashed into woods on the farm of Samuel Irvin, three miles north of the Lincoln highway, on the Narrows road shortly before 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The crash occurred when Ensign Asplundh attempted to land the speedy plane on an open field on the Irvin farm after becoming lost in the fog on a routine training flight out of Atlantic City. Residents of the area who reached the scene of the accident a few minutes after it occurred said the Naval pilot told them he was unable to stop the airplane with its brakes on account of the heavy covering of snow on the field.

The pursuit ship cut off one pine tree eight inches in diameter, five trees ranging from three to six inches in diameter and innumerable saplings and bushes. The wheels were badly damaged, as was the entire front of the plane. The right wing was broken off about six feet from the tip.

Lost Other Ship

When it came to a stop the plane was resting several feet off the ground, supported by the brush and trees under it.

Asplundh had been flying with another plane from Atlantic City in a circular course that would have taken the two pilots near Pittsburgh. Enroute Asplundh lost his companion in the fog and eventually became completely lost himself. He circled around the Buchanan valley area for a time, seeking a place to land, eventually finding the Irvin field. The planes had left Atlantic City shortly after noon.

After leaving the ship, the Naval aviator called the Gettysburg airport where arrangements were made to take him to Harrisburg Thursday afternoon to secure a train for Atlantic City. State police at the local station were called and Corporal C. F. Tempke and Pvt. Carl F. Renz guarded the plane until 5:30 p. m. when a detail of three Marines from the Marine barracks, Mechanicsburg, was sent by Major John Tobbs to guard the plane during the night.

Veteran of Pacific Action

Naval aviation crews were removing the plane today to a nearby naval air center.

The Marine contingent was led by Sergeant William Simon, a veteran of the battle of Guadalcanal, who was wounded four times, in the right arm and left leg, by shrapnel and bullets during two months of the campaign in Guadalcanal before being evacuated. He won the Purple Heart.

Also in the contingent was Pfc. Michael Holubar, also wounded at Guadalcanal and a veteran of seven fighting months on that island. Both were members of units receiving presidential citations for their work on the south Pacific island. The third member of the squad was Pfc. James Alsbrook.

More Members Join War Bond Brigades

Additional names to the Honor Brigade of the Blue Star Brigade in the Fourth War Bond campaign were announced Wednesday as follows:

From New Oxford: Mrs. Frank J. Feiser for her son Cpl. Fred Feiser; Miss Ruth Feiser for S.-Sgt. John W. Dutta; Mrs. Charles Slaybaugh for Lt. Herschel Shortledge.

Three Attorneys, Chief Of Police In Draft Of 167

Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., chairman of the county rationing board, and two other members of Adams county's already depleted bar; Chief of Police Glenn Guise, Special Officer C. William Zhea, Borough Secretary Wilmer Dracha, local businessmen and several state, federal and town employees are included in the list of 167 men from Gettysburg and western Adams county who are being ordered to Harrisburg Thursday, March 2nd, for pre-induction physical examinations.

Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., only member of the firm of Keith, Bigham and Markley, Esqs., remaining in active practice, and Richard A. Brown, Esq., another only remaining member of a local law firm, are the other attorneys called for their final physical examinations.

May Be Called After 21 Days

Garagemen, grocers and employees in a dozen Gettysburg and county business firms are included in the call, the largest ever sent out by the local board.

The men who are accepted for service in any branch of the armed forces will be subject to call for active duty after 21 days.

Today's list was issued following a meeting of the draft board Monday evening. Unofficially it was expected that next month's call will summon all the remaining former 3A's, or pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, for their pre-induction physical examinations.

The New Oxford draft board office has adopted a policy of not announcing names of men sent for physical examinations or of those accepted for duty until the men actually are ordered to report for service. "One draft board official from the New Oxford district said today that board is busy filling a call for "more than 200" to report for physicals next week.

Those called include: Harold Thomas McElroy, 50 West Middle street; H. C. Clapsaddle, Gettysburg R. 2; John Cleon Hertz, 62 Breckenridge street; Carl McKinley Kidwell, 155 York street; Edward Gordon Crist, 2 Elm avenue; Robert Allen McIntyre, 24 Baltimore street; George Samuel Harleman, York; Albert Edward Kane, Arendtsville; Glenn Mark Stauffer, 20 East Middle street; Loring Ralph Nail, Biglerville R. 2; Ellis James Kepner, Fairfield R. 1; William Frank Gastley, 55 Mummasburg street; Louis Kenton Meals, Gettysburg R. 3; John William Sanders, 309 Buford avenue; Harry Elmer McCreaf, 60 York street; Willis James Wherley, Gettysburg R. 1; Brady Emanuel Weikert, Gettysburg R. 1; James Willis Hartman, Gettysburg R. 3; Donald Earl Gastley, Railroad street; Charles Francis Bridinger, Taneytown R. 1; John Richard Funt, Washington; Stewart Evers Davis, 168 Carlisle street; Richard Madison Millard, Philadelphia; Earl Clair Foulk, 647 South Washington street; Clarence Henry Myers, Gettysburg R. 1; Harry Theodore Baumgardner, Bendersville; Robert Thomas Shealer, 103 Chambersburg street; Dale Anthony Bricker, Biglerville; Arthur Samuel Beamer, Biglerville R. 1; Olden Henry Shultz, 131 West High street; Richard Shorb, 219 North Queen street; Fulton Cleason Martin, Greenstone; Isaiah Pierce Stotler, 272 Buford avenue; Guy Logan Bolen, 124 West High street; Raymond R. Stotler, 76 Steinwehr avenue; Clair David Raffensperger, Biglerville; Harvey Edward Wilt, Iron Springs; Earl Bernard Shuyler, Fairfield R. 1; William Percy Jacobs, 41 East Broadway; George Cleveland Mortoff, Gardners R. 2; Maurice Woodrow Shindler, 231 Chambersburg street; Ivan Arnold Cassatt, Gettysburg R. 1; Clyde Eugene Williams, 33 Hanover street; Charles Woodrow Jacobs, 41 East Broadway; Paul Raymond Daywalt, Fayetteville R. 2; Donald Francis Miller, 132 West street; Cecil Armond Fout, Hanover; Elliott Daniel Staley, 534 West

LOCAL BOARD CALLS 21 MEN TO NAVY DUTY

The Gettysburg draft board Tuesday announced a list of 21 men—all but 2 of them classified as "fathers"—have been ordered to report for active duty with the Navy on March 1.

The 21 inductees will report at Harrisburg. All passed their final physical examinations at Harrisburg February 2.

16 CALLED FOR NAVY SERVICE AT N. OXFORD

The New Oxford draft board announced Wednesday the names of 16 men, six of them volunteers and many of them fathers, who have been drawn from the "1A pool" to fill a Navy call. The men have been ordered to report March 1 at Harrisburg for duty.

The group was among those who passed their final pre-induction physical examinations early this month and since have been awaiting call.

Taken From Pool

The list follows with the six volunteers listed first: Louis Edward Weaver, Hanover; Lester Eugene Hamme, Hanover; Paul Joseph Chrismer, R. 5, Gettysburg; Donald Edward Morrison, R. 2, East Berlin; Robert Lester Spangler, R. 2, Littlestown; Paul Eugene Kime, R. 2, York Springs; Samuel Jacob Snyder, R. 2, Littlestown; Buddy Harum Rupp, R. 1, Aspers; Clyde Herman Ecker, R. 2, New Oxford; Henry Isaiah Leach, Box 283, New Oxford; Paul Henry Krepps, Jr., 251 North street, McSherrytown; LeRoy Irvin Hess, R. 1, Littlestown; Wilford Edwin Rohrbach, R. 3, Hanover; Clair Andrew Spertzel, R. 2, York Springs; and Francis Emanuel Byers, R. 7, Westminster, Md.

Pfc. Weikert Breaks His Leg In England

A V-mail letter received by the youth's parents today, dated February 10, reports that he is "getting back to normal slowly" but says he likely will be in the hospital for two or three months. He asks his parents not to worry and assures them he is receiving good care.

Weikert, who was employed by The Gettysburg Times as a linotype operator, when he entered service nearly a year ago, has been overseas since last November. He has told his parents there is a good chance that he may be returned to the states after his leg heals.

225 COUNTIANS CALLED TO GIVE BLOOD FRIDAY

Appointment cards for 225 volunteer donors from all sections of Adams county were placed in the mail Tuesday in preparation for monthly visit of the mobile Red Cross blood receiving unit in the blood donor station in Christ Lutheran church basement, Gettysburg Friday.

The Blood Donor service committee of the Red Cross here has set a goal of 150 pints per month to reach the 1,800-pint quota for the year with the slogan "A pint for every countian in the armed forces." Last year countians gave 1,242 pints here on 11 visits. A fast pace for 1944 was set on Blood Donor Day in January when a new local record of 167 pints was set.

Radford H. Lippy, Blood Donor Service chairman, today made his usual request that persons who receive an "appointment to save a life" and find they are unable to fill the appointment because of illness or any other reason should notify him promptly so that substitutes may be summoned. Appointments begin at noon and will continue to 4:15 o'clock.

The local Donor Service is continuing its appeal for new donors. Registrations of new volunteers have been "fair," Mr. Lippy said, but more are needed. With the mounting action in the Pacific, heavy fighting in Italy and the nearing prospect of a major invasion of Europe, national Red Cross has renewed urgent appeals for new donors and increased quotas of blood for plasma to help save lives on Allied battlefronts.

Alumnae of the Beta Lambda chapter of Delta Gamma sorority will serve in the kitchen at the donor station Friday. Women of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church will be on duty in the dining room.

CAPTAIN IRWIN IS TRANSFERRED

Captain Shull L. Irwin, of near Gettysburg, recently graduated from the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, has left North Hood, Texas, to take up new duties with Headquarters, Third Service Command, at Baltimore, Maryland.

Captain Irwin served as adjutant of North Camp Hood, from the camp's activation on April 15, 1943, until November 15, 1943, when he left to attend the Army school. Captain Irwin first came to Camp Hood in July, 1942, when he was assigned to the 7th Tank Group; later he was named assistant adjutant, pending activation of the north cantonment.

Mrs. Irwin is the former Patricia O'Kellier, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Victor J. O'Kellier of Washington, D. C. and Oconto, Wisconsin. Mrs. Irwin and their children, Victor Logan and Patricia Ann, are making their home with her parents in Washington until Captain Irwin can make housing arrangements in the Maryland city.

Emory Hardman Is Overcome By Gas

Emory Hardman, Gettysburg, who is employed by the Gettysburg Steam Laundry, was taken to the Warner hospital Saturday evening after he had been found unconscious by a neighbor, James Sanders.

Monday Mr. Hardman could not explain how the flame in the gas heater he had been using had become extinguished. Sanders said he opened the doors of the house and then went for aid. Hardman was discharged from the hospital Sunday.

$2,500,900 IN WAR BONDS ARE SOLD IN COUNTY

For the first time in the history of Adams county a voluntary financial subscription campaign has exceeded the two and one-half million dollar mark with $2,500,900 in war bond sales in the Fourth War Bond campaign reported last Friday.

This figure represents sale of all types of bonds to countians during the current drive and was relayed to Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the County War Finance committee, today, by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia.

Leads the State

This represents an oversubscription of $453,300 of the original county quota of $2,047,600. In attaining this high percentage of oversubscription Adams county leads the entire state by a wide margin and there are indications that the county will have led the nation when the final tabulation is completed after the close of the drive February 29th.

Never in the history of the county has so much money been voluntarily subscribed in a financial drive.

Pushing "E" Bonds

Of the over-all subscription $828,000 represents sales of bonds to individuals with $337,200 in "E" bond sales. The balance of $490,800 in other types of bonds to individuals represents another achievement for the county in the current bond campaign. The quota for the county of those types of bonds to individuals was $429,906. This oversubscription has now reached $70,804.

However the county has failed to reach its quota of "E" bond sales. The deficit in that bracket is $157,367 and toward this goal the volunteer bond salesmen will direct their attention during the remaining days of the campaign.

Mr. Thomas today appealed to all banks in the county to exert every effort to attain the "E" bond quota which many state finance committee officials believe will give Adams county top ranking position in the country.

LEGION SEEKS NEW MEMBERS; POST PRAISED

Plans for an all-out drive to secure more members by March 7 than the approximately 250 obtained last year were outlined Monday evening at the regular session of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion.

"The drive is designed to put the local post over the top in membership by the time of the district meeting March 7 at York at which Pennsylvania Department Commander Frank Murray will be a guest. The post had obtained 221 members until the time of the meeting Monday night.

Commander Paul Spangler reported on the recent district meeting at Chambersburg in which Adams county was praised by District Commander Stanton House for being the first county in the district to set up its industrial committee to assist returning veterans to obtain jobs.

Spangler Presides The conditions of Howard "Dutch" Sheffer and Paul Rohrbach, both members of the post who have been ill were reported as improved.

Service Officer Joseph Smith reported that discharged veterans of the present war can obtain forms to fill out for their mustering-out pay at the Legion rooms on Baltimore street at any time. Someone will be at the Legion rooms from 7 until 8:30 o'clock each evening to assist the new veterans in filling out the forms.

About 40 attended the session at which Commander Spangler presided.

G'burg WAVE Officer Sent To Washington

Lt. (jg) Isabelle H. Wadsworth, USNR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hanawalt, Gettysburg, has been appointed Senior Wave for the department of the Commander-in-chief, Admiral King, and will be in charge of the enlisted personnel and an assistant to the flag secretary.

Lt. Wadsworth has taken up her new duties in Washington, D. C., after serving one year in the administration division at Hunter college, New York city, to which place she was sent from Smith college, Northampton, Massachusetts, where she was one of the first two hundred and fifty selected for the first class in the WAVES.

COMMISSIONERS ADOPT BUDGET WITH PROVISION FOR NEW PRISON

The Adams county commissioners have appropriated $25,000 toward repairs to the county home and court house and the construction of a county jail during the coming year, according to the tentative budget for the county set up by the commissioners at their meeting Wednesday.

Whether the money will be expended this year will depend upon the ability of the commissioners to obtain materials for construction, a spokesman for the county board said today. The sums mark an increase of $13,000 over amount set aside in last year's budget for similar work which was not expended because of the lack of materials and labor.

Last year $23,000 had been set aside for work at the county home. This year the sum was increased to $30,000. An additional $5,000 was placed in the maintenance fund this year for possible work at the court house. The $50,000 appropriation for the building of a new county jail was continued without change.

Best Financial Condition
If conditions allow the repairs and construction the county will still end the coming year with a cash balance, according to budget figures. Unexpended balance in the budget for the general fund is $12,416.66. Unexpended balance in the budget for the institutional district is $4,224.36. The unexpended balance funds were placed in the budget to allow the commissioners to meet any deficit that might be caused if some item of the present budget proves too low for the amount of money needed for a particular activity.

The county begins its new year with $105,951.35 cash on hand in the general fund, $10,000 worth of war bonds, a cash balance of $45,613.65 in the institutional fund and $17,522.24 in the sinking fund designed to pay off part of the bonded debt of the county.

With the county in the best financial condition it has ever known, the commissioners are ready at any time to begin needed construction work to county buildings. Plans for the new jail were drawn and all preliminary work of that nature completed several years ago when the scarcity of materials prevented the actual construction work. Whenever the materials are available the commissioners plan to start work on the new jail.

To Pay Off Bonds by '50
Plans for the county home reconstruction work call for the present men's building to be nearly completely rebuilt and for extensive repairs to be made to the building formerly used for the insane as well as a number of other repairs and changes in the structures there. A number of repairs are also planned for the court house.

In the general fund the commissioners tentatively expect to obtain $92,709.11 in taxes during the coming year, $5,000 in fines, $35,000 in grants and gifts including the liquid fuel receipts, $1,500 from departmental earnings and $2,300 from miscellaneous receipts. Total receipts, including the balance from last year and the war bonds are listed as $252,460.46.

General expenditures include, operation and maintenance, $137,543.80; capital outlay, $50,000; highways, $40,000; debt service, $9,000, for payment on principal of the bonded indebtedness of the county which commissioners estimate can be paid off in about seven years at the present rate of reduction. Total estimated expenditures are $233,538.75.

Total receipts for the institution district, including $36,850.71 in taxes, are expected to reach $42,350.71. Expenditures include, general administration, $4,775; county home, $24,065; county farm, $19,600; maintenance in institutions, $1,800; other forms of care, $12,500; capital outlay, $30,000. Total estimated expenditures are $83,740.

Cost of operating the county farm will be increased by $3,800 this year the commissioners estimate, with the drought last year reducing the usual amount of feed grown on the county farm with the result that the county livestock will have to be fed with purchased feed. Another expected added expense this year will be in the child welfare division, listed under other forms of care, with the number of children cared for by the county increasing as well as the cost per child.

The tentative budget is now open for inspection at the commissioners' office. Final action will be taken on the budget, March 8.

Naval aviation crews were removing the plane today to a nearby naval air center.

The Marine contingent was led by Sergeant William Simon, a veteran of the battle of Guadalcanal, who was wounded four times, in the right arm and left leg, by shrapnel and bullets during two months of the campaign in Guadalcanal before being evacuated. He won the Purple Heart.

Also in the contingent was Pfc. Michael Holubar, also wounded at Guadalcanal and a veteran of seven fighting months on that island. Both were members of units receiving presidential citations for their work on the south Pacific island. The third member of the squad was Pfc. James Alsbrook.

More Members Join War Bond Brigades

Additional names to the Honor Brigade of the Blue Star Brigade in the Fourth War Bond campaign were announced Wednesday as follows:

From New Oxford: Mrs. Frank J. Feiser for her son Cpl. Fred Feiser; Miss Ruth Feiser for S-Sgt. John W. Dutta; Mrs. Charles Slaybaugh for Lt. Herschel Shortledge.

Three Attorneys, Chief Of Police In Draft Of 167

Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., chairman of the county rationing board, and two other members of Adams county's already depleted bar; Chief of Police Glenn Guise, Special Officer C. William Zhea, Borough Secretary Wilmer Dracha, local businessmen and several state, federal and town employees are included in the list of 167 men from Gettysburg and western Adams county who are being ordered to Harrisburg Thursday, March 2nd, for pre-induction physical examinations.

Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., only member of the firm of Keith, Bigham and Markley, Esqs., remaining in active practice, and Richard A. Brown, Esq., another only remaining member of a local law firm, are the other attorneys called for their final physical examinations.

May Be Called After 21 Days
Garagemen, grocers and employees in a dozen Gettysburg and county business firms are included in the call, the largest ever sent out by the local board.

The men who are accepted for service in any branch of the armed forces will be subject to call for active duty after 21 days.

Today's list was issued following a meeting of the draft board Monday evening. Unofficially it was expected that next month's call will summon all the remaining former 3A's, or pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, for their pre-induction physical examinations.

The New Oxford draft board office has adopted a policy of not announcing names of men sent for physical examinations or of those accepted for duty until the men actually are ordered to report for service. One draft board official from the New Oxford district said today that board is busy filling a call for "more than 200" to report for physicals next week.

Those called include:
Harold Thomas McElroy, 50 West Middle street.
H. C. Clapsaddle, Gettysburg R. 2.
John Cleon Hertz, 62 Breckenridge street.
Carl McKinley Kidwell, 155 York street.
Edward Gordon Crist, 2 Elm avenue.

LOCAL BOARD CALLS 21 MEN TO NAVY DUTY

The Gettysburg draft board Tuesday announced a list of 21 men—all but 2 of them classified as "fathers"—have been ordered to report for active duty with the Navy on March 1.

The 21 inductees will report at Harrisburg. All passed their final physical examinations at Harrisburg February 2.

The list follows:
Joel D. Musselman, Gettysburg R. 5.
Cletus Bertram Shultz, Biglerville R. 2.
Richard L. Fox, 29 Stevens Street, Gettysburg.
Walter Samuel Null, Gettysburg R. 2.
Alston Leroy Peters, Bendersville.
Nicholas Edward Kint, Iron Springs R. 1.
Herman Edward Bittling, Bendersville.
Willis Levi Weikert, Seminary avenue, Gettysburg.
Robert Aloysius Codori, East Broadway, Gettysburg.
William Lynna Hertz, Fairfield R. 1.

Dwight Emerson Kessel, Biglerville R. 2.
Dean Lavere Carey, Biglerville.
Gaylord Harold Fissell, 132 Hanover street, Gettysburg.
Harvey Abraham Miller, Gettysburg R. 3.

16 CALLED FOR NAVY SERVICE AT N. OXFORD

The New Oxford draft board announced Wednesday the names of 16 men, six of them volunteers and many of them fathers, who have been drawn from the "IA pool" to fill a Navy call. The men have been ordered to report March 1 at Harrisburg for duty.

The group was among those who passed their final pre-induction physical examinations early this month and since have been awaiting call.

Taken From Pool
The list follows with the six volunteers listed first:
Louis Edward Weaver, Hanover; Lester Eugene Hamme, Hanover; Paul Joseph Chrismer, R. 5, Gettysburg; Donald Edward Morrison, R. 2, East Berlin; Robert Lester Spangler, R. 2, Littlestown; Paul Eugene Kime, R. 2, York Springs.
Samuel Jacob Snyder, R. 2, Littlestown; Buddy Harum Rupp, R. 1, Aspers; Clyde Herman Homan, Hanover; Russell Ervin Ecker, R. 2; New Oxford; Henry Isaiah Leach, Box 283, New Oxford; Paul Henry Krepps, Jr., 251 North street, McSherrystown; LeRoy Irvin Hess, R. 1, Littlestown; Wilford Edwin Rohrbaugh, R. 3, Hanover; Clair Andrew Spertzel, R. 2, York Springs, and Francis Emanuel Byers, R. 7, Westminster, Md.

STRONG WINDS; LITTLE DAMAGE

The traditional March winds, apparently practicing in February in order to "come in like a lion" in March, started early Wednesday morning.

Little damage apparently resulted from the gale. A check of the light and telephone companies and the state highway department revealed there was little or no damage in the county.

Pfc. Weikert Breaks His Leg In England

Pfc. William A. Weikert, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Weikert, Gettysburg, who two weeks ago was reported "seriously ill" in a hospital in England, is convalescing from a broken leg which he received in an accident.

A V-mail letter received by the youth's parents today, dated February 10, reports that he is "getting back to normal slowly" but says he likely will be in the hospital for two or three months. He asks his parents not to worry and assures them he is receiving good care.

Weikert, who was employed by The Gettysburg Times as a linotype operator, when he entered service nearly a year ago, has been overseas since last November.

He has told his parents there is a good chance that he may be returned to the states after his leg heals.

225 COUNTIANS CALLED TO GIVE BLOOD FRIDAY

Appointment cards for 225 volunteer donors from all sections of Adams county were placed in the mail Tuesday in preparation for monthly visit of the mobile Red Cross blood receiving unit in the blood donor station in Christ Lutheran church basement, Gettysburg Friday.

The Blood Donor service committee of the Red Cross here has set a goal of 150 pints per month to reach the 1,800-pint quota for the year with the slogan "A pint for every countian in the armed forces." Last year countians gave 1,242 pints here on 11 visits.

A fast pace for 1944 was set on Blood Donor Day in January when a new local record of 167 pints was set.

Radford H. Lippy, Blood Donor Service chairman, today made his usual request that persons who receive an "appointment to save a life" and find they are unable to fill the appointment because of illness or any other reason should notify him promptly so that substitutes may be summoned.

Appointments begin at noon and will continue to 4:15 o'clock.

The local Donor Service is continuing its appeal for new donors. Registrations of new volunteers have been "fair," Mr. Lippy said, but more are needed. With the mounting action in the Pacific, heavy fighting in Italy and the nearing prospect of a major invasion of Europe, national Red Cross has renewed urgent appeals for new donors and increased quotas of blood for plasma to help save lives on Allied battlefronts.

Alumnae of the Beta Lambda chapter of Delta Gamma sorority will serve in the kitchen at the donor station Friday. Women of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church will be on duty in the dining room.

CAPTAIN IRWIN IS TRANSFERRED

Captain Shull L. Irwin, of near Gettysburg, recently graduated from the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, has left North Hood, Texas, to take up new duties with Headquarters, Third Service Command, at Baltimore, Maryland.

Captain Irwin served as adjutant of North Camp Hood, from the camp's activation on April 15, 1943, until November 15, 1943, when he left to attend the Army school. Captain Irwin first came to Camp Hood in July, 1942, when he was assigned to the 7th Tank Group; later he was named assistant adjutant, pending activation of the north cantonment.

Mrs. Irwin is the former Patricia O'Kellier, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Victor J. O'Kellier of Washington, D. C., and Oconto, Wisconsin. Mrs. Irwin and their children, Victor Logan and Patricia Ann, are making their home with her parents in Washington until Captain Irwin can make housing arrangements in the Maryland city.

Emory Hardman Is Overcome By Gas

Emory Hardman, Gettysburg, who is employed by the Gettysburg Steam Laundry, was taken to the Warner hospital Saturday evening after he had been found unconscious by a neighbor, James Sanders.

Monday Mr. Hardman could not explain how the flame in the gas heater he had been using had become extinguished. Sanders said he opened the doors of the house and then went for aid. Hardman was discharged from the hospital Sunday.

$2,500,900 IN WAR BONDS ARE SOLD IN COUNTY

For the first time in the history of Adams county a voluntary financial subscription campaign has exceeded the two and one-half million dollar mark with $2,500,900 in war bond sales in the Fourth War Bond campaign reported last Friday.

This figure represents sale of all types of bonds to countians during the current drive and was relayed to Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the County War Finance committee, today, by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia.

Leads the State
This represents an oversubscription of $453,300 of the original county quota of $2,047,600.

In attaining this high percentage of oversubscription Adams county leads the entire state by a wide margin and there are indications that the county will have led the nation when the final tabulation is completed after the close of the drive February 29th.

Never in the history of the county has so much money been voluntarily subscribed in a financial drive.

Pushing "E" Bonds

Of the over-all subscription $828,000 represents sales of bonds to individuals with $337,200 in "E" bond sales. The balance of $490,800 in other types of bonds to individuals represents another achievement for the county in the current bond campaign. The quota for the county of those types of bonds to individuals was $429,996. This oversubscription has now reached $70,804.

However the county has failed to reach its quota of "E" bond sales. The deficit in that bracket is $157,367 and toward this goal the volunteer bond salesmen will direct their attention during the remaining days of the campaign.

Mr. Thomas today appealed to all banks in the county to exert every effort to attain the "E" bond quota which many state finance committee officials believe will give Adams county top ranking position in the country.

LEGION SEEKS NEW MEMBERS; POST PRAISED

Plans for an all-out drive to secure more members by March 7 than the approximately 250 obtained last year were outlined Monday evening at the regular session of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion.

The drive is designed to put the local post over the top in membership by the time of the district meeting March 7 at York at which Pennsylvania Department Commander Frank Murray will be a guest. The post had obtained 221 members until the time of the meeting Monday night.

Commander Paul Spangler reported on the recent district meeting at Chambersburg in which Adams county was praised by District Commander Stanton House for being the first county in the district to set up its industrial committee to assist returning veterans to obtain jobs.

Spangler Presides
The conditions of Howard "Dutch" Sheffer and Paul Rohrbaugh, both members of the post who have been ill were reported as improved.

Service Officer Joseph Smith reported that discharged veterans of the present war can obtain forms to fill out for their mustering-out pay at the Legion rooms on Baltimore street at any time. Someone will be at the Legion rooms from 7 until 8:30 o'clock each evening to assist the new veterans in filling out the forms.

About 40 attended the session at which Commander Spangler presided.

G'burg WAVE Officer Sent To Washington

Lieut. (jg) Isabelle H. Wadsworth, USNR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hanawalt, Gettysburg, has been appointed Senior Wave for the department of the Commander-in-Chief, Admiral King, and will be in charge of the enlisted personnel and an assistant to the flag secretary.

Lt. Wadsworth has taken up her new duties in Washington, D. C., after serving one year in the administration division at Hunter college, New York city, to which place she was sent from Smith college, Northampton, Massachusetts, where she was one of the first two hundred and fifty selected for the first class in the WAVES.

COUNTY SCHOOL HEADS, COLLEGE FACULTY MEET

Possible establishment of a two- or three-year study on problems of consolidation, curriculum revision and adult education was discussed Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Council of Public School administration with members of the faculty of Gettysburg College at the SCA building.

In-service training of teachers, methods of making Gettysburg college a community "education" center and a "people's college," individual guidance of students and related curriculum programs for teachers in the public schools and college were among the matters discussed by the educators at a meeting on the general subject of "How Can a Mutually Advantageous Relationship Be Made between Gettysburg College and the Secondary Schools of Adams County." The discussion was begun by the reading of an informal paper on the subject by Guile W. Lefever, principal of Gettysburg high school.

"Recognizing that in Adams county the program for elementary grades through college is not functioning as a unit," as one of the educators expressed it, meetings are being held to furnish a greater degree of integration in the whole broad program of education in the county."

The public school educators pointed out that the youth problem should be of as much concern to the college as to the public school administrators and that the college should be interested in farmers, fruit growers and mechanics because "they form the background of the community."

Plans for a series of related curriculum programs, in which teachers of various subjects in the county schools will meet with teachers of the same subjects in college, were discussed.

The public school men also sought the aid of the college faculty members in solving the problems involved in following out the recent state law requiring teaching of American history in the county schools. Also discussed were the problems of training and schools arising from the present emphasis on military education and indoctrination.

Seek Related Curricula

From the series of meetings between the college faculty and school administrators the group plans to develop a related curriculum program in which the college education will be the natural completion of the courses started in the lower grades of the schools. Possibility of individual guidance, by means of files kept on the progress and abilities of students, was first made through college from last grade plans for giving further instruction to teachers during the regular school year. Plans were also discussed for studying current social, economic and political problems in college and in adult classes.

Father And Son Win Scout Badges

Joseph Stevenson, scoutmaster for the Cashtown troop of the Boy Scouts, and his son, Joseph, Jr., a member of the troop, received most of the awards handed out at a district Court of Honor session held Tuesday evening at the court house.

First class merit badge awards, went to Joseph Sr., for forestry, conservation and bird study. His son was handed badges for handicraft, angling and marksmanship. Stewart Klinefelter of Troop 80 was given a second class merit badge for handicraft.

After the court session motion pictures, provided by the York-Adams area scout office at York, were shown.

100TH BIRTHDAY IS MARKED BY COUNTY NATIVE

Joseph L. Myers, who was born near Gettysburg and spent the first 23 years of his life in this section, observed his 100th birthday anniversary Sunday at his home at Mission, Texas, in the lower Rio Grande valley where he has resided in recent years.

Mr. Myers' most recent visit to Gettysburg was in 1938 when he attended the last reunion of the Blue and Gray here. He was accompanied by his daughter.

A son of the late Benjamin and Eliza Lease Myers, he was born two miles east of here along the York road on February 20, 1844. Mr. Myers went to Illinois in 1867 and then to Marshalltown, Iowa; to Texas in 1881; to Caldwell, Kansas; to Oklahoma, and finally to Mission, Texas, in the grapefruit and orange section of the Lone Star state. His wife died in 1895 in Caldwell, Kansas.

Rode With Sheridan
During the last two years of the Civil war he served in Gen. Philip Sheridan's 12th Pennsylvania Cavalry and campaigned through Virginia.

He is active in veterans' and fraternal orders in Mission. By trade a carpenter and wheelwright, he is in good health and is spry and "enjoying life."

Mr. Myers has visited in Gettysburg on a number of occasions. Mrs. Erle R. Deardorff, Carlisle street, is a grand niece. Another relation in this community is Calvin Fissel, Gettysburg R. 1, a brother of Mrs. Deardorff.

Knouse Corporation Receives WFA "A" Award For "Outstanding Achievement" During Year

800 Employees Receive Pins Symbolic of Participation In Effort

In the presence of representatives of the Army and Navy and civilian institutions and organizations from many parts of the county, the Knouse Corporation of Peach Glen and its 800 employees were presented with the War Food Administration "A" award for outstanding achievement at brief but impressive exercises conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Arendtsville high school building.

The award, which speakers said is comparable to the Army-Navy "E" and to the Distinguished Service Medal for men in the armed forces, was conferred before an audience of employees and guests of the Knouse Corporation that jam-packed the school auditorium.

Signal Honor

The honor given the Knouse Corporation for its food production records at the Peach Glen and Chambersburg plants was the first of its kind in the county, the second in the state and the third in all of eastern United States and possibly in the nation.

The WFA conferred a similar award to the H. J. Heinz Corporation at Chambersburg Tuesday morning. WFA representatives at Arendtsville Tuesday said only one other such award has been given in this region which covers the eastern seaboard. They knew of no other earlier award of its kind anywhere in the United States, they said.

Judge W. C. Sheely, chairman of the Civil Defense council of the county, presided at the ceremonies in which representatives of the Army, Navy, and Knouse management and employees took part. After the program M. E. Knouse, president of the company, invited the audience to the company for refreshments and for an evening program of entertainment.

Given Flag, Pins

Formal presentation of the "A" flag, bearing a large "A" circled by a head of grain and a machine cog with a white star in an upper corner of the deep green background, was made by Captain C. E. Leavitt, executive officer at the Mechanicsburg Naval depot.

The citation accompanying the pins now worn by all Knouse employees was made by Barr V. Washburn, deputy director of the north-eastern region of the office of distribution of the WFA in New York city.

County Is Honored

While the band from the 55th College Training Detachment at Gettysburg college played "Anchors Aweigh," the new banner was run up a flagpole at the front of the auditorium. Similar awards in future years will bring the addition of stars on the green flag.

The exercises opened promptly at 5 p. m. after a preliminary band concert with the singing of one stanza of "America."

In his preliminary remarks, Judge Sheely told Knouse corporation officials and employees they may feel "justly proud" of the service they have performed for the war effort. "You have honored yourselves, and the people of Adams county," he declared. "By your industry you have earned the highest award your government can confer upon you and it is fitting that both management and employees be honored."

"Outstanding Citizen"

He paid tribute both to the "intelligence, industry and loyalty" of the company's workers and to "an intelligent, sympathetic and far-seeing management" that made possible the achievement for which the company was honored. He paid a special tribute to Mr. Knouse as "one of the outstanding citizens of Adams county."

Judge Sheely presented Captain Leavitt, a veteran of 35 years' service in the U. S. Navy. The Navy officer listed food as a "decisive weapon of war." He continued:

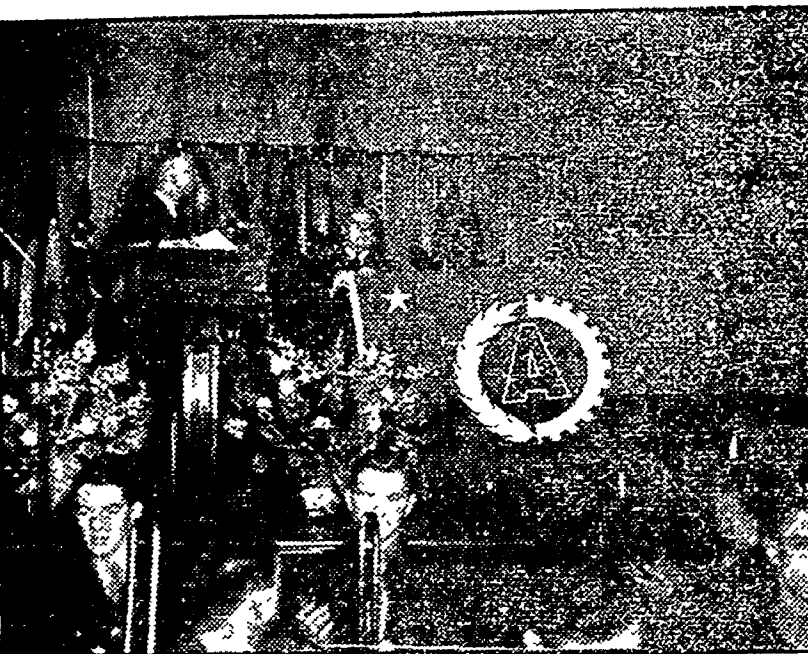

"All the weapons in the world would be of no avail if our fighting men lacked food. The average service man eats 50 cents more per day than the average civilian and every victory adds to the number of hungry people to be fed abroad. Food also must be supplied for many of our allies and for our own civilians. Your achievement is deserving of the highest praise. More than 60 per cent of the products of the Knouse corporation goes to the armed forces and they rate among the highest in quality. You have done more than your share. Your work has been in keeping with the best American traditions of hard work and initiative."

"A Job Well Done"

Holding the WFA "A" award banner are (left to right): M. E. Knouse, corporation President; Barr V. Washburn, deputy regional director for the WFA; Mrs. Pauline Nell, a representative of the employees; and Capt. C. E. Leavitt, executive officer from the Mechanicsburg Naval Depot who formally presented the flag.

Immediately after the presentation by Capt. Leavitt (left), Mr. Knouse and Miss Katherine Golden, a company employee, are shown holding the WFA banner awarded for outstanding achievement in food processing. In the foreground may be seen several of the members of the 55th College Training Detachment band from Gettysburg college which furnished music for the ceremonies.

Here Miss Norma Crum, secretary to Mr. Knouse, is being presented with her "A" award pin by Richard Shelton, a WFA official, while three company employees, Blair Biesecker, Samuel Miller and Joseph Harter, look on.

and handed it to Mr. Knouse and to Miss Katherine Golden, a representative of the employees. Then as the band played the Navy song in deference to Captain Leavitt, two cadets ran the new banner to the top of the improvised pole.

In his formal acceptance speech, Mr. Knouse thanked the WFA and declared his company and workers "find satisfaction in a job well done and a new challenge to further aid the war effort in the production of food."

He predicted more acute man-power shortages but urged his workers to meet the emergency by "patience, your spirit and the courage of our boys at the front. Let us give our armed forces to make sure that when they return they may know we contributed to their victory." Reporting that plans are being made now for 1944 production he called for close cooperation between grower, processor and labor to meet new high WFA goals for the year.

"A Grateful Nation"

Deputy Director Washburn in his speech preliminary to the awarding of "A" pins to Knouse employees told the audience that food is as important in this war as planes and ammunition.

It is the job of the WFA to produce, process and deliver at the right place and the right time the food that is necessary for our armed forces, our civilians, our allies and for needy people in liberated areas. Every food industry worker helps win that victory. A grateful nation appreciates your important contribution here today.

As he handed pins to Miss Golden, Edward Staub, Blair Biesecker, Mrs. Pauline Nell, Samuel Miller and Joseph Harter, employee representatives who occupied seats on the platform, all of the Knouse employees in the auditorium rose and pinned on their own awards.

Edward Staub spoke on behalf of the employees and declared all were "thankful we have been of some help to the war effort." Expressing the hope that a similar award may be won this year, Mr. Staub declared that "labor today is taking a just pride in its achievements."

The exercises closed with the sing-

DROP COUNTY RATION BOARD

Elimination of the county War Price and Rationing board which was formed in December, 1941, to set up local boards and has left most important duties to those groups since that time, was announced Thursday by local rationing officials.

Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., chairman of the county board since its formation, has been designated as "county coordinator and chairman of the board for western Adams county and Gettysburg. The change actually represents little more than a shift of titles for Mr. McPherson's present duties under the new setup, are the same as those he performed while officially the county chairman.

Terms of H. B. Pearson, York Springs, a former associate judge, and Henry S. Stover, Littlestown, a former county jury commissioner, other members of the county board, have ended.

Mr. McPherson's appointment as chairman of the Gettysburg board fills a position which has been vacant for the greater part of the time since Dr. H. C. Allemen resigned. Peter F. Smith, McSherrytown, continues as chairman of the New Oxford board.

Car Destroyed In $1,000 Blaze

Fire, apparently started either by a short circuit in a car or by a spark from its exhaust, caused $1,000 damage to the property of William Sheaffer, Gardners R. D., shortly after 12 o'clock Saturday morning.

Destroyed in the conflagration were a small garage, a number of paper shingles and Sheaffer's car which he had parked in the garage a few hours before upon returning home from a trip. Damage to the car was estimated at $500 by the members of the Benderville fire company. $140 worth of paper shingles were burned and the garage and tool shed was valued at $360. The Benderville fire company was called and saved adjacent buildings. The structure was nearly destroyed by the time Mr. Sheaffer was awakened by the blaze.

ing of "The Star Spangled Banner," Entertainment Provided

Platform guests included E. A. Muever, former official of the C. H. Muever company at Biglerville and now chairman of the industry operations branch of the WFA; Harrison F. Snyder, chairman of the Adams County AAA committee and the county War board, and Stanton House, district commander of the American Legion posts of Adams, Franklin and York counties.

Baskets of cut flowers lined the front of the platform while along the back were arranged the flags of the United Nations. The flags were secured from Post No. 127 of the American Legion in York.

Arendtsville high school girls served the throng and then there were selections by the Arendtsville male quartet including Edwin A. Rice, A. D. Sheely, George Boyer and R. R. Criswell. Then an hour's showing of newscasts was provided by the WFA.

Guests included heads of farm and fruit growers' organizations in the county, presidents of local civic organizations, and representatives of many businesses affiliated with the food and food processing businesses in this area.

The second Adams county food processing plant to receive the "A" award will be the B. F. Schriver company with plants at Littlestown and in Maryland. The presentation will be made at Westminster, Maryland, at noon Saturday before a large gathering of invited guests that will include state, federal and local officials. The company's main office is located at Westminster. The Vincener company at Hanover also is scheduled to receive an "A" within the next two weeks.

Miss Betty Hand Enlists In WAVES

Miss Betty Marie Hand, daughter of Mrs. Marie Hand, 1 Steinwehr avenue, was sworn into service with the WAVES at York Wednesday. She expects to be called for active duty in March at which time she will be sent to Hunter college, New York, for training.

A brother, Second Lt. Robert Hand, is serving with the Marines in the Hawaiian Islands.

YOUTH WINS 2 PRIZES BASED ON BOOK WORK

Prizes of $5 in cash and a $25 war bond were presented to Horace Waybright, Gettysburg high school senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Waybright, Gettysburg R. 1, at the annual dinner meeting of the Adams county members of the National Farm Loan association, Wednesday evening, at Mrs. Smith's restaurant.

The awards were made on the basis of the selection of Waybright's farm record books as the finest submitted by any farm boy in Perry, Cumberland, Franklin, York, Adams and Fulton counties. The cash award was given for the county achievement while the bond represented the award for the six-county title. The presentations were made by E. E. Hoover, secretary-treasurer of the Carlisle Production Credit association, in behalf of that organization and the National Farm Loan association.

Elect M. T. Walter
About 40 members and guests attended the dinner and business session that followed with C. Baker Bernhart, York, secretary-treasurer of the National Farm Loan association for this county, presiding.

During the business meeting John Knox, Gettysburg R. D., was re-elected as a director and Kenneth D. Bream, Gettysburg R. D., was selected as a new member of the board. Both will serve for three-year terms. Other directors are George Motter, Littlestown; Samuel Wolf, New Oxford, and M. T. Walter, Biglerville.

At an organization meeting of the board after the general meeting Mr. Walter was elected as the new president; Mr. Knox, vice president; Mr. Bernhart, secretary-treasurer, and Marian Souders, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Bank Official Speaks

Principal speaker for the meeting was Charles W. Held, assistant secretary of the Federal Land bank of Baltimore. He traced the development of the land bank and predicted a great influx of loan applications from young farmers after the war.

Other speakers included: D. E. Hess, of the U. S. Farm Forestry service who urged farmers to handle their woodlands so that annual crops of timber may be harvested; County Agent M. T. Hartman who praised production achievements of county farmers; and Harrison F. Snyder, county AAA chairman who described the 1944 program and spoke briefly of military deferments for farm workers.

HOLD HEARINGS ON ROAD CASES

The second in a series of three hearings before boards of view on damages caused to three properties along the Gettysburg-Littlestown highway in the course of the relocation of that road several years ago was held Thursday at the law library in the court house.

While no estimate of the amount of damage was made by the owner of the property, Howard Kime, Gettysburg R. D., at Thursday's hearing estimates ranging from $1,000 to $2,000 were put forth by real estate dealers and others testifying. The board of view, sitting in the case included Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., LeRoy H. Winebrenner and Edward Wright. Mr. Kime's property was left lower than the level of the road as a result of the relocation.

At Wednesday's hearing C. W. Strickwaser, Gettysburg R. D., claimed damages of approximately $6,000 to his property which was left high above the road by the relocation. The board of view in that hearing was Attorney Bigham, plus S. Orner and Fred Riley.

The hearing at the law library Friday morning at 10 a. m. will be on damages to the property of Curtis Kime, adjoining the Howard Kime property and also left lower than the level of the road by the relocation.

List Bond Buying Pupils For Week

Prof. Paul Mehring, principal of the Lincoln school building, today advised Mrs. A. E. Harrison Barr, who is chairman of the school committee of the women's division in the Fourth War Bond drive, that 14 students purchased bonds during the past week.

Those making purchases included Patricia Gleim, William Meals, Margaret Bushman, Elaine Young, Robert Shealer, Darlene Shorman, Robert Wolfe, Jack Settle, Mary Bower, Marianne Bracey, Ralph Siler, Howard Sheets, Ross Crouse and Richard Arndt.

800 FARMERS PLEDGE AID TO RETURNING VETS

The 800 members of the Adams County Farm Bureau pledged themselves Wednesday afternoon to "work actively to provide opportunity for the employment of service men on their return to this community" at the conclusion of their tenth annual meeting at the Gettysburg high school auditorium.

R. N. Benjamin, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, Harrisburg, at the same time told the members that the cooperative idea is "the only pattern which is adaptable nationally and internationally as a post war pattern to bring peace," and that "the more government control there is in the post war economy, the sooner the next war will come."

Improve Services

The members urged "the Farm Bureau management to take every possible advantage for development during the war and the post war period, and urged that plans be made to meet the needs of the farm people so that by expansion of membership, improvement of services offered and increase of the number of types of goods offered the bureau can serve the county even better than at present."

"The cooperative also resolved to 'fight national moves to pass legislation adverse to the cooperative movement.'"

Mr. Benjamin, told the group that "What you are doing here and what cooperatives are doing throughout the nation is an example of what people can do for themselves when they get together in a cooperative movement and do not depend upon subsidies and other outside help."

"Potent Force"

"Besides being of monetary benefit to the people whom it serves, the cooperative is also the most potent force in the country to give people the 'know-how' to operate a democracy."

"The remainder of the world is going on the theory that nations should give more and more responsibility to fewer and fewer people. That is the trend of the times. The cooperative is different. It spreads the responsibility and ownership. It forces people to take the responsibility for their own actions. It is democracy in action."

"Peace From People"

"The cooperatives establish the only pattern of which I know which is adaptable nationally and internationally as a post-war pattern of how people could work together in the exchange of goods and services on a fair basis to make possible an extended peace. Peace must come from the people. It will not come from governments and from international relationships and techniques as we have known them."

"One other thing, the more government control there will be in the post-war economy, the sooner the next war will come. If we expect to have a peace that is lasting, then the people of all nations must share in the ownership of their nations, their homes and their businesses. No people will destroy what it owns. But a dictator who controls everything is willing to sacrifice the nation's welfare for his personal gain. The individuals of such a nation have nothing to loose, for they do not own anything. Such conditions breed wars."

Praises Local Co-op

Mr. Benjamin praised the Adams county cooperative for its "splendid showing during the past year."

Howard Schwartz, Edward Taubman and Millard Stoner comprised the resolutions committee for the session while the nominating committee comprised E. W. Veneer, J. B. Collins and Clarence Waybright.

Miss Elizabeth Woods, Gettysburg R. D., reported on activities of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Farm Bureau. County Agent M. T. Hartman termed the establishment of "sound cooperatives one of the best means of helping the farmer" in a brief talk. Two one-act plays, "Billy's First Date" and "Moon Signs," were presented by the Gettysburg high school dramatic society under the direction of Miss Ruth McIlhenny during the afternoon session. A concert was presented by the Gettysburg high school band under the direction of Prof. Edwin Longenecker.

Health and Accident and Workmen's compensation insurance were added to the Farm Bureau lines of insurance during the last year. Jennings B. Collins, manager, said in his annual report.

Local Paintings In Hagerstown Display

Three Gettysburg artists have had pictures hung in the twelfth annual exhibition of the Cumberland Valley Artists in the Washington county museum of fine arts at Hagerstown. The display opened January 30 and will close February 28, being followed by a photographic exhibit.

Two oil paintings, "Mead's Headquarters at Gettysburg" by Miss Anna E. Mumper, and "Canadian Poplars, Quebec," by Frederick A. Kurtz, both of Gettysburg, and a pastel titled "Tea Time," by Mrs. Dunning Idle, Jr., Baltimore street, are on display there.

COUNTY SCHOOL HEADS, COLLEGE FACULTY MEET

Possible establishment of a two- or three-year study on problems of consolidation, curriculum revision and adult education was discussed Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Council of Public School administration with members of the faculty of Gettysburg college at the SCA building.

In-service training of teachers, methods of making Gettysburg college a community "education" center and a "people's college," individual guidance of students and related curriculum programs for teachers in the public schools and college were among the matters discussed by the educators at a meeting on the general subject of "How Can a Mutually Advantageous Relationship Be Made Between Gettysburg College and the Secondary Schools of Adams County." The discussion was begun by the reading of an informal paper on the subject by Guile W. Lefever, principal of Gettysburg high school.

"Recognizing that in Adams county the program for elementary grades through college is not functioning as a unit," as one of the educators expressed it, "meetings are being held to furnish a greater degree of integration in the whole broad program of education in the county."

The public school educators pointed out that the youth problem should be of as much concern to the college as to the public school administrators and that the college should be interested in farmers, fruit growers and mechanics because "they form the background of the community."

Plans for a series of related curriculum programs, in which teachers of various subjects in the county schools will meet with teachers of the same subjects in college, were discussed.

The public school men also sought the aid of the college faculty members in solving the problems involved in following out the recent state law requiring teaching of American history in the county schools. Also discussed were the problems of training for critical thinking in the colleges and schools arising from the present emphasis on military education and indoctrination.

Seek Related Curricula

From the series of meetings between the college faculty and school administrators the group plans to develop a related curriculum program in which the college education will be the natural completion of the courses started in the lower grades of the schools. Possibility of individual guidance, by means of files kept on the progress and abilities of students from first grade through college was outlined as were plans for giving further instruction to teachers during the regular school year. Plans were also discussed for studying current social, economic and political problems in college and in adult classes.

Father And Son Win Scout Badges

Joseph Stevenson, scoutmaster for the Cashtown troop of the Boy Scouts, and his son, Joseph, Jr., a member of the troop, received most of the awards handed out at a district Court of Honor session held Tuesday evening at the court house.

First class merit badge awards went to Joseph Sr., for forestry, conservation and bird study. His son was handed badges for handicraft, angling and marksmanship. Stewart Klinefelter of Troop 80 was given a second class merit badge for handicraft.

After the court session motion pictures, provided by the York-Adams area scout office at York, were shown.

100TH BIRTHDAY IS MARKED BY COUNTY NATIVE

Joseph L. Myers, who was born near Gettysburg and spent the first 23 years of his life in this section, observed his 100th birthday anniversary Sunday at his home at Mission, Texas, in the lower Rio Grande valley where he has resided in recent years.

Mr. Myers' most recent visit to Gettysburg was in 1938 when he attended the last reunion of the Blue and Gray here. He was accompanied by his daughter.

A son of the late Benjamin and Eliza Lease Myers, he was born two miles east of here along the York road on February 20, 1844. Mr. Myers went to Illinois in 1867 and then to Marshalltown, Iowa; to Texas in 1881; to Caldwell, Kansas; to Oklahoma, and finally to Mission, Texas, in the grapefruit and orange section of the Lone Star state. His wife died in 1895 in Caldwell, Kansas.

Rode With Sheridan

During the last two years of the Civil war he served in Gen. Philip Sheridan's 12th Pennsylvania cavalry and campaigned through Virginia.

He is active in veterans' and fraternal orders in Mission. By trade a carpenter and wheelwright, he is in good health and is spry and "enjoying life."

Mr. Myers has visited in Gettysburg on a number of occasions. Mrs. Erle R. Deardoff, Carlisle street, is a grand niece. Another relation in this community is Calvin Fissel, Gettysburg R. 1, a brother of Mrs. Deardoff.

Knouse Corporation Receives WFA "A" Award For "Outstanding Achievement" During Year

800 Employees Receive Pins Symbolic of Participation In Effort

In the presence of representatives of the Army and Navy and civilian institutions and organizations from many parts of the county, the Knouse Corporation of Peach Glen and its 800 employees were presented with the War Food Administration "A" award for outstanding achievement at brief but impressive exercises conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Arendtsville high school building.

The award, which speakers said is comparable to the Army-Navy "E" and to the Distinguished Service Medal for men in the armed forces, was conferred before an audience of employees and guests of the Knouse Corporation that jam-packed the school auditorium.

Signal Honor

The honor given the Knouse Corporation for its food production records at the Peach Glen and Chambersburg plants was the first of its kind in the county, the second in the state and the third in all of eastern United States and possibly in the nation.

The WFA conferred a similar award to the H. J. Heinz Corporation at Chambersburg Tuesday morning. WFA representatives at Arendtsville Tuesday said only one other such award has been given in this region which covers the eastern seaboard. They knew of no other earlier award of its kind anywhere in the United States, they said.

Judge W. C. Sheely, chairman of the Civilian Defense council of the county, presided at the ceremonies in which representatives of the Army, Navy, and Knouse management and employees took part. After the program M. E. Knouse, president of the company, invited the audience to remain for refreshments and for an evening program of entertainment.

Given Flag, Pins

Formal presentation of the "A" flag, bearing a large "A" circled by a head of grain and a machine cog with a white star in an upper corner of the deep green background, was made by Captain C. E. Leavitt, executive officer at the Mechanicsburg Naval depot.

The citation accompanying the pins now worn by all Knouse employees was made by Barr V. Washburn, deputy director of the northeastern region of the office of distribution of the WFA in New York City.

County Is Honored

While the band from the 55th College Training Detachment at Gettysburg college played "Anchors Aweigh," the new banner was run up a flagpole at the front of the auditorium. Similar awards in future years will bring the addition of stars on the green flag.

The exercises opened promptly at 5 p. m. after a preliminary band concert with the singing of one stanza of "America."

In his preliminary remarks, Judge Sheely told Knouse corporation officials and employees they may feel "justly proud" of the service they have performed for the war effort. "You have honored yourselves and the people of Adams county," he declared. "By your industry you have earned the highest award your government can confer upon you and it is fitting that both management and employees be honored."

"Outstanding Citizen"

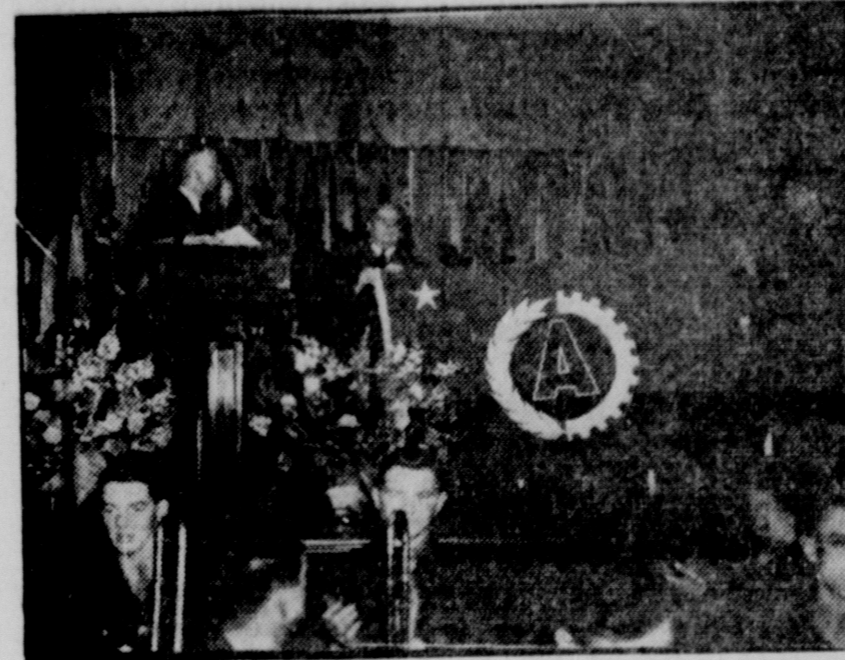

He paid tribute both to the "intelligence, industry and loyalty" of the company's workers and to "an intelligent, sympathetic and far-seeing management" that made possible the achievement for which the company was honored. He paid a special tribute to Mr. Knouse as "one of the outstanding citizens of Adams county."

Judge Sheely presented Captain Leavitt, a veteran of 35 years' service in the U. S. Navy. The Navy officer listed food as a "decisive weapon of war." He continued: "All the weapons in the world would be of no avail if our fighting men lacked food. The average service man eats 50 per cent more per day than the average civilian and every victory adds to the number of hungry people to be fed abroad. Food also must be supplied for many of our allies and for our own civilians. Your achievement is deserving of the highest praise. More than 60 per cent of the products of the Knouse corporation goes to the armed forces and they rate among the highest in quality. You have done more than your share. Your work has been in keeping with the best American traditions of hard work and initiative."

"A Job Well Done"

Holding the WFA "A" award banner are (left to right): M. E. Knouse, corporation President; Barr V. Washburn, deputy regional director for the WFA; Mrs. Pauline Nell, a representative of the employees; and Capt. C. E. Leavitt, executive officer from the Mechanicsburg Naval Depot who formally presented the flag.

Immediately after the presentation by Capt. Leavitt (left), Mr. Knouse and Miss Katherine Golden, a company employee, are shown holding the WFA banner awarded for outstanding achievement in food processing. In the foreground may be seen several of the members of the 55th College Training Detachment band from Gettysburg college which furnished music for the ceremonies.

Here Miss Norma Crum, secretary to Mr. Knouse, is being presented with her "A" award pin by Richard Shelton, a WFA official, while three company employees, Blair Biesecker, Samuel Miller and Joseph Harter, look on.

and handed it to Mr. Knouse and to Miss Katherine Golden, a representative of the employees. Then as the band played the Navy song in deference to Captain Leavitt, two cadets ran the new banner to the top of the improvised pole.

In his formal acceptance speech, Mr. Knouse thanked the WFA and declared his company and workers "find satisfaction in a job well done and a new challenge to further aid the war effort in the production of food."

He predicted more acute manpower shortages but urged his workers to meet the emergency by "patronizing your spirit after the courage of our boys at the front. Let us give our armed forces no cause to doubt our support and let us make sure that when they return they may know we contributed to their victory." Reporting that plans are being made now for 1944 production, he called for close cooperation between grower, processor and labor to meet new high WFA goals for the year.

"A Grateful Nation"

Deputy Director Washburn in his speech preliminary to the awarding of "A" pins to Knouse employees told the audience that food is as important in this war as planes and ammunition.

"It is the job of the WFA to produce, process and deliver at the right place and the right time the food that is necessary for our armed forces, our civilians, our allies and for needy people in liberated areas. Every food industry worker helps win that victory. A grateful nation appreciates your important contribution here."

As he handed pins to Miss Golden, Edward Staub, Blair Biesecker, Mrs. Pauline Nell, Samuel Miller and Joseph Harter, employee representatives who occupied seats on the platform, all of the Knouse employees in the auditorium rose and pinned on their own awards.

Edward Staub spoke on behalf of the employees and declared all were "thankful we have been of some help to the war effort." Expressing the hope that a similar award may be won this year, Mr. Staub declared that "labor today is taking a just pride in its achievements."

Mr. Knouse then thanked employee committees who planned and carried out many of the arrangements for Tuesday's activities. He invited employees and guests to remain for a platter luncheon, ice cream and coffee and for entertainment later in the evening.

The exercises closed with the sing-

MAROONS WHIP TORNADO FOR 12TH VICTORY

Coach Mel Dry's Gettysburg high netmen won their twelfth victory of the season Friday night by smothering Waynesboro high on the latter's court 49-36 to ring down the curtain on the Southern Pennsylvania league race.

George Fair, who has been hitting the hoops with regularity in recent weeks, led the assault with 17 tallies while Bobby March accounted for 14.

The Maroons led throughout but were forced to put on a spurt in the third period to sew up the decision. Gettysburg led 13-9 at the close of the first period but in the second quarter the Tornado rallied to cut the Maroon margin to 22-21 at half time. Coach Dry's lads took complete control of the game in the second half and won going away.

The Northern Division of the South Penn race was thrown into a tie when Carlisle high downed Hershey 45-31 in a game at Carlisle Friday evening. Carlisle and Hershey will now be forced to stage a playoff for the division title, the winner to meet unbeaten Chambersburg for the league title.

Roger Smith's Maroon scrubs won easily from the Waynesboro Jayvees 38-32. At half time the locals led 21-12. Saylor and Heintzelman, with 11 and 10 points, respectively, topped the Maroon scorers.

LINCOLN FIVE DEFEATS FROSH

Coach Paul Mehring's Lincoln school basketball team closed its season Wednesday afternoon by defeating the Gettysburg high school freshman class varsity team 28-27.

The Lincoln school lads were forced to come from behind to win and it required an extra period to turn the trick. At half time the frosh led 14-6 but in the last period the grade school youngsters tallied 12 points to knot the count at 26-all.

Shaner paced the victors with 11 points while Hess loomed nine for the freshmen.

The victory gives the Lincolnians a record of four wins and four defeats.

BULLETS' SPURT TOPS MAROONS; ANGELS WINGED

After setting the pace for more than three-quarters of the game, the Gettysburg high cagers fell apart in the final period and dropped a 35-30 decision to the Gettysburg college freshmen on the college court Wednesday evening.

It marked the fifth defeat of the season for the Maroons who close their season here Friday evening by entertaining Delone Catholic high.

Close guarding featured the first half when scoring was at a minimum. It took about two minutes of play before Martini scored on a short toss and about two minutes later March connected on a one-handed stab. Sheppard landed a close throw and Fair duplicated.

March sent the Maroons out in front with a long goal. Gorman netted a foul which was soon followed by a goal by Martini. March and Fair landed long throws and just before the period ended Changlin looped a free toss to cut the Maroons' lead to 11-7 at the quarter.

Close Guarding

Little scoring resulted in the second period. Allison looped a long toss and Fair converted two free tosses. Sheppard and Changlin sank successive shots and just before the half ended Fidler netted a one-hander to put high school on top 15-13.

The third period was nip and tuck the whole way and several times the score was deadlocked. Just before the round ended Fair and March sank double-deckers to put the Dry-men in front 28-24.

Coach Bream's lads put on a fast finish in the final period. The Bullets rolled up nine straight points before Fair netted a goal after six minutes of play elapsed. The collegians began to stall in the final minutes and as a result Allison and Orth drew fouls and both made good.

Bobby March was high man for the evening with 14 points. Allison and Orth did all the scoring for the Bullets in the final round and their quartet of goals sewed up the victory.

Teachers Prevail

In the preliminary affair the Shippensburg State Teachers' college quintet won the rubber game of a three-game series with the Lutheran Theological seminary five by a 41-35 score.

The first half was hotly contested and the Angels led 20-18 at intermission. However, in the third period the visitors took over the lead and maintained a slight advantage to the end.

McClellan and Eubley, with 17 and 15 points respectively, led the teachers, while Smith racked up 14 for the Angels.

Lee Handley Has Signed With Pirates

Pittsburgh, Feb. 22 (AP)—Veteran infielder Lee Handley, who has been out of the major leagues since injuring his throwing arm in 1941, returned his signed contract to the Pittsburgh Pirates with a note that his arm "never was in better shape" and that he's ready for the 1944 season.

Handley, whom the Bucs gave a $20,000 bonus for signing after he was made a free agent in 1936, was with Toronto in the International league last year.

New York, (AP)—Wendell Wilkie returned Tuesday from a cross-country tour during which he announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination. His only comment as he left the train from Chicago was that he had "an enjoyable trip."

Jockey Plays Hunch In $25,000 Race

New Orleans, Feb. 19 (AP)—Jockey Jack Westrope will be riding a $25,000 hunch in the $25,000-added New Orleans handicap at the Fair Grounds this afternoon.

Rand Coward gave Westrope a release recently from an agreement to ride Marriage in the rich mile and a sixteenth test for three-year-olds and up. Westrope subsequently accepted the offer of Mrs. Edward Mulrean, who wanted him to chauffeur her First Fiddle, the likely favorite.

The winning jockey's share of the handicap is two and a half grand, and should temperamental Old Marriage romp to victory, it presumably will knock a considerable dimple in Jack's self-confidence as a business man.

MAROONS WHIP TORNADO FOR 12TH VICTORY

Coach Mel Dry's Gettysburg high netmen won their twelfth victory of the season Friday night by smothering Waynesboro high on the latter's court 49-36 to ring down the curtain on the Southern Pennsylvania league race.

George Fair, who has been hitting the hoops with regularity in recent weeks, led the assault with 17 tallies while Bobby March accounted for 14.

The Maroons led throughout but were forced to put on a spurt in the third period to sew up the decision. Gettysburg led 13-9 at the close of the first period but in the second quarter the Tornado rallied to cut the Maroon margin to 22-21 at half time. Coach Dry's lads took complete control of the game in the second half and won going away.

The Northern Division of the South Penn race was thrown into action when Carlisle high downed Hershey 45-31 in a game at Carlisle Friday evening. Carlisle and Hershey will now be forced to stage a playoff for the division title, the winner to meet unbeaten Chambersburg for the league title.

Roger Smith's Maroon scrubs won easily from the Waynesboro jayvees 38-32. At half time the locals led 21-12. Saylor and Heintzelman, with 11 and 10 points, respectively, topped the Maroon scorers.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

ASH WEDNESDAY

Ashes upon the head
As sorrow for our sins.
Now let our prayers be said
As Lent again begins.

Ashes! A custom old
By which remorse was signified
For members of the fold
For sins of every kind.

So in this troubled year,
With God and right assailed,
May our remorse appear
If we, somehow, have failed.

If we the hand have stayed,
Or followed a paltry bent,
Or faltered or delayed,
Let us today repent!

QUATRAINS

CHARACTER

With what we are from day to day
And what we say and all we do
The body's flesh is worn away
To let the soul shine through.

BOOKS

Books are quiet friends who wait
Our presence upon shelf or rack.
They're glad to see us, soon or late,
But never slap us on the back!

HATS

Of hats, since first the styles began,
Opinions have been two:
An old hat is best loved by man;
By woman, it's the new.

ALL IT TAKES

With two minutes left to spare
(Five would serve you better),
To some lonely friend somewhere
You could write a letter.

AIR WACS

Oh, if I were a maiden fair,
Say twenty-two or three,
With none who looked to me for care,
An Air Corps WAC I'd be.

Were I as slender, straight and tall
And half as good to see
As those who last week came to call,
An Air Corps WAC I'd be.

Oh, had I eyes as clear and bright
As those which smiled on me,
And teeth as straight and pearly white,
An Air Corps WAC I'd be.

But I am much too old and stout
To fly or go to sea,
And so at home must sit about
And wholly useless be.

For this is what the WACs declare
To ladies the world around:
"You man the ships and guard the air
And we will guard the ground."

("This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased!"—Mat. 17:5.)
AUGUSTINE WASHINGTON
As once at Jordan from the skies
A voice by John was heard,
If fathers of good sons could speak,
Would not all hearts be stirred?

Would not they tell us: There's no pride or joy of gain or deed
Like that of having lived to see
The son they've loved succeed.

Of Augustine they'll little find who
Who for the father looks.
Of him there's scarce a paragraph
In history's many books.
Yet, like the Father of us all
Who gave the world a Son,
How great the pride of him must be
Who fathered Washington!

To be the father of a man! What better joy could be?
To tell: "My son reached heights of fame that were denied to me!"
Would not all fathers given the choice
Pass gladly fortune by?
To say: "Tis my beloved son,
In whom well pleased am I?"

Word has been received of the safe arrival of Pfc. Stanley A. Starner somewhere in North Africa.

Mrs. Henry Thomas, East Middle street, received word today of the safe arrival of her son, Pvt. Francis B. Thomas, somewhere in England.
T. Sgt. Richard M. Culp, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Merle Culp, Florida Dale, has arrived safely somewhere in England.

Flashes Of Life

MONEY RUNNER

Meriden, Conn. (AP)—Paul Ferrandi, testifying about the way he pursued a man accused of snatching his wife's purse, was asked by the defense attorney: "How fast can you run?"

"I can run very good for 500 yards," replied Ferrandi, who is 66.

INFLATIONARY NATIVE

Humboldt, Iowa. (AP)—Cpl. Richard Schlevert, home from the southwest Pacific, relates this merchandising sidelight:
An American soldier at Tulagi carved a pipe in his spare time, sold it to a native for $15.
The surew native displayed it to a second American who gladly bought it—for $75 and who still thinks he has a rare piece of native handicraft.

UNHURRIED REPENTANCE

Des Moines, (AP)—The Dime a Poik county jailer gave a prisoner for carfare upon his release 20 years ago has come back—with interest.

The letter returning the 10 cents also contained 20 other dimes and an explanation that they were for interest and that the former prisoner had been worried because he accepted the dime when he actually didn't need it since he had other money.

LEAP YEAR

Pottsville, Pa. (AP)—There'll be a celebration in the August home February 29 (that leap year date that comes only once in four years).
For both Mrs. Morris August and her daughter, Mrs. Horace Goodyear, it's a birthday.

WE TAKE A BOW

Hempstead, N. Y. (AP)—Kiwanis club members took a sixth-grade reading test.
Only person to score 100—a newspaperman.

REPAYMENT

Harvard, Neb. (AP)—Sgt. Leo F. Thompson from Princeton, Indiana, answered an appeal to donate blood to J. P. Rooney, a railroad engineer suffering from gastric hemorrhage.

Said Thompson: "Maybe this will repay in a small way what civilians are doing in donating blood for soldiers wounded in action."

INSULT TO INJURY

New York City (AP)—Thieves stole a car owned by James A. Watson, of nearby Yonkers, New York, while he was visiting here.
After reporting the loss to police, Watson started hitch-hiking home. The first car to come his way—and pass him—was his own.

MORE WAR HORSES

Kent, Conn. (AP)—Horse trading booms in wartime, reports Stephen Chase, veteran stock dealer who set a record for his career by selling 30 horses in one day last week.
His previous record—26 in one day—was set during World War I.

SHOULD BE WESTPORT, PA.

Williamsport, Pa. (AP)—East is east while west is confusing at the Sylvania Electric products plant here: Mrs. Margaret West is married to Employee Lloyd E. West and is secretary to Engineer Lloyd E. West who is married to Mrs. Margaret West—no relation to the first Mrs. West.

ECHO FROM THE PAST

Topeka, Kas. (AP)—Pete Reilly, a state employee, ran onto a clipping printed in an Abilene, Kansas, newspaper in 1878 which gave him an idea for selling war bonds.
Said the clipping:
"Hug socials are now the rage. It costs 10 cents to hug anyone between 15 and 20, five cents from 20 to 30, $1 to hug another man's wife, bachelor girls two for a nickel, and women lecturers free with a chromo thrown in."

SNACK THIEVES

Richmond, Ind. (AP)—Richmond police are looking for thieves who mixed pleasure with their work. The thieves tripped into a tavern, ate a snack, tripped at the bar, took $20, tripped off six cases of whiskey and disappeared in the dark.

WET STORAGE

Cherokee, Iowa (AP)—Parker Rutherford ordered 200 gallons of fuel oil for his new house. When it was delivered he found a man-hole and told the driver to put the fuel in there.
Rutherford now has 200 gallons of oil in his cistern.

SO NEAR—YET SO FAR

Williamsport, Pa. (AP)—An hour in his home town after a year without a furlough brought no happiness to Pvt. Howard C. Coles. He spent the time in a railroad yard aboard a train and couldn't even phone, he told his parents after his outfit reached its destination.

HAD IT COMING

Brantford, Conn. (AP)—This was one case of absenteeism that the Mailable Iron Filings company readily excused. Its secretary and assistant treasurer, Lester J. Nichols, asked for the day off, his first in months, explaining that he wanted to celebrate his birthday with his family. He is 95 years old and has been with the company 78 years.

The mill ground and milled 1,143 tons of grain, an increase of 443 tons over the previous year. Mr. Stambaugh reported. Present stockholder membership is 878.

The association paid out $16,059.54 in a 6.1 per cent dividend on the common stock and placed $10,464.37 in the reserve fund of the organization. Interest on outstanding common and preferred stock was also paid from the earnings. The balance sheet the last year shows that the ratio of total assets to total liabilities is now $6.67 to $1.

A. C. Keefe, president of the organization, presided at the session with approximately 350 in attendance.

Catholic Pupils Boost Bond Sales

Pupils at St. Francis Xavier's parochial school purchased $1,582.75 worth of war bonds and stamps during the past week, Miss Mary Eberhart, chairman of the school committee, announced last Friday.
This represents the largest amount of purchases made during any week of the Fourth War bond campaign and boosts the school's total sales to near the $4,000 mark.

Sales of bonds and stamps at the school since the inception of the current war bond drive now total $3,737.50. It includes $281.25 in stamps and $3,456.25 in bonds. Reports of other grade schools for the sale are not completed.

FARM IS SOLD

Sarah E. Stambaugh, York, sold to Harry E. and Hilda M. Freed, Hanover, a 51-acre farm in Reading township. The deed has been filed at the court house.

DIRECTOR RESIGNS

Dwight Siles, a member of the Freedom township board of school directors, has resigned that position, a school district officer said Wednesday. The position has not been filled.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I have again been transferred from one unit to another within the camp. My new address now is: Pfc. Donald M. Smith, Hq. & Hq. Det., 161st Ord. Bn., Camp Davis, North Carolina.

I have been assigned to the personnel section and do practically the same type of work as I previously did in the AATC headquarters. I also have charge of the office supply room, ordering and issuing the supplies.

On Monday morning the organization started its thirty-week basic specialized training program which we carry out from 7:30 a. m. to 8 p. m. with an hour off for lunch and dinner.

We start the day by taking half an hour of physical training each morning from 7:30 until 8 a. m., plus one hike a week. That is about all the actual physical training that we will get because our primary duty is taking care of the administrative work of other Ordnance units on the post.

Our organization is very small so it is a rather pleasant outfit to be with since we soon get to know everyone and we all live in the same barracks.

The Gettysburg Times has been reaching me regularly, usually at Tuesday noon, and I certainly do appreciate your generosity in sending it to me because there's nothing like the news from back home to perk up a soldier.

I want to thank you many times over for sending me the Gettysburg Times during the past year, and I know that that goes for all the other boys in the armed forces too.

A devoted reader,

PFC. DONALD SMITH

Dear Sir:

It is a pleasant treat to receive the Service Edition of The Gettysburg Times each week. Thank you. I am assigned to the Public Works Department, and my duties cover construction and maintenance work, which is not very exciting as far as the war goes, but it is a busy job.

Yours truly,
Lt. (jg) Lorin B. Partner,
B.O.C. Building 800,
Naval Air Station,
Jacksonville, Florida.

Dear Sir:

Thanks much for sending me the Times I sure appreciate it very much. I would have written before but we have been busy with our training. Now we are through training and waiting to take that long boat ride, and join our buddies, and our little bit to help end this miserable mess so all of us can be home once again to stay.

My address has been changed so many times I hardly keep up with it but still the good old Gettysburg Times came through. Again I want to thank you.

Your truly,
Albert L. Wolford,
Area B8-B109,
Camp Peary, Va.

Dear Sir:

To start out with I am not the type to write letters as you will see, but I do want to thank you for the paper which I have got every week since I came in the service. That is seven months ago. How times flies.

It sure seems funny not to see any snow. Today we had a heavy thunderstorm. It just poured down rain all afternoon. When it rains here it lasts for three days at the least. You can change my rating as I was made Carpenter Mate 3/c recently.

H. E. Wagner of the state police from Gettysburg is in my company now. Gee it sure is swell to have someone you know from good old Gettysburg.

Yours Truly,
Donald G. Jacobs C. M. 3/c
A.B.D. 117th Batt. C.O.D. Plat. 5
Gulfport, Mississippi

Dear Sir:

I'm sending you a picture of myself as I appeared in a bomb shattered photography building in a town somewhere in Italy. It sure would be a lot of good to see the Gettysburg Times once in a while. The last one I received was about six months ago.

I have seen quite a lot to talk about when I get home but cannot write about it now as it would be censored out anyway. In Africa I saw quite a lot of engagements with the enemy, and we have suffered just as severe assaults since we have landed in Italy.

I want to say "Hello" to my folks, my wife and all of my friends. Hope to return soon after the war is finished. I'm writing somewhere in Italy not too far from the front. I thank you.
Respectively,
Pfc. Melvin Spence.

Local Soldier Meets Countians In Ireland

Cpl. Eugene B. Miller, who is stationed somewhere in Ireland, in a letter to The Gettysburg Times, tells of having met four Adams countians at a dance recently.

His letter follows:

Dear Sir:
It's soon time I let my friends know how I'm getting along over here in Ireland. I was on a two-day pass recently and I met some of my buddies from my home town,

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Eleven months and seventeen days after he arrived in Gettysburg as one of the first Aviation Students of the 55th College Training Detachment, Aircrew, Army Air Forces, John M. Carmody, of Chicago, returned Sunday to his "Alma Mater of the War" with gold bars on his shoulders and silver wings on his left breast. . . a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. He received his commission at Freeman Field, Seymour, Indiana.

Today he reported to Westover Field, Mass.

Lieutenant Carmody arrived in Gettysburg with the first contingent of Aviation Students on March 3rd, 1943, from a southern camp. After completing the course here, where he received his first ten hours of flight instruction at the Gettysburg School of Aeronautics, he was sent to Nashville, Tenn., thence to Maxwell Field, Ala., Orangeburg, S. C., Shaw Field, S. C., and then to Freeman Field. He has been assigned to pilot duty on twin-engine pursuit ships.

He is the first graduate of the local Detachment to return here with silver wings and a commission. Others in the first group trained here have also been commissioned and are on assignment in the south.

Homemakers were urged today by the War Food Administration to make more extensive use of eggs in order to insure full utilization of this valuable food item in a period of seasonal abundance.

"A protective food, rich in protein, eggs are plentiful, unrationed and selling below ceiling prices," WFA said. "We owe it to ourselves and to the farmer who has done such a fine production job to make the best use of the available egg supply."

The overall supply of eggs for 1944 is expected to amount to more than five billion dozens.

SOLDIER LAUDS RED CROSS WORK

Seaman Donald Hubbard writes the following letter praising the work of the Red Cross:

Dear Sir:
The Red Cross is doing a great job here and overseas. There are several men here who were overseas and came back, and they told me about the Red Cross and what a great job they are doing, and I know myself that they are doing a great job. It doesn't matter what your trouble is the Red Cross is always willing to help you.

The Red Cross is one of the greatest things ever formed. If a soldier or sailor needs an emergency leave and the military authorities do not think it is necessary the Red Cross always tries its best and also in investigates the matter and if they think it is necessary, I know the military authorities will grant the leave to the person.

Sincerely,
Donald Hubbard S-2/c
Battalion 118, Company B-1
A. B. D. Gulf Port, Mississippi.

they are about thirty or forty miles from where I'm stationed. I met Cpl. Fred Slaght, from Biglerville, Pfc. Richard Shriver who is from Gettysburg and a Spalding boy from Gettysburg. I wanted to see a boy by the name of Kump but he happened to be at another place. I also met Jim Miller from Gettysburg. He isn't any relation, but when I shook hands with him it felt like he was my brother. I met the majority of these boys at a dance. Boy that sure is a thrill to shake hands with the boys you traveled with back home at one time.

Cpl. Fred H. Taylor was on pass with me and enjoyed meeting some of his friends also.

I've been overseas about six months and I'm ready to come back anytime now. I'm waiting for that day, when I can come home to my dearest wife and little son who is six months old.

As I must hurry along,
Yours truly,
Cpl. Eugene B. Miller.

Dear Sir:

First, I want to thank you very much for sending me the paper. It surely helps me to keep in touch with that part of the world back there. Since being over here I have met two boys from Gettysburg. They are Bernard Little who lives on York street, and Henry Yingling. Didn't have very much time to talk to them.

I enjoy very much reading letters from other soldiers that are printed in your newspaper. So I'll expect you put this one there. Good luck, to everybody.

Sincerely,
Pvt. John A. Miller,
c/o Postmaster,
New York City, New York.

SCHOLARSHIP EXAMS APRIL 1

The annual competitive examinations of St. Joseph's college, Emmitsburg, for full and partial scholarships will be held on April 1, at centers which will be designated later. All applications must be sent to the college by March 8.

The full scholarship valued at $3,000 and the partial scholarships at $1,200 are awarded after the competitive examinations on the basis of character, ability and scholastic excellence. These awards are made with the understanding that the recipient will meet the standards set by the college during her four years of residence. Application blanks and transcript forms may be secured upon request from the registrar.

St. Joseph's college for young women, conducted by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, offers a four years' course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science, and prepares the student for the following fields: classical, science, social science, technology, dietetics, home economics, secretarial science, teaching, and journalism. Pre-medical and pre-nursing courses are also offered.

Topeka, Kas. (AP)—Pete Reilly, a state employee, ran onto a clipping printed in an Abilene, Kansas, newspaper in 1878 which gave him an idea for selling war bonds.
Said the clipping:
"Hug soldiers are now the rage. It costs 10 cents to hug anyone between 15 and 20, five cents from 20 to 30, $1 to hug another man's wife, bachelor girls two for a nickel, and woman lecturers free with a chrome thrown in."

SNACK THIEVES
Richmond, Ind. (AP)—Richmond police are looking for thieves who mixed pleasure with their work. The thieves tripped into a tavern, ate a snack, tripped at the bar, took $20, trundled off six cases of whiskey and disappeared in the dark.

WET STORAGE
Cherokee, Iowa (AP)—Parker Rutherford ordered 200 gallons of fuel oil for his new house. When it was delivered he found a man-hole and told the driver to put the fuel in there.
Rutherford now has 200 gallons of oil in his cistern.

SO NEAR—YET SO FAR
Williamsport, Pa. (AP)—An hour in his home town after a year without a furlough brought no happiness to Pfc. Howard C. Coles.
He spent the time in a railroad yard about a train and couldn't even phone, he told his parents after his outfit reached its destination.

HAD IT COMING
Branford, Conn. (AP)—This was one case of absenteeism that the Malleable Iron Fittings company readily excused. Its secretary and assistant treasurer, Lester J. Nichols, asked for the day off, his first in months, explaining that he wanted to celebrate his birthday with his family. He is 95 years old and has been with the company 78 years.

Dear Sir:
It is a pleasant treat to receive the Service Edition of The Gettysburg Times each week. Thank you.
I am assigned to the Public Works Department, and my duties cover construction and maintenance work, which is not very exciting as far as the war goes, but it is a busy job.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir:
Thanks much for sending me the Times I sure appreciate it very much. I would have written before but we have been busy with our training. Now we are through training and waiting to take that long boat ride, and join our buddies, and do our little bit to help end this miserable mess so all of us can be home once again to stay.

My address has been changed so many times I hardly keep up with it but still the good old Gettysburg Times came through. Again I want to thank you.
Yours truly,

To start out with I am not the type to write letters as you will see, but I do want to thank you for the paper which I have got every week since I came in the service. That is seven months ago. How times flies.

It sure seems funny not to see any snow. Today we had a heavy thunderstorm. It just poured down rain all afternoon. When it rains here it lasts for three days at the least. You can change my rating as I was made Carpenter Mate 3/c recently.

I'm sending you a picture of myself as I appeared in a bomb shattered photography building in a town somewhere in Italy. It sure would do me a lot of good to see the Gettysburg Times once in a while. The last one I received was about six months ago.

I have seen quite a lot to talk about when I get home but cannot write about it now as it would be censored out anyway. In Africa I saw quite a lot of engagements with the enemy, and we have suffered just as severe assaults since we have landed in Italy.
I want to say "Hello" to my folks, my wife and all of my friends. Hope to return soon after the war is furnished. I'm writing somewhere in Italy not too far from the front. I thank you.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:
I have again been transferred from one unit to another within the camp. My new address now is: Pfc. Donald M. Smith, Hq. & Hq. Det., 161st Ord. Bn., Camp Davis, North Carolina.

I have been assigned to the personnel section and do practically the same type of work as I previously did in the AAATC headquarters. I also have charge of the office supply room, ordering and issuing the supplies.

On Monday morning the organization started its thirty-week basic specialized training program which we carry out from 7:30 a. m. to 8 p. m., with an hour off for lunch and dinner.

We start the day by taking half an hour of physical training each morning from 7:30 until 8 a. m., plus one hike a week. That is about all the actual physical training that we will get because our primary duty is taking care of the administrative work of other Ordnance units on the post.

Our organization is very small so it is a rather pleasant outfit to be with since we soon get to know everyone and we all live in the same barracks.

The Gettysburg Times has been reaching me regularly, usually at Tuesday noon, and I certainly do appreciate your generosity in sending it to me because there's nothing like the news from back home to perk up a soldier.

I want to thank you many times over for sending me the Gettysburg Times during the past year, and I know that that goes for all the other boys in the armed forces too.
A devoted reader,
PFC. DONALD SMITH

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Eleven months and seventeen days after he arrived in Gettysburg as one of the first Aviation Students of the 55th College Training Detachment, Aircrew, Army Air Forces, John M. Carmody, of Chicago, returned Sunday to his "Alma Mater of the War" with gold bars on his shoulders and silver wings on his left breast . . . a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. He received his commission at Freeman Field, Seymour, Indiana.

Today he reported to Westover Field, Mass.
Lieutenant Carmody arrived in Gettysburg with the first contingent of Aviation Students on March 3rd, 1943, from a southern camp. After completing the course here, where he received his first ten hours of flight instruction at the Gettysburg School of Aeronautics, he was sent to Nashville, Tenn., thence to Maxwell Field, Ala., Orangeburg, S. C., Shaw Field, S. C., and then to Freeman Field. He has been assigned to pilot duty on twin-engine pursuit ships.

He is the first graduate of the local Detachment to return here with silver wings and a commission. Others in the first group trained here have also been commissioned and are on assignment in the south.

Homemakers were urged today by the War Food Administration to make more extensive use of eggs in order to insure full utilization of this valuable food item in a period of seasonal abundance.

"A protective food, rich in protein, eggs are plentiful, unrationed and selling below ceiling prices," WFA said. "We owe it to ourselves and to the farmer who has done such a fine production job to make the best use of the available egg supply."

The overall supply of eggs for 1944 is expected to amount to more than five billion dozens.

The Red Cross is doing a great job here and overseas. There are several men here who were overseas and came back, and they told me about the Red Cross and what a great job they are doing, and I know myself that they are doing a great job. It doesn't matter what your trouble is the Red Cross is always willing to help you.

The Red Cross is one of the greatest things ever formed. If a soldier or sailor needs an emergency leave and the military authorities do not think it is necessary the Red Cross always tries its best and also investigates the matter and if they think it is necessary, I know the military authorities will grant the leave to the person.

I wanted to see a boy by the name of Kump but he happened to be at another place. I also met Jim Miller from Gettysburg. He isn't any relation, but when I shook hands with him it felt like he was my brother. I met the majority of these boys at a dance. Boy that sure is a thrill to shake hands with the boys you traveled with back home at one time.

Cpl. Fred H. Taylor was on pass with me and enjoyed meeting some of his friends also.

First, I want to thank you very much for sending me the paper. It surely helps me to keep in touch with that part of the world back there. Since being over here I have met two boys from Gettysburg. They are Bernard Little who lives on York street, and Henry Yingling. Didn't have very much time to talk to them.

I enjoy very much reading letters from other soldiers that are printed in your newspaper. So I'll expect you put this one there. Good luck, to everybody.

Lt. Harrison Harbach Graduates At Carlisle

The Medical Field Service school at Carlisle Barracks, Thursday graduated another large class of officers of the Medical Department who are now qualified for duty with troops in the field after six weeks of intensive training.

Brig. Gen. Addison D. Davis, Commandant, addressed the officers following brief exercises in Tugo hall. Music was furnished by the Medical Field Service school band under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer Lt. Harrison F. Harbach, of 34 York Alex Natalsky.

Included in the class was First street.

COUPLE SEEKS RETURN OF LOAN TO COUNTAINS

A Chicago couple opened suit in the Adams county courts Wednesday to secure from Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stanley, Reading township, a $600 loan and an additional $800 which the plaintiffs claim they gave the countains last year "for safe keeping."

Both Albert O. and Maria Beck, Chicago, the plaintiffs, and the Stanleys formerly resided in Maryland.

In the statement of claim which was filed Wednesday by J. Francis Yake, Esq., counsel for the Becks, it is claimed that "at the request of the defendants" the Becks loaned the county couple $600 early in February, 1943, upon their promise to repay the sum in three months.

On February 15, 1943, the Becks claim, they gave the Stanleys $2,600 "for safe keeping" with the agreement that the defendants put that money in their safe deposit box until its return should be asked.

Oral Agreements
On March 12, less than a month after the $2,600 was turned over, the Becks asked and received the return of $1,400 of their sum in the lock box, it is claimed. Twelve days later they asked for $1,000 and were given $400, they aver. On March 29 and "at various times" since that date the plaintiffs claim they asked for the repayment of their $600 loan and for the $800 balance remaining on their "safe keeping" fund. Their requests have been in vain, Mr. and Mrs. Beck state. They admit all of their agreements in connection with the loan and the $2,600 were oral.

They do not ask interest on either the loan or the other sum.
A summons in the case was to be served today. The defendants will be allowed 15 days in which to file an affidavit of defense in the office of Prothonotary Arthur H. Shields.

What did you do then, Daddy? asked my son, with those big blue eyes of his burning with excited curiosity. "Why, Daddy woke up, and in a mumbled prayer thanked God he was still safe in the good old U.S.A."

"Tell me some more, Daddy." Well, to make a long story short I went on to relate to him how his Uncle Merrill wrote me from New Guinea of his experiences, how it would be worth a million dollars to him just to be able to have a quart of fresh milk, how Uncle Tom served abroad a destroyer during the Sicilian and Italian invasions, and how Uncle Bob and Uncle Albee helped the Navy put the finishing touches on the Japs. They all told me that if we never got our War Bonds back it would be a cheap price for home and freedom again. So Daddy decided to take all the War Bonds he could afford so your Uncles would get back quicker.

What About Bonds?
"What happened to those War Bonds, Daddy?" Just then the telephone rang. The cashier of our local bank had called to inform me that my War Bonds could be cashed the next day. For every three dollars my wife and I had saved we were to receive four dollars. We had realized one year's college tuition for the little guy who just wanted to hear a story about Lincoln.

"As I walked back to the living room I noticed that he had fallen fast asleep. I carried him upstairs and tucked him gently in bed. After I had gone quietly downstairs and settled myself comfortably in my favorite easy chair, I realized how much that little extra sacrifice was going to mean to our boy and us. We thought we were giving our all with the loneliness that goes with enforced separation. It gave me a deep sense of pride to know that I was one of the millions of Americans who could help pay as well as fight for the country which would give our boy the opportunities of a free America.

"Just then my head settled back and I was off to dreamland. This dream was not the horrid one of February 1944. Instead I dreamed of the none-too-distant day when we could call our little bungalow all our own, when the fellow upstairs might be playing half-back for Penn or when his mother and I could have him chauffeur us to our honeymoon rendezvous at, you guessed it, Niagara Falls."

MRS. OGDEN ILL
Word has been received here of the critical illness of Mrs. John Ogden, York, who is a patient in the York hospital. She developed pneumonia following an attack of influenza. She was removed to the York hospital Tuesday of last week and on Friday developed a blood stream infection.

MISS KUHN AND SGT. PHIEL ARE WED SATURDAY

In a pretty candlelight ceremony performed in the presence of a large group of relatives and friends, Miss Marie Elizabeth Kuhn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Kuhn, Cashtown, became the bride of Staff Sgt. Arthur Phiel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Phiel, York street, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The double-ring ceremony took place in Trinity Reformed church, Cashtown, and was performed by the Rev. John H. Ehrhart assisted by the Rev. R. R. Gresh, pastors of the bride and bridegroom, respectively.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of white slipper satin with sweetheart neckline and a full length veil of tulle caught with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Charles Fellman, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, wore a gown of aqua satin and tulle and carried a bouquet of yellow snapdragons and roses.

Bridesmaids

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Kenneth Kuhn and Mrs. Raymond Oyler, who wore pink satin and tulle and carried pink snapdragons and iris, and Mrs. Donald Kuhn and Mrs. Horace Bushman who wore blue and carried jonquils and narcissi.

Darla Fellman, niece of the bride, the flower-girl, was dressed in yellow and carried a basket of sweet peas and daisies.

Eugene Phiel, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The ushers were Donald, Kenneth and Floyd Kuhn, brothers of the bride, and Charles Fellman, brother-in-law of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore blue and a corsage of tallismen roses, while the mother of the bridegroom wore aqua with a corsage of iris and sweet peas.

Local Graduates

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. S. Richard Eisenhart sang "I Love You Truly" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." Her accompanist was Mrs. Esther R. Adelman, South Mountain, who rendered a piano recital preceding the ceremony and played the traditional wedding marches of Lohengrin and Mendelssohn.

The bride is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and the West Side sanitarium school of nurses, York. For the last seven years she had been employed in the office of Dr. Raymond Oyler, Biglerville.

Sgt. Phiel is also a graduate of Gettysburg high school. He was inducted into the service in July, 1941, and is stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Virginia.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride after which the couple left on a wedding trip to New York. For traveling the bride wore a mellow colored suit, with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Weddings

William Utz, formerly of Gettysburg, and Miss Katharine Redding, both members of the Claysburg high school faculty at Claysburg, Pa., were united in marriage at Williamsburg, Pa., on Saturday, February 12, friends here have learned.

Mr. Utz is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and college and was a member of the college varsity football squad. He is athletic coach at Claysburg in addition to his teaching duties.

The couple visited here last week.

Gebhart-Hartlaub

Miss Mary Hartlaub, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hartlaub, McSherrystown, and Sgt. Joseph Gebhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gebhart, Hanover R. 4, were married Monday morning at 7 o'clock in the Church of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, McSherrystown. The nuptial mass was celebrated by the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee. Miss Anna Hartlaub, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Paul Gebhart, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man.

The bride was attired in a gown of yellow crepe with black accessories and had a corsage of mixed flowers. Miss Hartlaub wore a gown of blue crepe with navy blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The wedding marches of Carl Rossini were played as the processional and recessional by the church organist and the junior choir sang a number of compositions.

The ceremony was attended by a large group of relatives and friends of the couple. Following the ceremony a reception and breakfast was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents where the bride will reside for the duration. The bridegroom, at the end of his furlough, will return to his station at Camp Davis, North Carolina.

Ritter-Crouse

The engagement of Miss Louise Crouse, daughter of Mrs. H. S. Crouse, South Queen street, Littlestown, and the late Dr. Crouse, to Charles E. Ritter, Keysville, Mary-

Local Couple Is Engaged To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. John Lynn Sheads, East Middle street, formerly of Washington, D. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Lou Sheads, to Roger W. Smith, son of G. Walter Smith, Harrisburg.

Miss Sheads is a graduate of Gettysburg high school.

Mr. Smith graduated from William Penn high school, Harrisburg, and from Gettysburg college where he starred in football and baseball. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He formerly coached and taught at Littlestown high school, Mercersburg academy, and last season coached the Biglerville high school football team. At present he is an instructor on the Gettysburg college staff and is coach of the Gettysburg high school jayvee basketball team.

No date has been set for the wedding.

COUPLE WEDS HERE SUNDAY

Dr. Mary Replogle Mentzer, of Bedford, and Vernon Mayo Chesbro, also of Bedford, were united in marriage by Dr. Russell C. Eroh, pastor of St. John's Reformed church, Bedford, Sunday afternoon, at Hotel Gettysburg.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Henry M. Scharf, of Gettysburg. The best man was Harold I. Putnam, of Lancaster.

Others comprising the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cromwell and Mrs. Eroh, of Bedford; Mrs. Putnam, of Lancaster, and Henry M. Scharf and Elise Kay Scharf, of Gettysburg.

The ceremony took place in the Scharf apartment at the hotel which was decorated with spring flowers and smilax.

Dr. Mentzer, who is well known in Gettysburg, is an osteopath in Bedford.

Mr. Chesbro is an executive with the War Emergency Pipe Lines.

Following a wedding supper at Hotel Gettysburg, the couple left for a ten-day honeymoon in New York, and New Jersey. Upon their return they will reside in Bedford.

land, was announced last week during a Valentine party given by Miss Crouse at her home when members of the Teachers' card club and other guests were present.

Miss Crouse is a graduate of the Littlestown high school and of the State Teachers' college, West Chester. She is active in church work and in community affairs and for a number of years has been a first grade teacher in the Littlestown schools. Mr. Ritter is a graduate of the Taneytown high school and of the Pennsylvania State college. He is engaged in poultry and livestock farming.

Bushey-Baltzley

Miss Faith Geraldine Baltzley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Luther Baltzley, Gettysburg R. 3, and Jacob Charles Bushey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Bushey, near Arendtsville, were recently married in Illinois.

Messinger-Weaver

Leroy Henry Messinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley E. Messinger, Hanover R. 1, and Ruth Alice Weaver, Hanover R. 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Weaver, Hanover R. D., were united in marriage Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church at Bonnevilleville. The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Fr. Leo J. Krichstein.

Confirmation of the purchase of the $7,200 new X-ray machine and the $803.81 Bovie machine for the surgical department at the Warner hospital was voted Friday evening at a meeting of the board of directors of the hospital at the Nurses' home.

The new X-ray machine was installed several months ago and the Bovie tissue cutter, replacing the old machine that had been in service at the hospital since its establishment, was installed in January.

Reports on activities at the hospital during the months of December and January disclosed that there were 307 patients admitted, 149 in December and 158 in January; 284 were discharged, including 136 in December and 148 in January; 13 persons died, seven of them in January; 87 children were born in the two months and 58 accident cases were treated, of which 34 occurred in December and 24 in January. There were 20 female and 24 male births in December and 23 female and 20 male births in January. Fifty-four patients remained at the hospital on the last day of December and 57 on the last day of January. The average number of patients in December was 43, the average in January, 45.

Dr. E. H. Markley, president of the board, presided with the following directors in attendance: Dr. Frank H. Kramer, Charles H. Smith, the Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock, William G. Durbarow, H. Harold Miller, Edmund W. Thomas, Carl A. Baum, and Henry M. Scharf, of Gettysburg; John Hauser, Biglerville; Guy Stock, Benderville; Robert B. Martin and M'Leod F. Stoner, Fairfield; C. P. Keefer, New Oxford and William V. Sneeringer, Littlestown.

Lt. John M. Crouse, who has been stationed at Lockwood, Columbus, Ohio, is spending several days' leave with his wife here. He will report for duty at a combat crew training school at Clovis, New Mexico.

Interment in the Mt. Carmel cemetery at Littlestown. Friends may call at the Little funeral home Thursday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

BOY, 10, STRUCK BY AUTO TODAY

Struck by a car as he darted out from back of a truck near the Evans grocery store in Gettysburg, at noon Wednesday, Edward Roth, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roth, of Gettysburg, is a patient in the Warner hospital with a jaw injury, multiple lacerations of the tongue and contusions of the chin.

Chief of Police Glenn Guize, who investigated, said that the boy was struck by the right front fender of a car operated by Mrs. Lucy Heimenz, formerly of Gettysburg, now residing in Lancaster. Mrs. Heimenz told the officer the boy ran in front of the car. She applied the brakes, but there was not time to avoid striking the boy, she said. Her speed was estimated at about 20 miles an hour.

The youngster was taken to the hospital by Walter Crouse.

The boy was crossing the street from south to north, going from his home toward the Evans grocery store when the accident occurred. Mrs. Heimenz was enroute to attend the funeral of Mrs. J. Wilbur Stallsmith to be held Thursday morning.

NAVY PLANE IS RETURNED TO ATLANTIC CITY

The Naval plane flown by Ensign O. E. Asplundh, Jr., U. S. Naval Training center, Atlantic City, New Jersey, which crashed into a woodlot on the land of Samuel Irvin, Buchanan Valley last Thursday, has been sent back to Atlantic City.

The ship was dismantled Friday by a contingent of eight crash specialists from Atlantic City who removed the plane to the Gettysburg airport where it remained overnight under guard by members of the 55th College Training Detachment here. The crew, which used special equipment, including a crane truck and a large trailer-tractor vehicle, brought the plane to the airport here about 7 o'clock Friday evening. This morning they started for Atlantic City after spending the night at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Damage to the plane included bending and breaking of the wings, undercarriage and propeller. It was not known what damage may have occurred to the engine which smashed into a number of trees and saplings when the plane struck the woods.

The crash occurred when the Naval pilot attempted to land the plane in an open field at the Irvin farm. Because of the snow the pilot was unable to check the speed of the plane with the ship's brakes and it continued on across the field into the woods. The pilot suffered only a few scratches. He had become lost in the fog over the eastern U. S. during the early afternoon Thursday and had decided to land in the first open field he came to. The first break in the fog was at the Irvin farm.

Guarding the plane during the night were the following aviation students from the 55th College Training Detachment: Maurice F. Garraty, Robert Conlin and Harold Carpenter.

The Naval crew which dismantled the plane and is transporting it back to Atlantic City was headed by Elwood E. Richardson and included Harold Barlow, Jacob Barth, W. A. Cleland, Edwin T. Harkness, Gordon C. Latzko, Ray F. Miller and Joseph J. Steele.

CHILD WELFARE WORK OUTLINED

The monthly dinner of the Soroptimist club was held at the home of Mrs. Eva Pape, Buford avenue, Tuesday evening. The committee in charge comprised Miss Virginia Myers, Mrs. Irving Blier, Mrs. Harvey Raffensperger and Mrs. Clyde D. Berger.

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Grieb, local secretary of the Child Welfare services, was a guest and spoke to the club on her work in this county. She stated that her association is set up under the Social Securities Act and that the government gives aid to states which set up a standard that meets the standards of the Department of Labor. Sixteen counties have Child Welfare service.

In Adams county, she said, the work is mostly that of child placement, taking care of children away from their own homes, and the big problem now is to find enough foster homes. Foster parents must have a doctor's certificate and the child must be examined before being placed in a home which is inspected monthly. The child gets medical and dental care and clothing. The county commissioners pay board of $5 a week for children under three and $4 a week for those over three, with $5 a week for those requiring special care.

Sixty children are now being cared for in Adams county in temporary and permanent homes. Very few children are available now for legal adoption, the speaker said. Mrs. Grieb, who has been in Gettysburg since last April, visits each foster home at least once a month and family ties are kept up by parental visits arranged through her office in the Murphy building. The youngest children in Mrs. Grieb's care at the present time are twins two years old.

The Soroptimist club has been co-operating in the work of the Child Welfare association since its establishment here and several members are on its executive board.

Enter Photographs In Hagerstown Show

Seven Adams countyans will exhibit photographs in the thirteenth annual Cumberland Valley Photographic Exhibition to be held at the Hagerstown Museum starting Sunday, March 5 and continuing to Sunday, March 26.

Those from the county who will enter photographs include Capt. C. A. Sloat, Orntanna, Dr. C. Harold Johnson, Paul A. Kunsey, Prof. Dunning Idle, Paul Pensinger, Edward Sine and Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, all of Gettysburg.

The entries will be classified in two groups, portraiture and general. First and second prize awards in each classification will be $5 and $4, respectively.

Services will be held every Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock during the Lenten period at the Prince of Peace Episcopal church. It was announced today. Choir practice will follow the services.

Report Three More Scarlet Fever Cases

Three new cases of scarlet fever were reported in rural Adams county over the week-end and quarantines were placed or renewed by the county health officer, William I. Shields.

The home of Donald S. Pope, New Oxford R. 1, Oxford township, was placed Saturday evening because of the illness of Donald M. Pope, aged 17 years.

Additional cases were listed in homes already under quarantine for scarlet fever. Mabel L. Hollinger, 13, a Bridge school pupil in Butler township, is ill with the second case of fever in her home, Biglerville Star Route, and in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Bobo, Biglerville R. 1, a daughter, Jane, nine, is the fourth fever victim.

UPPER COUNTY FARMERS GO TO NIGHT CLASSES

Upper county farmers and fruit growers—going back to school in OSYA night classes at Arendtsville Vocational school and Biglerville high school—are learning how to make everything from a welding outfit to a properly mortised wheelbarrow.

Harry Garretson, who is attending the course at Biglerville, secured the parts for a welding apparatus and assembled it, including making a panel board and installing 15 different switches to give different powers to the welder. He also made the cabinet for the mechanism. Ryland Garretson also attending the Biglerville class brought a plowing machine that needed repairs. When he got through finding damaged parts about all that was left were the wheels and levers. He rebuilt the plow around that. And put a new steel tire on the trailer wheel. A twenty-four tooth spring tooth harrow was another machine rebuilt. Amby Harper was hard at work repairing a corn binder at Biglerville the night a reporter from The Gettysburg Times visited the class there.

Nearly 70 upper countyans "out of school youths and adults," have attended the courses now in session at the two schools. Most of the men are oldsters who have been out of school for years and are now coming back to learn how to keep their farm machinery running for the duration of the war, despite shortages of all types of materials for repairs. A few are young men, recently graduated from agricultural education courses at the schools, who are continuing their instruction by taking the night classes.

Repair Own Machines

The present course at Arendtsville started November 15 and will run into the late spring. The men under the direction of Jack Clinch, agricultural education teacher at the school, have performed a number of jobs while learning how to fix their own machinery. All of the work was done on machines owned by those attending the courses.

One Arendtsville adult student combined the very practical with his own pleasure—he repaired an ice cream freezer, pointing out that it was a very important piece of machinery in his household.

Garden hoes, hatchets, axes, knives, chisels, saws and similar equipment are among the smaller articles repaired at Arendtsville. On the night a Gettysburg Times reporter visited there, one man was working on a large wheelbarrow for which he had made everything except the wheel. All of the parts were mortised together for added strength. Another man was repairing a circular saw, and another was converting a motor. A manure spreader was being rebuilt with a tractor hitch placed in front at the blacksmith shop to the rear of the school where the forge and welding equipment are placed. A field roller was being patched by bending iron to fit over a number of holes and then welding the bent iron strip to the roller.

Class Members

"The roller will be bumpy but she'll work," the men agreed.

Among those attending the course at Arendtsville are Norman Beamer, Paul Beamer, Blaine D. Bushey, Merle Byers, Albert Gallagher, Jewell A. Gantz, Glen Hartman, Kermit Heller, Robert Kane, William Kane, Marshall W. Longacker, John N. Luckenbaugh, Clyde Ormer Clode Sell, Sterling Sell, Roy D. Tate, H. E. Taylor, K. E. Williams, Irvin Wiser, Roy Heckenluber, Lloyd Garretson, Carl Carey, Ralph Tyson, Blaine Hartman, Charles McDannel, Howard Kline, Herbert Lady, Luther Lady, Earl Martin, George Ormer and Alvey Gantz.

At Biglerville high school Art Ebert was refinishing a corner cupboard and had just filed, gummed and set a two-man cross cut saw. The men were interested in showing a 24-link log chain made of 1/2-inch metal and with each link 1/2-inch in diameter welded by Walter Mellott who graduated from Biglerville high school last year and was an "ag" student there. They told how Francis Sterner straightened out a bent lawn mower blade on a lathe and how Donald Weaver, a Keystone farmer degree holder, made a frame for an apple grader and how Roy Wolf cut a glass for his flashlight.

The class is the third OSYA course

FRUIT GROWERS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET SATURDAY

The fruit outlook for the coming year—both from a national and a local standpoint, and the proposed changes in orchard management for the coming year will be highlights of the annual all-day meeting of the Fruit Growers Association of Adams county to be held Saturday at the Biglerville auditorium.

President Frederic E. Griest today urged that all orchard owners in the county attend the all-day session and that they bring with them their orchard men because of the importance of the meeting.

The program will get underway at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning with greetings from President Griest. Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and treasurers' report by secretary-treasurer George Schriver, Bendersville, Ryland Garretson and Clark Peters will present the report of the auditing committee.

To Elect Officers

E. A. Meyer, chief of the industry operations branch of the War Foods Administration will report on the "Fruit Outlook From a National Viewpoint" and J. O. Pepper, extension entomologist, and R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist, will report on the peach and apple spray program. The reports of the two State College experts will conclude the morning session.

A sound motion picture at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon will open the second session of the all-day program following a dinner. J. U. Ruef, extension pomologist will talk on "Orchard Management, Replacement Methods and Varieties."

A sound motion picture at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon will open the second session of the all-day program following a dinner. J. U. Ruef, extension pomologist will talk on "Orchard Management, Replacement Methods and Varieties."

LT. MUNDORFF IS HEAD OF SCHOOL

Lt. Commander Roy "Punk" M. Mundorff, son of Mrs. Emma Mundorff, 69 West Middle street, has completed a month as officer-in-charge of pre-Radar and is now an administrative head attached to Harvard Naval Training Schools.

Although associated with Navy staffs since 1926 in connection with his work at the Georgia Institute of Technology, Lt. Commander Mundorff first took his naval reserve commission as lieutenant (jg) in 1931. While at Georgia Tech, he served with the Athletic Association in several capacities, and coached varsity basketball, football and baseball squads.

In the ten-year period of inactive duty with the Reserve, time was taken from athletic and mathematics instruction duties for numerous training cruises, including work at sea on the Atlantic training ships, U.S.S. Arkansas and Wyoming, the destroyer Decatur, and odd, assorted four-stackers.

College Grad

With the emergency mobilization early in 1941, he was called to active duty.

After short duty away from Georgia Tech, he returned to the college for 25 months of continuous duty as associate professor of Naval Science and Tactics with the Naval ROTC Unit, one of the original six outfits, which, like similar Harvard and Yale activities, was established in 1926.

Mundorff graduated from Gettysburg high school and from Gettysburg college in 1921 where he starred in baseball and basketball.

held for out-of-school adults at Biglerville under the direction of Cecil Snyder, the ag. teacher.

The Biglerville course started November 1, and will end in March.

Among those attending the Biglerville classes held in the Musselman Industrial Arts building are Roy Wolfe, Harry Garretson, Ryland Garretson, Walter Melott, Guy Deardorff, Earl Smith, Glenn Kime, Arthur Ebbert, Francis Sterner, Zell Thomas, Charles Stock, Donald Garretson, John Arnold, Fred Bream, Robert Hartman, Earl Starner, Amby Harper Lester Warner, Eugene Rouzer, Donald Rouser, Cameron Funt, Theron Slagle, Lewis Menchey, Raymond Seburn, Glenn Kime, Ray Funt, Robert Livingston, Herbert Miller, Fred Bream, Miles Starner, George Schriver, Donald Weaver, Junior Taylor and Walter Hayes.

Governors Of Massachusetts And North Carolina To Speak In Gettysburg Memorial Day

Governor Melville Broughton, of North Carolina, and Governor Leverett Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, will be principal speakers at Memorial Day exercises at Gettysburg during the annual conference of governors.

Governor Martin announced the selections Thursday. He said the North Carolina executive would "speak for the states of the old South," and the Massachusetts executive would represent the "old North."

Martin will preside at the ceremonies held in the National cemetery where President Lincoln delivered his famous Gettysburg address.

The Governors will convene here on May 29 for a conference running through May 31.

A meeting of the local Memorial Day committee of the Sons of Union Veterans was scheduled for Wednesday night but was not held for lack of a quorum. David A. Tawney, the chairman, has not announced a new date for the meeting.

Two Governors, one representing the North and the other the South, will deliver the Memorial Day addresses in the Gettysburg National cemetery, it was learned today.

Governor Edward Martin, who will play host to the 1944 Governors' conference this year in Harrisburg, has designated May 30th as "Gettysburg Day" for the Governors and will bring his distinguished guests to this historic community on that occasion.

Preliminary arrangements for the Memorial Day speakers here were tentatively completed at a conference of state and local officials several days ago and publication of the preliminary details were withheld pending the official announcement from the Governor's office.

Expect More Than 30 Governors

It is expected that more than 30 Governors will be present for the Memorial Day exercises here, along with other prominent state and national figures. Details of the program have not been completed but will be drafted finally at another conference of state and local officials here on February 28.

This will be the first time in the long history of impressive Memorial Day exercises here that both the North and the South will be represented on the speaking program. It will also be the first time that two Governors will appear on the same program here on May 30th.

Governor Martin made the official announcement at his press conference Friday afternoon. At the same time it was announced that a nationwide radio hookup will broadcast the program on that occasion.

The Governors' Conference is scheduled for May 29, 30 and 31st.

None Injured In Crash Near Hanover

No one was injured and damage totaled $50 when two cars collided in Pennville, near Hanover, on the Hanover-Baltimore road Thursday evening at 10:45 o'clock.

The accident occurred when George T. Miller, 27, Littlestown, attempted to pass a car driven by Clarence W. Wilhelm, 52, Hanover, which had just backed out into the Baltimore pike and was starting to drive south on the road. The Miller car crashed into the left side of the Wilhelm vehicle. Pvt. Anthony Martin investigated. No charges were laid.

Those discharged were Mrs. Thuron Null, Taneytown; Samuel Bothwell, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Elmer Bittle and infant son, Carl William, Taneytown; Mrs. J. Howard Reinhold and infant daughter, Carol Judith, Fairfield; Thomas Gebhart, Gettysburg R. 5, and Mrs. William Boyer and infant son, William Martin, Jr., Fifth street.

USWV Will Elect Officer Friday

A special meeting of the William M. Steffy post of the United Spanish War veterans has been called for Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion building for the purpose of electing a new junior vice commander to fill a vacancy caused in the camp staff by the recent death of Capt. Carl M. Taute, who was the commander at the time of his death.

Samuel A. Snavely, Gettysburg, succeeds to the commandship as the senior vice commander and George Smith, New Oxford, advances from junior to senior vice commander. The Auxiliary of the post will meet at the same time in the Odd Fellows' building.

ARMY WASHES OUT PROGRAM IN COLLEGES

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Those who have been demanding that Army men in college be allowed to play varsity sports can wrap up all their arguments in cotton now and set a match to it.

The Army, which has been saying "no" all along, clinched this drawn-out controversy yesterday by eliminating most of its specialized training program in colleges. By April 1, the program will be washed up except for advanced dentistry, medicine and engineering.

The Army always has frowned on these trainees taking part in inter-collegiate sports. High officers said the boys just didn't have the time. The Navy has taken an opposite view and has permitted its trainees to participate.

Leader of the congressional bloc which sought to change the Army's mind was Representative Weiss (D-Pa.), former Duquesne backfield star and now a professional football referee.

Elimination of the program could have further drastic effect on college sports. Educators say it will be a jolt to those schools whose income has been sadly depleted by the war. The institutions in the shaky category will have enough to do to keep their doors open without gambling on a sports program that might not pay its way.

More Contributions To Paralysis Fund

Contributions from three county churches and three county schools to the infantile paralysis fund were announced recently by Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, county chairman.

Latest contributors included: St. Ignatius Catholic church, Buchanan Valley, $8.05; Flohr's Lutheran, $9.86; Cashdown Reformed, $1.85; Rocky Grove school, Gail Bell, teacher, $1.30; Green Springs Intermediate, Esther Alland, teacher, $2. and Round Top, Winifred Thompson, teacher, $2.50.

The committees said that their present list is not complete and asked that names of additional men and women who should appear on the roll be turned over to the Student Council at the high school.

Five Members Added To Blue Star Group

Five new members were added to the Blue Star Brigade recently. Those added to the roll were: Mrs. Mervin E. Tipton for Capt. Justus H. Liesmann; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Shetter for MM 2-C Bernard Linn and Sgt. Wade Shetter, and Mr. and Mrs. Philletus Edwards for Cpl. George Edwards.

TIME RIPE FOR PRINCIPLES OF CHRIST, PUTMAN

"Two great revolutionary concepts meet in this service—the American Revolution, of which you are the children, and we meet in a building dedicated to the greatest, most renowned revolutionist of all times, Jesus Christ," the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman said in his sermon at the DAR patriotic service held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Christ Lutheran church, commemorating the birthday anniversary of General George Washington.

Declaring that "the Sermon on the Mount is Christ's manifesto," the Rev. Dr. Putman pointed out that "His message meant a most radical change in the issues of the relation of wealth and property, class and race and value of human personality. Herein lay the basis for the world's most far-reaching revolution. The principles laid down by Christ were of such a radical nature that if they were actually applied to His civilization or any since that it would have split that civilization wide open and wholly altered its character. Jesus was the complete revolutionist. While others revolted against external conditions He went the whole way to seek for radical changes both without and within men's lives.

Followers Tortured

"His followers of the first Christian century, under the blazing white flame of His own Spirit, went forth in revolutionary fashion, against the world to turn the world upside down and the world treated them as revolutionists, putting them to the sword, the flame and the cross.

"As Christians we are sons and daughters of these Christian revolutionists.

"The American Revolution, like the Christian, was a revolt against tyranny and the status quo. Where tyranny and dictators have been in the saddle and where an unjust system has ruled; where the evolutionary process has not kept pace with the demands of the time and the physical basis and concept of society has outrun the moral and spiritual progress, there the setting has always been provided for a revolution.

Principles of Jesus

"Our times are ripe again for the revolutionary principles of Jesus. The present crisis of our civilization heightens the urgency for their application for the establishment of a new order. Our times are in need of a new breath of freedom and justice inherent in the American Revolution.

"There is a charge that the Daughters of the American Revolution have been anything but daughters of revolutionists in spirit. That they, like many on the Christian front, may be considered reactionaries in a day when revolutionary changes must be made at home and abroad in human relationships.

"Neither as children of Christianity nor American revolutionists can we any longer live in and for the past. We must live for the future. We may be proud of our heritage, but to rest on that heritage is to be disloyal both to American revolutionaries and to Christ.

"There is a dynamic principle of life at the heart of each which must keep marching on in every age and civilization."

The Rev. Robert Hunt, pastor of the Presbyterian church was in charge of the service. George Hershberger and Mrs. George Amick presented vocal solos. The Rev. John Sanderson presided at the organ.

TO ERECT HONOR ROLL AT SCHOOL

Plans for the erection of an honor roll at Gettysburg high school bearing the names of former students who are now serving or have served in the armed forces during this war were advanced at a meeting of a committee from the Student Council and representatives of the Alumni Council of the school.

The date and details of the dedication of the honor roll for which the committee already has listed more than 500 names will be announced later. The committees now are concerned with completing the list of names.

The committees said that their present list is not complete and asked that names of additional men and women who should appear on the roll be turned over to the Student Council at the high school.

DISCHARGE FILED

The honorable discharge of Paul Edgar Cooley, Gettysburg, as a seaman second class from the U. S. Navy was filed Thursday at the office of the county register and recorder.

The medical discharge was given after Cooley had been in the service for ten months. It was issued February 11, from the U. S. Naval hospital, San Diego, California.

Bond Sale Reports From County Women

Mrs. Eugene Elgin, chairman of the women's committee for the Fourth War Loan drive in East Berlin, reported today that her committee has sold $28,725 in bonds to date. All were of Series E.

The women who assisted in the drive in that borough follow: Hazel Hoffman, Rea Feiser, Mrs. Carl Fitzkee, Mary Myers, Frances Jacobs, Katie Slothover, Ethel Altland, Mary Emig and Mrs. Strelgheif.

The New Oxford women's bond drive committee has reported sales amounting to $15,417.75. The committee there included Mrs. George Sheffer, Mrs. Florence Acker, Mrs. Mary Wagner, Mrs. Mary Livingston, Mrs. Jennie Ruff, Mrs. Grace T. Himes, Mrs. Hubert Flaherty and Mrs. Georgianna Fink.

NAME DONORS AS "Y" DRIVE EXCEEDS $1,000

With reports running ahead of last year's figures for comparable dates, the YWCA campaign for $2,500 neared the half-way mark today. It has been announced that the drive has been extended to the end of this month and that contributions already have topped $1,000.

Mrs. Donald P. McPherson, Jr., finance committee chairman, has asked that solicitors complete the canvass of their respective territories as soon as possible.

First reports from Biglerville show $118 collected in that town, topping the total gathered there last year. A list of Biglerville donors is announced today along with additional names of Gettysburg contributors:

W. A. BANKERT HEADS STATE BANKING GROUP

Wilbur A. Bankert, treasurer of the Littlestown State bank was named chairman of Group Five of the Pennsylvania Bankers association at the forty-eight annual meeting of the group at Harrisburg, Tuesday. He succeeds Chester E. Adams, Waynesboro.

Mr. Bankert last year was chairman of the executive committee of the regional organization which comprises 170 banks in Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Fulton, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, Mifflin, Perry and York counties.

Arnold Orner, cashier of the Arendtsville National bank was named to the nominating committee of the Federal Reserve bank of Philadelphia. I. C. Bucher, cashier of the Gettysburg National bank retired from that committee after serving during the past year.

State Official Speaks

State Banking Secretary William C. Freeman told the group that state banking systems are "a bulwark against government-owned, government-controlled and government-subsidized credit."

He urged the bankers to play an "active role in preventing the small army of government workers employed today by the OPA and other government agencies from taking over control of state banks after the war "according to a report from The Associated Press.

The group also heard Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, pastor of Marble Collegiate church, New York, oppose a fourth term for President Roosevelt after asserting "continued consolidation of power in one man and one party is dangerous to the continuance of the American system."

Countians At Meeting

Among those from Adams county attending the session were: I. C. Bucher, John Hewitt, Walter Keene, Edmund W. Thomas, J. I. Burgoon, S. G. Spangler, J. C. Shank, A. E. Roth and Elmer Warren, of Gettysburg; Luther Snyder, William Sneringer, William Menges, Ralph Bowman, Casper Myers, H. F. Snyder, Harry J. Koonz, Arthur Bair, Theron Spangler, W. H. Dorn, Howard E. Stonesifer and Paul E. Lawver, of Littlestown; Robert Martin and S. L. Allison, Fairfield; Lloyd Kuhn and Dale Crum, Bendersville; Arnold Orner and W. A. Raffensperger, Arendtsville, and W. M. Weidner, York Springs.

Thanks Women For Service At Booth

Mrs. Paul D. Thomas, chairman of the Bond and Stamp booth committee at the Majestic Theater, today expressed her appreciation of the work done by a group of volunteer women of the community in staffing the booth during the Fourth War Loan drive. The group sold 378 bonds valued at $26,175 and $17.55 in stamps.

Included in the group were: Madge Myers, Miss Marian Cluck, Miss Anna McSherry, Miss Geraldine groff, Mrs. Paul Myers, Zoia Stambaugh, Mrs. Florence Grinder, Mrs. Virginia Lauver, Gladys Rudisill, Mrs. A. H. Barr, Mrs. Dora C. Beall, Mrs. J. Walter Coleman, Mary Ellen Roth, Mrs. Minnie Bream, Mrs. Mildred D. Shover, Mrs. J. Kerr Lott, Miss Mindelle Weikert, Mrs. E. H. Mark Bream, Mrs. Clyde Berger, Miss Elizabeth Baugher, and Mrs. Nell Cromer.

Senate Confirms Oyler Appointment

The United States Senate on Tuesday confirmed President Roosevelt's nomination of Lawrence E. Oyler to be postmaster at Gettysburg.

Mr. Oyler's name was advanced for the office after the late C. A. Williams had announced he would retire. He was scheduled to assume the duties on April 1. Three days after the death of Mr. Williams Postmaster Oyler was summoned to assume charge of the local office.

TAKEN TO PRISON

Leon Nace, East Berlin R. 1, who recently was sentenced by the Adams county court to serve from one to two years in the Eastern penitentiary on a forgery charge, was taken to the pen Monday by Sheriff John E. Millhimes and his chief deputy, Blaine E. Bixler.

NAVY PLANE IS RETURNED TO ATLANTIC CITY

The Naval plane flown by Ensign O. E. Asplundh, Jr., U. S. Naval Training center, Atlantic City, New Jersey, which crashed into a woodlot on the land of Samuel Irvin, Buchanan Valley last Thursday, has been sent back to Atlantic City.

The ship was dismantled Friday by a contingent of eight crash specialists from Atlantic City who removed the plane to the Gettysburg airport where it remained overnight under guard by members of the 55th College Training Detachment here. The crew, which used special equipment, including a crane truck and a large trailer-tractor vehicle, brought the plane to the airport here about 7 o'clock Friday evening. This morning they started for Atlantic City after spending the night at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Damage to the plane included bending and breaking of the wings, undercarriage and propeller. It was not known what damage may have occurred to the engine which smashed into a number of trees and saplings when the plane struck the woods.

The crash occurred when the Naval pilot attempted to land the plane in an open field at the Irvin farm. Because of the snow the pilot was unable to check the speed of the plane with the ship's brakes and it continued on across the field into the woods. The pilot suffered only a few scratches. He had become lost in the fog over the eastern U. S. during the early afternoon Thursday and had decided to land in the first open field he came to. The first break in the fog was at the Irvin farm.

Guarding the plane during the night were the following aviation students from the 55th College Training Detachment: Maurice P. Garraty, Robert Conlin and Harold Carpenter.

The Naval crew which dismantled the plane and is transporting it back to Atlantic City was headed by Elwood E. Richardson and included Harold Barlow, Jacob Barth, W. A. Cleland, Edwin T. Harkness, Gordon C. Latzko, Ray F. Miller and Joseph J. Steele.

CHILD WELFARE WORK OUTLINED

The monthly dinner of the Soroptimist club was held at the home of Mrs. Eva Pape, Buford avenue, Tuesday evening. The committee in charge comprised Miss Virginia Myers, Mrs. Irving Blier, Mrs. Harvey Raffensperger and Mrs. Clyde D. Berger.

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Grieb, local secretary of the Child Welfare services, was a guest and spoke to the club on her work in this county. She stated that her association is set up under the Social Securities Act and that the government gives aid to states which set up a standard that meets the standards of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor. Sixteen counties have Child Welfare services.

In Adams county, she said, the work is mostly that of child placement, taking care of children away from their own homes, and the big problem now is to find enough foster homes. Foster parents must have a doctor's certificate and the child must be examined before being placed in a home which is inspected monthly. The child gets medical and dental care and clothing. The county commissioners pay board of $5 a week for children under three and $4 a week for those over three, with $5 a week for those requiring special care.

Sixty children are now being cared for in Adams county in temporary and permanent homes. Very few children are available now for legal adoption, the speaker said. Mrs. Grieb, who has been in Gettysburg since last April, visits each foster home at least once a month and family ties are kept up by parental visits arranged through her office in the Murphy building. The youngest children in Mrs. Grieb's care at the present time are twins two years old. The Soroptimist club has been co-operating in the work of the Child Welfare association since its establishment here and several members are on its executive board.

Enter Photographs In Hagerstown Show

Seven Adams counties will exhibit photographs in the thirteenth annual Cumberland Valley Photographic Exhibition to be held at the Hagerstown Museum starting Sunday, March 5 and continuing to Sunday, March 26.

Those from the county who will enter photographs include Capt. C. A. Sloot, Orlanna, Dr. C. Harold Johnson, Paul A. Kinsey, Prof. Dunning Ide, Paul Pensinger, Edward Stine and Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, all of Gettysburg.

The entries will be classified in two groups, portrait and general. First and second prize awards in each classification will be $5 and $4, respectively.

Services will be held every Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock during the Lenten period at the Prince of Peace Episcopal church. It was announced today. Choir practice will follow the services.

Report Three More Scarlet Fever Cases

Three new cases of scarlet fever were reported in rural Adams county over the week-end and quarantines were placed or renewed by the county health officer, William I. Shields.

The home of Donald S. Pope, New Oxford R. 1, Oxford township, was placed under quarantine Saturday evening because of the illness of Donald M. Pope, aged 17 years.

Additional cases were listed in homes already under quarantine for scarlet fever. Mabel L. Hollinger, 13, a Bridge school pupil in Butler township, is ill with the second case of fever in her home, Biglerville Star Route, and in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Bobo, Biglerville R. 1, a daughter, Jane, nine, is the fourth fever victim.

UPPER COUNTY FARMERS GO TO NIGHT CLASSES

Upper county farmers and fruit growers—going back to school in OSYA night classes at Arendtsville Vocational school and Biglerville high school—are learning how to make everything from a welding outfit to a properly mortised wheelbarrow.

Harry Garretson, who is attending the course at Biglerville, secured the parts for a welding apparatus and assembled it, including making a panel board and installing 15 different switches to give different powers to the welder. He also made the cabinet for the mechanism. Ryland Garretson also attending the Biglerville class brought a plowing machine that needed repairs. When he got through finding damaged parts about all that was left were the wheels and levers. He rebuilt the plow around that. And put a new steel tire on the trailer wheel. A twenty-four tooth spring tooth harrow was another machine rebuilt. Amby Harper was hard at work repairing a corn binder at Biglerville the night a reporter from The Gettysburg Times visited the class there.

Nearly 70 upper counties "out of school youths and adults," have attended the courses now in session at the two schools. Most of the men are older than the women and are now coming back to learn how to keep their farm machinery running for the duration of the war, despite shortages of all types of materials for repairs. A few are young men, recently graduated from agricultural education courses at the schools, who are continuing their instruction by taking the night classes.

Repair Own Machines
The present course at Arendtsville started November 15 and will run into the late spring. The men under the direction of Jack Clinch, agricultural education teacher at the school, have performed a number of jobs while learning how to fix their own machinery. All of the work was done on machines owned by those attending the courses.

One Arendtsville adult student combined the very practical with his own pleasure—he repaired an ice cream freezer, pointing out that it was a very important piece of machinery in his household.

Garden hoes, hatchets, axes, knives, chisels, saws and similar equipment are among the smaller articles repaired at Arendtsville. On the night a Gettysburg Times reporter visited there, one man was working on a large wheelbarrow for which he had made everything except the wheel. All of the parts were mortised together for added strength. Another man was repairing a circular saw, and another was converting a motor. A manure spreader was being rebuilt with a tractor hitch placed in front at the blacksmith shop to the rear of the school where the forge and welding equipment are placed. A field roller was being patched by bending iron to fit over a number of holes and then welding the bent iron strip to the roller.

Class Members
"The roller will be bumpy but she'll work," the men agreed.

Among those attending the course at Arendtsville are Norman Beamer, Paul Beamer, Blaine D. Bushey, Merle Byers, Albert Gallagher, Jewell A. Gantz, Glen Hartman, Kermit Heller, Robert Kane, William Kane, Marshall W. Longacker, John N. Luckenbaugh, Clyde Orner Clyde Sell, Sterling Sell, Roy D. Tate, H. E. Taylor, K. E. Williams, Irvin Wiser, Roy Heckenluber, Lloyd Garretson, Carl Carey, Ralph Tyson, Blaine Hartman, Charles McDannel, Howard Kline, Herbert Lady, Luther Lady, Earl Martin, George Orner and Alvey Gantz.

At Biglerville high school Art Ebert was refinishing a corner cupboard and had just finished, gummed and set a two-man cross cut saw. The men were interested in showing a 24-link log chain made of 3/4-inch metal and with each link 4 inches in diameter welded by Walter Melloff who graduated from Biglerville high school last year and was an "ag" student there. They told how Francis Sterner straightened out a bent lawn mower blade on a lathe and how Donald Weaver, a Keystone farmer degree holder, made a frame for an apple grader and how Roy Wolf cut a glass for his flashlight.

The class is the third OSYA course

FRUIT GROWERS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET SATURDAY

The fruit outlook for the coming year—both from a national and a local standpoint, and the proposed changes in orchard management for the coming year will be highlights of the annual all-day meeting of the Fruit Growers Association of Adams county to be held Saturday at the Biglerville auditorium.

President Frederic E. Griest today urged that all orchard owners in the county attend the all-day session and that they bring with them their orchard men because of the importance of the meeting.

The program will get underway at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning with greetings from President Griest. Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and treasurers' report by secretary-treasurer George Schriber, Bendersville, Ryland Garretson and Clark Petters will present the report of the auditing committee.

To Elect Officers
E. A. Meyer, chief of the industry operations branch of the War Foods Administration will report on the "Fruit Outlook From a National Viewpoint" and J. O. Pepper, extension entomologist, and R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist, will report on the peach and apple spray program. The reports of the two State College experts will conclude the morning session.

A sound motion picture at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon will open the second session of the all-day program following a dinner. J. U. Ruef, extension pomologist will talk on "Orchard Management, Replacement Methods and Varieties."

LT. MUNDORFF IS HEAD OF SCHOOL

Lt. Commander Roy "Punk" M. Mundorff, son of Mrs. Emma Mundorff, 69 West Middle street, has completed a month as officer-in-charge of pre-Radar and is now an administrative head attached to Harvard Naval Training Schools.

Although associated with Navy staffs since 1926 in connection with his work at the Georgia Institute of Technology, Lt. Commander Mundorff first took his naval reserve commission as lieutenant (jg) in 1931. While at Georgia Tech, he served with the Athletic Association in several capacities, and coached varsity basketball, football and baseball squads.

In the ten-year period of inactive duty with the Reserve, time was taken from athletic and mathematics instruction duties for numerous training cruises, including work at sea on the Atlantic training ships, U.S.S. Arkansas and Wyoming, the destroyer Decatur, and odd, assorted four-stackers.

College Grad
With the emergency mobilization early in 1941, he was called to active duty.

After short duty away from Georgia Tech, he returned to the college for 25 months of continuous duty as associate professor of Naval Science and Tactics with the Naval ROTC Unit, one of the original six outfits, which, like similar Harvard and Yale activities, was established in 1926.

Mundorff graduated from Gettysburg high school and from Gettysburg college in 1921 where he starred in baseball and basketball.

held out-of-school adults at Biglerville under the direction of Cecil Snyder, the ag. teacher.

Record Seal Sale By TB Society Here

The most successful seal sale in the history of the Adams county Tuberculosis society is nearing its close with receipts already past the $2,200 mark. Last year the seal sale brought in about $1,800, which was a record up to that time.

The society president, L. C. Koeffer, said Saturday that seal receipts continue to be received. He also acknowledged a $25 gift, another of $10 and 11 of $5 each to the work of the society.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Donahar, Biglerville, announce the birth of a daughter, Susan Elizabeth, at the Bedford hospital last Friday morning.

Governors Of Massachusetts And North Carolina To Speak In Gettysburg Memorial Day

Governor Melville Broughton, of North Carolina, and Governor Leverett Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, will be principal speakers at Memorial Day exercises at Gettysburg during the annual conference of governors.

Governor Martin announced the selections Thursday. He said the North Carolina executive would "speak for the states of the old South," and the Massachusetts executive would represent the "old North."

Martin will preside at the ceremony.

Two Governors, one representing the North and the other the South, will deliver the Memorial Day addresses in the Gettysburg National cemetery, it was learned today.

Governor Edward Martin, who will play host to the 1944 Governors' conference this year in Harrisburg, has designated May 30th as "Gettysburg Day" for the Governors and will bring his distinguished guests to this historic community on that occasion.

Preliminary arrangements for the Memorial Day speakers here were tentatively completed at a conference of state and local officials several days ago and publication of the preliminary details were withheld pending the official announcement from the Governor's office.

Expect More Than 30 Governors

It is expected that more than 30 Governors will be present for the Memorial Day exercises here, along with other prominent state and national figures. Details of the program have not been completed but will be drafted finally at another conference of state and local officials here on February 28.

This will be the first time in the long history of impressive Memorial Day exercises here that both the North and the South will be represented on the speaking program. It will also be the first time that two Governors will appear on the same program here on May 30th.

Governor Martin made the official announcement at his press conference Friday afternoon. At the same time it was announced that a nationwide radio hookup will broadcast the program on that occasion.

The Governors' Conference is scheduled for May 29, 30 and 31st.

None Injured In Crash Near Hanover

No one was injured and damage totaled $50 when two cars collided in Pennville, near Hanover, on the Hanover-Baltimore road Thursday evening at 10:45 o'clock.

The accident occurred when George T. Miller, 27, Littlestown, attempted to pass a car driven by Clarence W. Wilhelm, 52, Hanover, which had just backed out into the Baltimore pike and was starting to drive south on the road. The Miller car crashed into the left side of the Wilhelm vehicle. Pvt. Anthony Martin investigated. No charges were laid.

MANY ENROLLED ON HONOR ROLL

Additional names for both the Honor Roll of men and women in the service for whom bonds have been purchased and the Blue Star Brigade were made known Saturday as Fourth War Loan drive reports came in from various county communities.

USWV Will Elect Officer Friday

A special meeting of the William M. Steffy post of the United Spanish War Veterans has been called for Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion building for the purpose of electing a new junior vice commander to fill a vacancy caused in the camp staff by the recent death of Capt. Carl M. Taute, who was the commander at the time of his death.

Samuel A. Snavely, Gettysburg, succeeds to the commandship as the senior vice commander and George Smith, New Oxford, advances from junior to senior vice commander. The Auxiliary of the post will meet at the same time in the Odd Fellows' building.

monies held in the National cemetery where President Lincoln delivered his famous Gettysburg address.

The Governors will convene here on May 29 for a conference running through May 31.

A meeting of the local Memorial Day committee of the Sons of Union Veterans was scheduled for Wednesday night but was not held for lack of a quorum. David A. Tawney, the chairman, has not announced a new date for the meeting.

His followers of the first Christian century, under the blazing white flame of His own Spirit, went forth in revolutionary fashion, against the world to turn the world upside down and the world treated them as revolutionists, putting them to the sword, the flame and the cross.

"As Christians we are sons and daughters of these Christian revolutionists.

"The American Revolution, like the Christian, was a revolt against tyranny and the status quo. Where tyranny and dictators have been in the saddle and where an unjust system has ruled; where the evolutionary process has not kept pace with the demands of the time and the physical basis and concept of society has outrun the moral and spiritual progress, there the setting has always been provided for a revolution.

Principles of Jesus

"Our times are ripe again for the revolutionary principles of Jesus. The present crisis of our civilization heightens the urgency for their application for the establishment of a new order. Our times are in need of a new breath of freedom and justice inherent in the American Revolution.

"There is a charge that the Daughters of the American Revolution have been anything but daughters of revolutionists in spirit. That they, like many on the Christian front, may be considered reactionaries in a day when revolutionary changes must be made at home and abroad in human relationships.

"Neither as children of Christianity nor American revolutionists can we any longer live in and for the past. We must live for the future. We may be proud of our heritage, but to rest on that heritage is to be disloyal both to American revolutionaries and to Christ.

"There is a dynamic principle of life at the heart of each which must keep marching on in every age and civilization."

The Rev. Robert Hunt, pastor of the Presbyterian church was in charge of the service. George Herschberger and Mrs. George Amick presented vocal solos. The Rev. John Sanderson presided at the organ.

Plans for the erection of an honor roll at Gettysburg high school bearing the names of former students who are now serving or have served in the armed forces during this war were advanced at a meeting of a committee from the Student Council and representatives of the Alumni Council of the school.

The date and details of the dedication of the honor roll for which the committee already has listed more than 500 names will be announced later. The committees now are concerned with completing the list of names.

The committees said that their present list is not complete and asked that names of additional men and women who should appear on the roll be turned over to the Student Council at the high school.

The Student Council committee for the honor roll includes: Shirley Larkin, John Harner, Gladys Smith and Canella Cargas. Members of the Alumni committee are Robert D. Fidler, Mrs. Mary E. Messner, Mrs. Lillian D. Stoops, Carl S. Menchey, Robert E. Martin, Melvin O. Little and LeRoy H. Winebrenner.

Frank Kelly, Emmitsburg, and Gene Adelsperger, Emmitsburg, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Those discharged were Mrs. Thuron Null, Taneytown; Samuel Bothwell, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Elmer Bittle and infant son, Carl William, Taneytown; Mrs. J. Howard Reinhold and infant daughter, Carol Judith, Fairfield; Thomas Gebhart, Gettysburg R. 5, and Mrs. William Boyer and infant son, William Martin, Jr., Fifth street.

Five Members Added To Blue Star Group

Five new members were added to the Blue Star Brigade recently. Those added to the roll were Mrs. Mervin E. Tipton for Capt. Justus H. Liessmann; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Shetter for MM 2-C Bernard Linn and Sgt. Wade Shetter, and Mr. and Mrs. Philetus Edwards for Cpl. George Edwards.

TIME RIFE FOR PRINCIPLES OF CHRIST, PUTMAN

"Two great revolutionary concepts meet in this service—the American Revolution, of which you are the children, and we meet in a building dedicated to the greatest, most renowned revolutionist of all times, Jesus Christ," the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman said in his sermon at the DAR patriotic service held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Christ Lutheran church, commemorating the birthday anniversary of General George Washington.

Declaring that "the Sermon on the Mount is Christ's manifesto," the Rev. Dr. Putman pointed out that "His message meant a most radical change in the issues of the relation of wealth and property, class and race and value of human personality. Herein lay the basis for the world's most far-reaching revolution. The principles laid down by Christ were of such a radical nature that if they were actually applied to His civilization or any since that it would have split that civilization wide open and wholly altered its character. Jesus was the complete revolutionist. While others revolted against external conditions He went the whole way to seek for radical changes both without and within men's lives.
